SEA FLYER KILLED IN CRASH

ULTIMATUM OF RUSSIA TO CHINA THREATENS WAR

Free Reds, Soviets Demand.

MOSCOW, U. S. S. R., July 14.—(AP)—The soviet government's ultimatum to the Mukden, Manchurian, and Nanking Chinese governments, giving them three days to arranye amicable settlement of the crisis arising out of the Manchurian seizure of the Chinese Eastern railway, has been placed in the hands of M. Liao S. K. Liao, Chinese chargé d'affaires.

The ultimatum was written yesterday, following receipt of information as to the situation in Manchuria, where numerous Russian citizens have been expelled, others arrested, and the entire Russian representation on the Russian owned Chinese Eastern railway ousted.

Couched in Polite Terms.

The note, which was couched in polite terms, was signed by L. M. Karakhan, vice commissar for foreign affairs and former ambassador to China.

Despite polite language, there was no lack of firmness in its wording. It declared emphatically the soviet union would be compelled to resort "to other means in defense of the U. S. S. R.'s legal rights" unless the Chinese within three days agreed to its peaceful policy.

The note continued that such negotiations, however, would be possible only in the event of "immediate release of arrested citizens of the soviet republics and cancellation of all illegal orders" by Chinese authorities.

Russia Makes Three Demands.

The soviet government proposed: First, to call a conference immediately to regulate all questions connected with the railway question; second, that the Chinese authorities immediately should cancel all arbitrary orders regarding the railroad; thirdly, that all arrested citizens shall be release immediately and that Chinese authorities cease all persecution of soviet citizens and soviet institutions.

"The action of the Chinese authorities constitutes the clearest and grossest violation of direct and unequivocal clauses of existing agreements between the U. S. S. R. and China," the note said.

"The very fact of the issue by the Tupan [Gov. Chang Ching-hui of the Harbin district] of a one-sided order without agreement with the director [of the railway] and his assistant, a soviet citizen, gives his act clearly bad unlawful character, not to mention the fact that this act absolutely violates the principle of parity established by the agreement.

Sees Violation of Treaty.

"The removal of the manager of the line and his assistant and of service chiefs, and their even temporary replacment by Chinese citizens, radically alters the system of management of the railway established by agreement between the governments of the U. S. S. R. and China and fixed by treaty.

"This fully unjustifiable violation is the more atrocious since appointment and dismissal of these officials constitute a prerogative of the directors and cannot be carried out by the one-sided order of the Tupan."

It was then declared that the soviet government enters a most resolute protest and draws the attention of the Mukden and National governments to the extreme gravity of the situation created by them.

Says Russia Seeks Peace.

It continued, "the soviet government has given repeated proof of its peacefulness and friendly attitude toward China and its sympathy with the Chinese people in their struggle for abolition of unequal treaties and restoration of the sovereignty of China. The soviet government was the first to conclude with China a treaty on a basis of equality and respect for China's sovereignty, and to renounce all privileges still enjoyed by foreign states.

"Therefore, if the Chinese authorities have any claims regarding the regime established on the railroad, actions of individual soviet representatives, or even affecting treaty rights established by agreements down to reduction of the term of agreement and redemption of the Chinese Eastern railway prior to its expiration, these authorities had full opportunity provided by agreements to present any claim to the U. S. S. R."

After reiterating the soviet determination of friendly regulation of any controversy, the note proceeded, "the

BLAST DESTROYS STORE IN AURORA; LOSS IS $175,000

Fire, following a terrific subterranean explosion, destroyed the Chicago Department store, a three story brick structure at 8 North Broadway in the heart of Aurora yesterday. The building and contents were a total loss, estimated at $175,000.

The blast, which seemed to come from beneath the sidewalk, blew out the whole front of the sore, hurled manhole covers a hundred feet and showered pedestrians with glass. When fire companies arrived the building was in flames.

A cursory investigation failed to disclose the origin of the fire. Fire Chief Herman Lohmann communicated with headquarters of the state fire marshal and an investigation will begin today. Neither Jacob Eye, the owner, nor Dave Kenis, manager of the store, could be located last night.

Two Killed, Pilot Injured in Kansas Plane Crash

Salina, Kas., July 14.—(AP)—Stuart S. Kelley and D. E. Spillman, both of Salina, were instantly killed here this evening when a plane piloted by Jack Highdecker fell here. Highdecker was taken from the craft unconscious and suffering from possible internal injuries. The plane was a Lincoln-Paige, with an OX-5 motor.

Raiders Find Cop on Job, but Deaf to Revels

A squad of police from the state's attorney's office under Lieut. William Blaul and Sergt. Niel Kahler raided the Speedway inn, notorious resort of Burnham, early yesterday and arrested eight women and four men. It was the second raid in three weeks on the resort which is said to be owned by Jack Gusick.

After the first raid, Patrick Roche, chief investigator of the state's attorney's office, asked that a county highway policeman be detailed to watch the place so that it might not be reopened. When the raiders arrived yesterday morning, they found Highway Policeman Joseph Lupe standing outside the resort, complacently surveying the scenery.

Raiders Visit "Next Door."

"What are you here for?" asked Blaul.

"I'm here to see that this place doesn't open up," said Lupe.

"Sounds as if it is open," commented Blaul.

"O, that's next door," responded the highway policeman.

The raiders noticed that "next door" meant a structure connected with the Gusick resort by a second story porchway. They went in "next door" and made their arrests, booking Samuel Jacobson as keeper. Jacobson was fined $200 as keeper of a resort after the first raid.

Roche Demands Inquiry.

Roche declared last night that he would demand an explanation of why the Speedway inn was allowed to reopen despite the posting of a policeman. He indicated that evidence might be presented to the grand jury in connection with the case. Chief William Collins of the highway police said he would make an investigation.

Raids were also made on a carnival in Blue Island on Saturday night. A ring of Detroit gamblers was said to have set up a number of crooked roulette wheels and to have swindled south siders of large sums.

Evanston Man Scalds Himself in Shower Bath

Oscar Nelson, 39 years old, 1024 Dempster street, Evanston, was treated at St. Francis' hospital early yesterday for burns received when he accidentally turned on a stream of scalding water while taking a shower bath.

FOUR DROWNED, ONE INJURED IN BATHING MISHAPS

Three Chicagoans and one Waukegan man were drowned and a fourth Chicagoan who dived into shallow water was perhaps fatally injured in swimming accidents at nearby lake resorts yesterday.

Steve Pazicky, 21 years old, 5741 Mango avenue, and Albert Herrick, 19, 4716 North Kenneth avenue, were drowned in Baldwin lake, near Greenville, Mich., when their canoe overturned. Two companions made vain efforts to save their lives.

Earl Sorensen, 18 years old, 2982 Avondale avenue, sank while trying to swim to the diving raft in Crooked lake, near Lake Villa. He shouted for help, but could not be reached in time.

Albert Sus, 2231 South Turner avenue, was believed to have broken his neck when he dived into Fox lake.

Bror Gustafson, 25 years old, of Waukegan, fell off a raft and was drowned in Gage's lake, nine miles west of Waukegan.

COP SHOOTS ONE AS BALL PLAYERS FIGHT OVER GAME

One man was in the Bridewell hospital with a bullet wound in his shoulder and two others were locked up in the Marquette police station last night as the result of a quarrel between rival ball players after a game at Hastings and Paulina streets. Policeman William J. Lawler of the Maxwell street station, in plain clothes, interfered when five members of one team attacked two members of the other at Paulina and 14th streets. The five troublemakers then tried to escape in their automobile and the policeman fired one shot, striking Thomas Kotrba, 23 years old, 2057 West 17th street. Lawler arrested George Wolski, 2340 West 22nd place, and Eric Kamin, 1934 West 22nd street. The other two escaped.

Crawls Through Window, Tries to Attack Woman

Acting on descriptions furnished by his victim and another woman who said a stranger had followed her to the building, Town Hall police last night were seeking a man who crept through a bathroom window into the apartment of Mrs. Edna Etna, 50 years old, 3333 Clarendon avenue, and attempted to attack her. She fled when her screams aroused other tenants. Chief Justice Harry Olson of the Municipal court is one of the residents in the building.

PLANE CARRIED TO SEA; 50 MILE GALE RIPS ICE

Crew Fights in Vain to Save Ship.

PORT BURWELL, Ungava, July 14.—THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S flight from Chicago to Berlin ended last night when the 'Untin' Bowler, caught in ice floes, was swept to sea by a gale and sank among the ice of Hudson strait. There was no one aboard.

The sinking of the Bowler ended a five day battle to save the big twin motored Sikorsky flying boat from the elements. Twenty times it has miraculously escaped destruction since the plane landed here last Tuesday.

Every man in his little settlement, the mounted police, radio operators, the personnel of the Hudson's Bay company and a score of natives have worked with the crew day and night watching the plane, keeping it pushed from the rocks and fending off the relentless crushing of the pack ice. An hour before the Bowler went down it appeared that the ship was at last in comparative safety.

Try to Escape Ice Peril.

On Friday evening Bob Gast had taxied the damaged plane into a gorge closer to the settlement, hoping to escape the tremendous flow of ice which had battered the plane in the fjord where the ship had been anchored. The water was frozen from shore to shore for a distance of a half mile up the gorge. The plane's anchor was hooked firmly into the ice a hundred feet from shore at a safe distance from the rocks. Three ropes were lashed to the anchor, another to the nose of the ship and two others to the wings to hold it steady against the ice.

When the tide started at eight o'clock last night we returned to the machine shop of the radio station to repair fittings which had been damaged by the ice in the evening. The barometer dropped and the wind set in. It had reached a velocity of 50 miles an hour when the ship sank.

Eskimo Runner Gives Warning.

At 9:30 an Eskimo came running over the hills. He had been sent by Corp. McInnes of the mounted police who had been watching the ship, to tell us that the wind had cracked the solid ice. When we arrived at the point where the Bowler had been anchored, the ship was already in midstream and on its way to the open water.

Its nose was in the air and its tail half submerged. A huge chunk of ice had broken from the middle of the stream and was drifting swiftly before the wind with the Bowler lashed to the forward edge. Had Corp. McInnes and the natives been on the ice at the time it broke they would have been blown to sea with the plane.

The force of the ice had pushed the hull of the ship upward and the tail downward. One wing settled into the water. Water filled the cabin and the tail sank slowly, although it was not until the Bowler had floated two miles out into the sea that it disappeared. The air compartments in the hull and hollow wings gave it the buoyancy that kept it afloat so long.

Disheartening Spectacle.

Gast, Shorty Cramer, and the little colony that has fought with us to save the Bowler from destruction climbed up the rocks to a high promontory overlooking Hudson Strait, and from there we watched the plane drift through the ice towards a gray horizon and finally slip into the sea. It was a disheartening spectacle and Gast was deeply moved.

"My regret at losing the 'Untin' Bowler is second only to my disappointment in having to end the flight to Berlin," he said. "I have flown many miles in that ship without one failure and I have become strongly attached to it. The elements which destroyed it were beyond our control and the strength of the ship to withstand."

Everything possible had been done to keep the Bowler intact for the long flight across Greenland and Iceland to Europe, but it was a losing fight from the first. First the tide, then the ice, and then the gale. The Bowler could not beat them all. It is no wonder, for even ships, sturdier craft than planes, have not been able to

De Priest Calls on Race to Free 'Peons' of Dixie

Oscar De Priest, gray haired son of a slave mother, stood in the pulpit of a south side church last night and proclaimed a battle of ballots and education to free oppressed Negroes of the south.

The congressman from the First Illinois district, the only member of his race in the lawmaking body, was speaking before a Negro audience in the Metropolitan Community Center church, 41st street and South parkway. It was his first speech in Chicago on national racial questions since his elevation to Washington from a black belt ward heeler.

Calls on North to Help.

"I am mailing 10,000 copies of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States to the leaders of our people throughout the country," he said. "I am fighting, not for social equality, but for equality under the law. The prosperous colored folks of the north must rescue the disfranchised black peons of the south before we can say the Negro of America is free."

De Priest arrived at the church in a big pastel shade limousine. He was introduced by Ald. Louis B. Anderson [2nd], also colored, as the lone representative in Washington of the 12 million Negroes in the United States.

Refers to "Tea Party."

"I propose to introduce a federal election law bill that will create more storm than the White House tea party," he declared, referring to Mrs. De Priest's social call on Mrs. Herbert Hoover. "The states south of the Mason Dixon line bar Negroes from voting by requiring them to pass an education test before local election boards of crackers who can't read and write themselves. My bill would put national elections in the hands of government election boards.

"I spoke in Nashville, Tenn. Some one said I should talk on social equality of the races. But the whites of the south are not an appropriate audience for talk of social equality. The federal census shows an increase by thousands and thousands in the birth of mulattoes, mostly in the south. They have Jim Crow theater laws and Jim Crow street car laws, but what they need is Jim Crow bedroom laws."

Reads Three Amendments.

De Priest read the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments to the constitution. In reference to the 13th, barring involuntary servitude except as punishment for crime, the congressman mentioned the laws of southern states that countenance virtual peonage and described the practice of arresting Negroes during the cotton picking season to work out fines on white owned lands.

Amendment 14, which calls for a reduction of representation in states where the franchise is abridged, is also ignored in the south, according to De Priest. He cited figures to show that in some of the southern states there are only 10,000 or 15,000 votes cast for each congressman elected as contrasted with 112,000 in Illinois.

Gives Attention to 15th.

It was to amendment 15, nullified by the cotton growing states that applaud the bloody enforcement of the 18th amendment, that De Priest gave most of his attention. Amendment 15 provides that no citizen shall be denied a vote on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

"I'm going to continue my tours through the south, notwithstanding threats I have received," the congressman declared. "I'm going to try to teach the colored people of their rights under the constitution.

"I'm the only member of my race in congress, but I hope to convince fellow legislators that the right is on my side. With a federal election law and an enforcement of the constitution, we'll make the southern states give the Negro his vote or we'll reduce the states' representation in congress."

POLISH PLANE EXPLODES AS IT LANDS IN AZORES

HORTA, Azores, July 14.—(AP)—The attempted trans-Atlantic flight of the Polish airplane Marshal Pilsudski ended abruptly in a crash on the island of Graciosa. Maj. Ludwik Idzikowski, who had spent two years in preparation for the flight, was killed. Maj. Casimir Kubala, his companion, escaped death by falling or jumping from the plane, but was so seriously injured that he was taken to a hospital.

An eye witness to the tragic ending of the flight said the airplane suddenly rolled as the pilot attempted to gain the largest field on the island where he hoped to find a haven after a long struggle with adverse winds under the handicap of a faulty motor.

Bury Flyer on Island.

This observer saw Maj. Kubala hurtle from the plane as it neared the ground. The plan crashed and almost instantly there was a strong explosion in which Maj. Idzikowski met his death. The major was buried this evening on the island that marked the end of his hopes and plans.

Taking off from Le Bourget airport near Paris at daybreak on Saturday, the Polish plane had begun what appeared as a race with friendly French rivals. Both expeditions encountered adverse winds that approached hurricane force and the French commander, Capt. Dieudonne Coste, although the Azores lay much nearer him, turned back to France. He landed safely.

The two Polish flyers fought on. Their radio told of engine trouble and of constant struggle with the gales that threatened at any moment to wreck their ship. The Marshal Pilsudski was a land plane and the chief hope lay in reaching the football grounds at Horta, which had been made into an improvised landing field.

Kubala Hurled from Plane.

Maj. Kubala tonight was shielded frim questioners. It appeared that their plight was desperate when they reached Graciosa, one of the five islands of the central group and about 35 miles northeast of here.

One of the natives of the island today said: "Toward 10 a. m. a gray plane appeared and began circling around the island in search of a landing place. We attempted by means of gesticulations to indicate the largest field, which is fairly level.

"The alternative was suggested that the aviators might risk alighting on the sea. We prepared to rush to the rescue in that event. The airplane headed toward the field we had indicated but suddenly it barrel rolled, hurling out the mechanic.

It was estimated they were in the air about eighteen hours and had flown 1,800 miles when the tragedy occurred.

COSTE'S OWN STORY

(Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.)

PARIS, July 14.—Beaten back by a steady west wind, which sometimes reached great violence and forced them to use more fuel than they could afford, and discouraged by constant clouds, the French trans-Atlantic flyers, Dieudonne Coste and Jacques Bellonte, turned back last night near the Azores and reached Villa Coubiar airdrome, outside of Paris, at 9:30 this morning.

"That is a tough bone to crack," was Coste's first remark when he landed. "I would rather fly ten times from west to east than once from this direction. We came back easily enough with the wind at our backs, but we could never have got across the whole way."

Except for wind and cloud conditions this long planned flight of the Frenchmen was faultless. Their takeoff was excellent. They made good average speed over the first part of their journey. They stayed in the air just 29 hours, which, in good weather conditions, would have been nearly enough for their successful crossing, and they could easily have gone on longer.

Their plane and engine proved fully equal to the task. But they failed because of that west wind which has already baffled many attempts to fly from Europe to America.

Coste's own account of what happened was told when he reached his apartment at 10 o'clock this morning and was undressing for a much needed bath and sleep.

"We turned back," he said, "just short of the 34th meridian on parallel 40. During the last eighteen months I have been planning a trans-Atlantic flight and I knew it was going to be difficult. But in reality it was far worse than my anticipations. Atmospheric conditions were not the least like what we had been told we might expect. They had changed a lot and over the ocean we met with a very stormy atmosphere and thick clouds which lay very low.

"We had to fly, too, against a steady west wind, which, at times, blew violently. We found we were up against more than we had expected. At 6 o'clock it was blowing so hard our speed fell to 50 miles an hour.

"So after fixing our position and exchanging messages with several ships I decided to return to Paris.

Flew Close to Waves.

"These were my reasons—First, the density of the cloud bed was such as to make flying very difficult and even dangerous. We were flying at times within sixty feet of the waves. We couldn't rise above the clouds because there the wind was stronger and would have held us back even more. Second, wind and cloud was making us burn far more fuel than we could afford. If we had had a tail wind we would certainly have gone on. But using fuel at the rate we were doing and with the prospect of having even a worse wind against us it would have been folly to go on. By coming back we avoided disaster, that is all there is to it.

"Thanks to the preparations which had been made we kept on a true course all the way and both the plane and the motor responded perfectly from the start. From Le Bourget to Finisterre we flew sometimes over 125 miles an hour. It was after we got out over the Atlantic that our difficulties began and they were only weather difficulties.

Covered 3,180 Miles.

"During the twenty-eight hours and one minute we were in the air we flew 3,180 miles. For safety's sake we followed the coast line back when we reached land again instead of cutting across the Bay of Biscay.

"I will certainly try again," Coste added, "but this flight has taught me some lessons and I am going to profit by them in my preparations for the next attempt."

Speaking about the weather conditions, Coste admitted the weather was probably good sailing weather and good weather in the Atlantic.

Needs 140 Mile an Hour Pace.

"But what is good weather on the sea, isn't necessarily good weather in the air," he added. "I think it would be better to have stormy seas and quiet in the higher atmosphere than a calm sea and a head wind in the upper air. An average speed of 140 miles an hour during the first part of the journey will have to be made if we are to have any chance of success again, for the whole question is one of speed. The moment ours was reduced to fifty miles an hour we saw we could never make it and there was nothing to do but turn back."

According to a quick measurement made this morning, Coste still had in his tanks about 400 gallons of fuel when he landed at Villa Coublay, though he had flown 3,180 miles.

Fought Against Each Other.

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Maj. Casimir Kubala and Maj. Ludwick Idzikowski fought against the bolsheviki during the Red invasion and were both members of the Kosciusko squadron, which at one time during the hostilities was commanded by an American officer, Col. Cedric E. Fauntleroy of Chicago. Both men were awarded decorations for gallantry.

Maj. Idzikowski, 37, had been flying for more than fifteen years, while Maj. Kubala, 35, has thirteen years of flying to his record.

At the outbreak of the world war Idzikowski, a resident of Russian Poland, was drafted into the Russian army. Maj. Kubala, who lived in Austrian Poland, joined the air force of the Austrian army, and the two fought against each other for two years.

In 1924 and 1925 Idzikowski completed two flights from Paris to Warsaw via Naples. In 1926 he was connected with the Polish military purchase commission and tested one hundred machines of the Breguet 15 type.

Maj. Kubala joined the Austrian flying service in 1916. During the Polish war of 1918-'20 he fought against the Ukrainians and the bolsheviki. After the war he completed an engineering course in aerodynamics. Later he took a naval aviator's course at Brest, France.

Aviation Notes

A committee of America's leading pilots has been chosen by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce to make a survey of conditions in flying schools throughout the country. The committee, at its first meeting in Cleveland on Aug. 29, will appoint a chairman and proceed to an investigation of aviation schools with the object of classifying them on a basis of their equipment and quality of instruction. The members of the committee appointed thus far are Tex Rankin, Casey Jones, John Bowers, Cloyd Clevenger, W. D. Haviland, Oliver L. Parks and Chan C. Mason. Two other members will be chosen soon.

The Stout Air Lines yesterday announced a change in schedule for their Chicago-Detroit morning run to improve connections for passengers from eastbound transcohtinental trains who wish to go east by air. Effective today, the morning plane for Detroit will be delayed from 8:15 to 10:15.

Juan Ortega Gonzales, well known Mexican lawyer, arrived in Rochester, Minn., yesterday by air from Mexico City to visit his son, who is being treated at Mayo brothers' clinic.

The 1930 national aircraft show will be held in St. Louis next February, according to an announcement from Charles L. Lawrence, chairman of the show committee of the National Aircraft Trade association. At the same time the committee designated Detroit as the place for the third all-American aircraft show, to be held from April 5 to 13, 1930.

Successful experiments in airplane to ground radio transmission were made at the Municipal airport yesterday by members of the 33d division Illinois National Guard. The plane was piloted by Lieut. C. E. Bullard with Lieut. J. G. Keogh as radio operator, Sergt. Toner handled the ground station. The guardsmen will take their plane to Camp McCoy at Sparta, Wis., next week for communication work with units of the 58th field artillery brigade, I. N. G., now in camp there.

Transcontinental Flyer Forced Down in Kansas

Wichita, Kas., July 14.—(AP)—Lieut. Herbert J. Fahy, attempting a nonstop flight from Los Angeles to New York, was forced down today at Kiowa, Kas., by oil pump trouble. He proceeded to Wichita, landing his Lockheed-Vega plane at Central airport at 3:30 p. m.

FALLS IN LAKE; DIES OF PNEUMONIA.

Waukesha, Wis., July 14.—[Special.]—Pneumonia, resulting from water getting into his lungs in a fall into Silver lake, last night caused the death of Harry Koebel, 21, at an Oconomowoc hospital.

BOWLER FOUGHT FOG AND STORM ON FLIGHT NORTH

Had Only 3 Hours' Fine Weather in 10 Days.

Less than three hours of good flying weather was granted the crew of the 'Untin' Bowler in almost ten days that passed between the plane's takeoff at Lake Remi, Ont., and its loss in the icebergs at Port Burwell.

Lake Remi was left behind at 5:58 a. m. on July 4. The Bowler had been refueled there after a successful run the day before from Chicago. A short time after taking the air Parker D. Cramer, co-pilot with Robert H. Gast, sent a radio message stating that visibility was good, the ceiling unlimited, and clouds only scattered.

Fog Hinders Flyers.

These conditions lasted until after the flyers had passed Rupert House, the Hudson Bay company's post on James bay. They had decided to drive on along the shore to another trading post on the Great Whale river. But a hundred miles south of Great Whale the white fog of the northland rolled up in front of them and the pilots turned back. At Rupert House they landed, expecting to find an ample supply of gasoline.

Only 32 gallons were available. Under lowering skies in the afternoon—they had no other kind of skies from that time on—Gast and Cramer and Reporter Robert Wood flew on to Fort George, south of Great Whale. Fueling there consumed nine hours, from 4 p. m. until after midnight.

On Friday morning the trio, anxious to get along on the route, started inland, believing they could find some sort of flying weather in the interior to carry them to Port Burwell. Again the fog blocked them and Pilot Gast turned west when he reached the Great Whale river and found the trading post. Cramer's radio message fixed the landing time there at 9:50 a. m.

The rest of the day and on Saturday, there was no sunshine. The weather reports gathered by the local bureau in Chicago and forwarded by all possible radio channels indicated depressions over northeast Canada. On Sunday morning the fog still blew in from Hudson bay, but the flyers felt that things would be better inland. They took off at about 8:30.

Motors Conquer Fog.

The fog was outdistanced in an hour. The 'Untin' Bowler's motors justified the faith that had been put in them. Four hours of flying carried the crew across the wilderness to the shores of Ungava bay. It was cloudy, but by flying low the pilots found it possible to hold their course on the streams. Turning at the bay and keeping the shore line on their right, they came to a point less than forty miles from Port Burwell at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Here again the northern weather challenged them. A fog, denser than any the crew had seen, loomed up before them. As it swept their way, Gast turned and went south, hugging the shore. In the lee of a little island that gave some protection from the small icebergs, or "growlers," as they are termed, the three men made a rude camp.

Crew Fights Tides.

There they remained through the night. The tide rose 40 feet and they battled to keep the plane safe as it climbed and again as it fell. On Monday there was a gap in the fog and a takeoff was accomplished. A flight of perhaps 45 minutes brought the 'Untin' Bowler within ten miles of Port Burwell. Here another landing was made and another night of hardship ensued, with cold, the tide and the icebergs all threatening to make an end of the ship.

It was on Tuesday, soon after daylight time in Chicago, that the mists lifted and the little hop to the settlement was made. The Bowler was guided into an inlet. Here the menace of the tides and the bergs continued. A shift was made in a favorable few minutes to another habor, where the final destruction occurred.

Radio communication was fairly well maintained at all times while the Bowler was in flight. While Cramer made no effort to send code messages, the hum of the generator attached to the motors could be plainly distinguished at the low wave station of W-G-N, at Elgin, and at Port Burwell.

WARSAW IN MOURNING OVER TRAGIC DEATH OF POLISH AIR HERO

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

WARSAW, July 14.—Special editions of Warsaw's evening newspapers with black frames brought to distressed crowds late tonight the tragic news of the disaster on Graciosa island, Azores, to Maj. Idzikowski.

From early morning excited crowds have been surrounding newspaper offices, cheering bulletins which described the airmen's progress from France and far out over the Atlantic. In the afternoon there was lack of news and uncertainty. When the first message was received announcing Idzikowski's death few could believe it.

Tonight Warsaw is a city of mourning. All entertainments have been suspended and distressed crowds are still awaiting at midnight for further news.

New York Poles Grieve.

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Hundreds of Polish residents gathered in silent groups outside their consulate here today for definite news of their compatriots, Maj. Ludwik Idziwokski and Maj. Kasimir Kubala. The story of the fatal landing by the Marshal Pilsudski in the Azores gradually filtered out but many remained until after darkness had set in and the consulate had been closed. When the report came that Maj. Idzikowski had been killed and that Maj. Kubala was in a critical condition in a hospital Consul Thaddeus Marynowski was overcome with grief. Most of those who had gathered in the consulate knew the flyers personally and had eagerly looked forward to renewing their acquaintance on this side.

BOWLER GOES TO WATERY GRAVE; CREW OF 3 SAFE

50 Mile Gale Breaks Up Ice Floe Anchorage.

withstand the violence of the elements about Cape Chidley. The Canadian Radio, a merchant marine vessel, only last year was caught in a gale in the main harbor here and beached. The Bay Eskimo, a Hudson's Bay company ship, was also crushed by the ice in Ungava bay off Port Burwell. The Eskimos call Cape Chidley "Killinekk," the end of the world.

Ice should have been out of the harbors here by the first of July but the season was late this year.

Only One Landing Spot.

Circling about through the clouds over the cape last Tuesday morning Gast and Cramer searched closely for a suitable landing place. But they had no choice. Ice jammed every harbor, inlet and lake. Only one fjord provided open water of sufficient length for landing there. Gast came down.

The trouble started almost at once. The tide was turning in from the sea when the Bowler ran ashore. Gast noted the ice moving swiftly in from Hudson strait and stayed to watch the ship till he was relieved later in the afternoon. The plane was never left unwatched after that.

Tuesday night Gast cut the ship loose from shore and taxied about in the water, dodging the ice. Wednesday the Bowler was forced against a jagged rock and a hole was torn in her hull. Thursday a great chunk of ice crushed against the side of the ship, bending a tail strut and crumbling a rudder. On Friday just after these damages were repaired the ship was shoved on to the rocks by an ice jam, tearing away one pontoon, bending a lower wing beam and crumbling the end of that wing. Saturday the second pontoon was ripped away.

Hip Deep in Icy Sea.

The Bowler went to its watery grave with both pontoons lashed to the lower wings with rope. A wing strut had snapped in two. The gale had ripped the fabric from a lower wing. There were big rents in the tail surfaces, water had poured into the hull through the hole pierced by jagged ice, and the bracing wires and struts of the plane had been pinched by ice cakes. While it would have required several days, nevertheless the pilots believed it would have been possible to repair the ship. All the damage was caused by the buffeting of the tide and the battering of the ice.

We have been confident from the first that, once we escaped the dangers of the ice and tide here, the rest of the voyage to Europe would have been comparatively easy. We bent every effort toward an early departure. Throughout the day we had worked about the plane on the ice. Work was slow because of the position of the ship, resting partly over the ice and partly in the water. Twice Gast and Cramer slipped and fell into the icy water, saving themselves by grasping wing struts.

At the time the ice broke we were finishing the repairs for the pontoons in the hope of fastening the floats early in the morning. With these repaired, Gast planned to attempt a takeoff with the damaged ship at low tide and fly a mile further inland to Mission, where a small protected body of water offered a possible landing place. A landing at that place would have been a gamble, but once there it would have been possible to beach the ship and proceed with repairs.

When we returned from watching the Bowler sinking Mission cove was entirely clear of ice, so forceful was the gale that sank our plane.

Still Have Faith in Route.

We still believe that the route from Chicago to Europe by way of Greenland and Iceland is feasible, but we are convinced that such a route will not become practical until airplanes are able to cope with the severest weather conditions. Extensive ground facilities along the route will be impertative.

The severity of the weather at this point of land is almost beyond belief. One minute the sun shines brightly. Half an hour later a dense fog has fallen and a heavy wind has set in. It has rained here every day this month. The weather has shown no moderation.

Cape Chidley is peculiarly situated with the Atlantic on the east, Ungava bay on the west and the Arctic on the north. It is thus the crux of the storms.

We shall return on first ship calling at Port Burwell. It will likely be late in August when we reach Chicago.

CUNEO BUILDING PLANS REVEALED AS A RUSH JOB

Made at Same Time as Law, Statement Shows.

The mystery surrounding the amendment to the city building code permitting the proposed sixty story Cuneo tower at Randolph street and Michigan avenue, became somewhat clearer yesterday when it was disclosed that the building plans were made with extraordinary speed.

In a statement explaining his connection with the project as an architect, Daniel H. Burnham of Burnham Bros., Inc., said his concern had worked "day and night" to prepare specifications for the tower under the amendment, which was passed by the city council without public notice. Mr. Burnham stated that he thought a sixty story project at this location would not be detrimental to other property.

Law Called Dangerous.

Alfred Granger of the Illinois Society of Architects and Harold Cheney of the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects have referred to the amendment as "very dangerous." They foresee in its enactment the making of other modern buildings obsolete."

Two more members of the council buildings and zonings committee joined yesterday in the demand for an immediate special meeting of the committee and of the council, if necessary, to reconsider the amendment which jumps the height limit on the main section of skyscrapers, under prescribed conditions, from 264 to 448 feet. This means that a building can be constructed 40 stories straight up from the sidewalk before the setback towers begin, instead of 23 to 24 stories as formerly.

Burnham Makes Statement.

"Mr. Cuneo first came to my office about three weeks ago," Mr. Burnham's statement said. "He asked me to prepare plans for the property at the northeast corner of Michigan avenue and Randolph street. He informed me at that time that an ordinance had been passed the early part of May which would permit the erection of a building of monumental height. A copy of this ordinance was furnished to me.

"He stated that he wanted plans prepared immediately. Working our entire office force day and night we were able to prepare the plans necessary to obtain a building permit which was granted last Monday.

"After my study of this problem it is quite evident that any development of a piece of property of this restricted ground area and great value could only be economically sound by allowing it to be built higher than was permitted under the old ordinance. My feeling is that a sixty story building at this location is not in any way detrimental to other property."

What the Record Shows.

The council record shows that the building code amendment was introduced on May 2, recommended by the committee on June 3, passed by the council on June 14, and became effective on July 8. On July 8 the permit for the Cuneo tower was granted. According to Mr. Burnham's statement, the plans were drawn between the date the amendment was passed and the date it became effective.

The amendment did not gain public attention until the building permit was issued. Inquiry since then has disclosed that members of the council committee knew nothing about the matter as it passed through their hands. Ald. W. R. O'Toole [14th], committee chairman, admitted that he introduced it at the request of Special Assistant Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes, who said Mr. Cuneo was among his private clients.

Ald. Thomas J. Bowler [41st], a member of the committee, has demanded the special meeting to reconsider the amendment. The two other members joining in the demand yesterday were Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th] and Ald. O. E. Northrup [19th].

Committeemen Surprised.

Both aldermen said they had never heard of the amendment until reading about it in the newspapers.

"Ald. Bowler is absolutely right in asking for a special meeting," said Ald. Ross. "This apparently is a matter of great public interest and regardless of its merits or demerits it should have the fullest discussion. I am ready to give as much of my time as necessary to such a discussion."

Other members of the committee are: R. R. Jackson [3d], John Coughlin [1st], Sheldon Govier [9th], W. A. Rowan [10th], John P. Wilson [11th], B. J. Zintak [12th], James G. Coyle [17th], Walter W. Morris [18th], William Pacelli [20th], Joseph Cepak [22d], H. C. Van Norman [27th], A. J. Horan [29th], J. H. Smith [32d], Eugene Nusser [36th], Frank Ringa [39th], Dorsey Crowe [42d], Oscar F. Nelson [46th], and Curtis F. Mellin [50th].

Stand by Zoning—McKinlay.

Municipal Judge Donald S. McKinlay, who, as a member of the council, led a fight against rezoning in the Beverly Hills district, added his protest yesterday to relaxation of zoning laws in the loop.

"I recognize the extreme pressure brought to bear on councilmen by special interests in zoning matters," he said. "It is hard enough to place restrictions even where they should be placed, and it would be almost criminal to discriminate in favor of a privileged few.

"There are always a few selfish interests who want the building and zoning laws relaxed. The ordinance, in effect in the loop at present allows the construction of beautiful buildings."

EAST-WEST AIR TRAIL OF NORTH ATLANTIC CLAIMS LIVES OF 8

New York, July 14.—(AP)—Maj. Ludwik Idzkowski's death in the crash of the Polish plane in the Azores brought to eight the number of lives lost in attempts to negotiate the east to west air trail of the North Atlantic.

On May 8, 1917, Capt. Charles Nungesser and Maj. Francis Coli started from Paris to New York. No trace of them ever was found.

Aug. 31 of the same year Capt. Leslie Hamilton and Col. Frederick A. Minchin, with the 62 year old Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim as a passenger, hopped off from Uphaven, England, for Ottawa, Ont., and were lost.

Capt. Walter G. Hinchcliffe and Elsie Mackay took off from Cranwell airdrome, England, on March 13, 1928. They, too, disappeared.

Six other projected east-west flights ended in failure, but without loss of life.

AGED COUPLE RESCUED FROM BLAZING HOME

A 77 year old blind man and his deaf wife were led to safety from a burning apartment building at 1409 South Spaulding avenue early yesterday and twenty other families were driven out. Capt. John French of truck company 48 was burned about the face and hands in fighting the fire.

Eli Hachnan and Mrs. Lena Hachnan, 70 years old, were the couple saved from the fire. Mitchell Pearlman, 1422 South Spaulding avenue, and Henry Elman, 1420 South Spaulding avenue, attending a party in a house across the street, noticed the fire and found the Hachnans groping in their smoke filled flat.

The fire was quickly extinguished.

HOW ARE GRAPES USED IN CHICAGO? SURVEY TO SHOW

Chicago consumers of grapes were informed yesterday that the United States department of agriculture and Cornell university will conduct a survey here this week of local uses of the easily fermented fruit. Dr. M. P. Rasmussen of the college of agriculture of the university announced the survey as an economic study of consumer demand for eastern grapes.

Tradesmen and housewives are to be interviewed. The survey will be extended to other cities, including Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and New York. The purpose of the work, it was said, is to enable growers to meet popular demands in grades and packages.

PASTOR BRANDS SEX REPRESSION SINFUL; FINDS CHURCH GUILTY

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—The fashionable parish of the Community church, one of New York's best known Park avenue houses of worship, today was stirred by a sermon on "The Sin of Sex Repression," delivered by the Rev. John Haynes Holmes. The text of his sermon was "Sex; Are There Any Standards"

"I have no use for asceticism in sex relations," Dr. Holmes said. "Repression of the sex instinct is as unwise and wrong on the one side as gross sensual indulgence on the other.

"The Christian church is guilty of a monstrous sin in having cultivated asceticism and repression, with the base idea that there is something sinful about sex and that there is, therefore, virtue in putting it altogether out of one's life.

"What we have to remember is that sex may be beautiful as it is natural—at once the loveliest and the most normal expression of the deepest instincts of human nature. I would base all that I have to say to you today on the idea of the sanctity of sex. To the pure and true lover sex is the great sacrament of human life.

"It is just for this reason that sex must be protected by rigid codes of discipline and uplifted to high levels of dedication."

King George Goes to Church; Will Face Operation Today

LONDON, July 14.—(AP)—King George this morning attended divine service at Buckingham palace despite the fact that tomorrow he will undergo another minor operation which is expected to speed his recovery from his long illness. The operation is for more effective drainage of an abscess which has formed on the right side of his chest.

The operation is not anticipated with any approach to alarm. His majesty continued to pursue his normal activities today and as usual spent considerable time in the palace grounds.

Abscess Causes Trouble.

It is believed that there is a small surface of diseased bone at the site of the old operation which has caused the formation of a new abscess and the present trouble. A medical bulletin signed by six physicians was issued last night to inform the public of the circumstances. It was said at that time that no further report on the condition of the king would be made until after the operation tomorrow.

It was not revealed whether Sir Hugh Rigby, who operated on the king last winter, or Prof. Wilfred Trotter would perform the operation. The latter is a distinguished surgeon of the University College hospital. Dr. Francis Shipway will be the anesthetician as before.

To Recuperate at Sandringham.

As soon after the operation as possible it was understood that King George will carry out his postponed journey to Sandringham, where he will spend the rest of the summer.

GAS TAX FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR ROADS ON SEPT. 1

Highway 'Cabinet' Speeds Up Widening Plans.

Cook county pays for ONE-HALF and gets ONE-TWENTY-FIFTH of the state's highways.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.

The state highway department announced yesterday to the committee created by Gov. Emmerson to determine where and when gasoline tax funds shall be expended to widen state roads in the Chicago area, that funds will be available for actual construction work immediately after Sept. 1.

The news was a surprise to the committee as it had been understood from the governor that gas tax funds would not be made available before either a six or a twelve months' period following the start of collection on Aug. 1.

Available in 30 Days.

If the state highway department follows its present determination part of the $7,500,000 set up for road widening will be available within thirty days after its collection during the next two years, and some $11,000,000 will be available in monthly remittances during the same period, to be used for building bond issue roads in the metropolitan area.

In view of the announcement Robert E. Kingery, secretary of the Emmerson committee, sent word to the heads of the subcommittees that their activities should be speeded up so that completed plans may be in hand as soon after Aug. 1 as possible.

The announcement also affects the Association of Commerce committee, which has been created at the request of the county commissioners and assigned the task of preparing plans for a comprehensive system of state aid roads within the city. The improvements of these roads will be financed by the county's 1 cent refund from the gas tax. As the state appears to have adopted the policy of allocating gas tax funds within thirty days of the time of collection, it is assumed that money for repaving city streets will also be available by Sept. 1 and contracts can be let in anticipation.

May Refund Old Gas Tax.

Another item of interest regarding finances was the statement from the state finance officer at Springfield that the oil companies whose injunction suits have tied up some $6,500,000 of gas taxes collected during the Small administration have agreed to withdraw their suits and that this sum will be available for refunding to the counties in proportion to license fees paid within a few days. The announcement is not official, but assurances have been given that it will be made official shortly. It is likely, therefore, that this aggregate will be available for 1930 road building contracts.

In commenting on the progress made by the subcommittees of the governor's advisory body, Mr. Kingery said yesterday:

"The three subcommittees are hammering away at their jobs so as to present to the governor a series of well considered recommendations on the state bond issue routes and the widening projects needed during the current biennium, at once.

Draw Up Recommendations.

"The subcommittee on physical plan headed by Col. H. L. Kellogg has drawn up a preliminary set of recommendations involving improvements on 450 miles of state bond issue roads. The suggestions now being studied by committee members involve widening present state bond issue roads where traffic is so heavy as to demand widening; paving certain unfinished bond issue roads, some 40 feet and others 20 feet wide, where traffic does not demand immediate widening; and the selection of railway grade crossings which should be separated and highway grade crossings which should be separated to speed up traffic.

"The right of way subcommittee, headed by A. J. Cermak of the county board and including chairmen of most of the boards of surrounding counties, is having prepared by the state highway department strip maps of each bond issue route's right of way status. The committee is determined to drive ahead on the acquisition of missing dedications as soon as it has complete data, by gift from the owners purchase or condemnation.

"The committee on finance, headed by Charles M. Hayes, is assembling detailed information as to what funds will be available and exactly to what areas, so that the physical plan subcommittee, in completing its estimates on cost of each of the improvements, may be within the cash resources allotted to such construction."

BEARDSTOWN TO GIVE SCENES OF LINCOLN'S LIFE AT CENTENNIAL

Beardstown, Ill., July 14.—(AP)—Abraham Lincoln, successful defending attorney in the "Duff" Armstrong murder trial, and Capt. "Abe" Lincoln, newly made officer in the Black Hawk war, will be portrayed here in the pageanty of a centennial celebration July 24-26.

The scene on the Muscatine bay bank of the Illinois river where Lincoln rose to captaincy, and the murder trial courtroom scene are to be presented in a parade of fifty floats. Tragic episodes attending numerous floods that have marked Beardstown's history will also be depicted.

Making Girl Walk Home Is Legal, Attorney Holds

Milwaukee, Wis., July 14.—[Special.]—There is no law under which a man may be punished for making a girl walk home, Oliver O'Boyle, assistant district attorney, declared today in ordering the release from prison of John Beck, 21. Beck had taken Helen Wettstein, 21, in his automobile for a ride. When she spurned his amorous attentions he ejected her from the car. She had taken only a few steps when she was struck by a passing automobile. Beck rushed her to a hospital.

HEALTH FAILING; KILLS HIMSELF.

Despondent over his failing health, Anton Schmitz, 56 year old janitor, shot and killed himself yesterday in his living quarters at 3342 North Leavitt street.

BOY, 5, IS KILLED BY AUTOMOBILE; COUNTY TOLL 434

Cook county's motor toll for 1929 was increased to 434 yesterday when 5 year old George Reh, 5514 Princeton avenue, died in St. Bernard's hospital of a skull fracture incurred when he was struck at 58th street and Wentworth avenue by the automobile of Michael Zallone, 7550 Wentworth avenue. Zallone was booked for assault at the Englewood police station and released on bail.

Starr Kriel, treasurer of the Palace theater, was arrested in Niles Center yesterday and charged with assault following a collision between his car and another whose two occupants were injured. Carl Schmit, 1032 Ashland avenue, suffered a possible skull fracture and Bertel Olson, 1350 Seward street, Evanston, suffered possible internal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dodson of Oak Park were critically injured when, driving in the rain on the Lincoln highway two miles east of Marshalltown, Ia., their car collided head on with a bus. Twenty-nine passengers on the bus escaped with slight injuries. The driver, G. W. Sydow of Omaha, was taken in custody.

Report 700 Rebels Slain in Arab King's Victory

JERUSALEM, July 14.—(AP)—King Ibn Saud of Nejd and of Hedjaz in Arabia was reported today to have won a decisive victory over the Wahabi rebels. Seven hundred of the rebels were reported killed. The forces of the king were led by the amir of Hassa. The victory has caused great rejoicing at Rijbah, capital of Nejd.

YARROW THANKS RUSSELL FOR HIS ANTI-VICE DRIVE

The Rev. Philip Yarrow, superintendent of the Illinois Vigilance association, sent Police Commissioner Russell a letter of thanks and congratulation yesterday for his efforts in reducing commercialized vice since he took command of the police department last Aug. 1.

"Barkers, who formerly shouted their wares on prominent corners, have been driven almost entirely from the streets; street walking has been reduced 90 per cent; wide open houses of ill fame have been practically obliterated," says Mr. Yarrow's letter. It adds that vice and politics have been divorced as a result of the commissioner's campaign.

"You inherited a situation of lawlessness and political partnerships in the vice areas of this city that was terrible," the letter goes on. "Soon after taking office, commissioner, you issued orders that resulted in remarkable changes and we now desire to thank and congratulate you for your splendid efforts in reducing commercialized vice."

DETECTIVE CHIEF TO FIGHT COURT'S 30 DAY SENTENCE

Appeal to Higher Court on Program Today.

Lieut. William L. McCarthy, acting chief of detectives who incurred judicial wrath on Saturday when he is alleged to have threatened to shoot Judge John H. Lyle's bailiff, will surrender to the same bailiff at 11 o'clock this morning on a capias calling for his imprisonment for 30 days for contempt of court.

But McCarthy doesn't expect to serve even an hour of the sentence imposed by Judge Lyle as the policeman strode out of judge's courtroom. McCarthy's lawyers, W. W. Smith and Assistant Corporation Counsel George McDonald, plan to have a representative in a branch of the Circuit or Superior court at the hour McCarthy gives himself up, according to information from the police side of the controversy.

Legal Battle Planned.

The instant the lieutenant is in technical custody application for a writ to stay the sentence will be filed in the higher court, after which a battle will open to have the case taken from Judge Lyle's jurisdiction. Judge Lyle's only comment last night was that he had legally pronounced sentence and McCarthy would therefore go to jail "unless he changed his attitude," or, in other words, offers an apology. This is a step the policeman has no intention to take, it is said.

McCarthy's friends contend that Judge Lyle had no legal right to sentence the acting detective chief, because, they said, McCarthy was outside the courtroom when sentence was passed. The sentence was said to have been the result of a complaint by Gordon Thompson, the judge's personal bailiff, that McCarthy said to him outside the courtroom: "Keep your dirty hands off me or I'll shoot you."

Judge Defends Sentence.

Judge Lyle's position yesterday was that McCarthy was in court when the sentence was pronounced.

"He was running for the door and I said 'Thirty days,' and I hurled that at him as he was going out the door," the judge explained. "My only interest in this matter is to force the police to quit arresting boys who have committed no crimes."

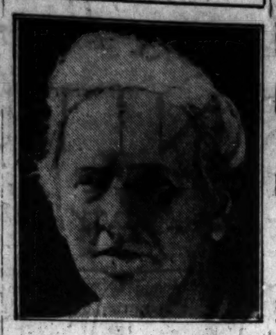
McCarthy said Judge Lyle had an old grievance against him dating back to the time when Lyle was a practicing lawyer.

"He insulted me the minute I went into his courtroom, calling me an interloper," the lieutenant said. "He said I was trying to coach Sergt. Frank Green. All I had told Green was to face the court when he answered questions, and I explained that politely to Judge Lyle. The judge said to me, 'Go and sit down or get out.'

"I started out and his bailiff, who is also his brother-in-law, tried to push me into a seat. I told the bailiff I wasn't going to sit down, but was going out. He said I had to sit down. To avoid any controversy I did a double quick to the door and then walked downstairs. I didn't have my gun on me and I said nothing to the bailiff at the door."

The whole controversy grew out of the arraignment of Sergt. Green on Judge Lyle's charge of false arrest. Several days ago Green, a detective bureau squad leader, arrested six boys who were engaged in a ball game at 39th and Halsted streets on charges of disorderly conduct. When the boys told the judge there was no reason for their arrest he ordered Green brought before him.

SPURNS PAJAMAS



MRS. ALICE ROBERTSON.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 14.—[Special.]—When Alice Robertson 75 year old former member of congress from Oklahoma, arrived here yesterday with six hundred women who had been attending the convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women at Mackinac Island, she had lost her baggage, her purse and her ticket home.

First to aid her was Chase S. Osborn, former governor of Michigan, who had come up from his summer home in St. Mary's river to welcome the visitors on behalf of the local club of business and professional women. Osborn dashed off to the nearest department store and presently returned with an armful of boxes containing women's wear, including pajamas and nightgowns.

"Did you wear the pajamas," asked Osborn as he bade Miss Robertson goodby today.

"I did not," snapped the former congresswoman. "I cannot be bought and I will not be intimidated."

DAM PARLEY SET FOR TODAY.

Springfield, Mo., July 14.—[Special.]—Final steps to have all agreements ratified before the federal water power commission is asked for a permit for the $35,000 Table Rock dam near here will be taken tomorrow when officials of the Henry L. Doherty company confer with officials of the Stone County court.

CLEAR MYSTERY OF INDICTMENT OF 3 FOR ASSAULT

Beat Controller's Son and Friends, Claim.

Both sides of a story were obtained yesterday regarding the mysterious incarceration of three young men in the county jail Saturday night, but the activity of a policeman attached to the state's attorney's office was unexplained.

The prisoners, seen yesterday at the jail, are John J. Corcoran, 5722 Kenmore avenue, employed by a construction company; Roy Stemberg, 5000 Broadway, and Jack Watson, 721 Belmont avenue, who said they are in the automobile business.

Blames Controller's Son.

"Kaspar G. Schmidt, son of City Controller George K. Schmidt, had us indicted," Corcoran stated. "We had a drunken row when we were all coming home from the Dells two weeks ago and he wanted ot show us he had enough political influence to put us in jail over Saturday and Sunday.

"We were arrested in Niles Center and we put up bail there and went out there Saturday afternoon for trial. A policeman from the state's attorney's office arrested us there before our trial started, and here we are."

The three were sent to the detective bureau Saturday evening with instructions that they were to be put through the bureau of identification and held for the "showup" on Sunday afternoon. But late Saturday night a policeman who said his name was Knight and that he was attached to the prosecutor's office, told Deputy Commissioner Stege that he had orders to take the three to the state's attorney's office. Stege said yesterday that he refused to let Knight have the prisoners, because he didn't know him. Stege then called First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup, who directed him to turn the prisoners over to Knight.

Brother Tells Story.

Neither City Controller Schmidt nor his son, Kaspar, an official of a bank, were at home yesterday, but a brother of Kaspar explained the arrests as follows:

"Kaspar, William Waibel, and Eugene Carroll and two girls were motoring home from the Dells two weeks ago. A car in which Corcoran, Stemberg, and Watson were riding forced Kaspar's car into a ditch and it ran into a telegraph pole. One of the girls was thrown against the front of the car and knocked unconscious. The others weren't hurt much then, but they were when Corcoran, Stemberg and Watson came back. For no reason at all they beat and kicked the men and they even kicked the girl lying on the pavement.

"The three men were arrested at Niles Center and made threats to discourage prosecution. The name of a well known bootlegger was used in the threats and finally Kaspar was advised by an attorney to have their assailants indicted. The indictments were voted Wednesday."

Three Slain, One Wounded in Card Game Shooting

McVeigh, Ky., July 14.—(AP)—Three men were shot to death and a fourth wounded here last night in a fight which police said started during a card game. Veto Depoalis, Charles Casey, and Dominick Galonte were killed and Fred Depoalis, brother of one of the slain men, was wounded. Dimmy Topeka, at whose residence police said the shooting occurred, is held.

CHICAGO LEADERS TO SEE MEMORIAL AT MT. RUSHMORE

Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden, Julius Rosenwald, and Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago and North Western railway, will be members of a party leaving this morning for Mount Rushmore, in the Black Hills of South Dakota, there to inspect the work of carving a gigantic memorial picturing four eras of development in American history.

Mr. Lowden, Mr. Rosenwald and Mr. Sargent are members of the commission appointed by President Hoover to supervise the memorial work. Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor who is directing the work, will accompany them during the inspection, as will Mrs. Lorraine Jones Spoonts of Corpus Christi, Tex., and Congressman Royal C. Johnson [Rep., S. D.], two other members of the commission.

Congress passed a bill during the last regular session authorizing the memorial construction, and appropriated $250,000 to be expended as the public raises equal amounts. More than $100,000 is now available.

WORKERS' MINE IS CLOSED BY UNION BATTLE

Co-operative Experiment Ends in Riot.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Dana, Ind., July 14.—[Special.]—An experiment in workers' ownership and operation of the Bono coal mine has made this peaceful prairie town the seat of a labor controversy of unusual aspects.

A group of miners, former union men, took over an abandoned pit and began working it on what the officials declare is a profit-sharing, stockholding, dividend paying basis. Every worker signed up for a block of stock to be paid for out of his share of the profits. The workers also seem to have signed up for some of the troubles of capital.

Miners vs. Miner-Owners.

Union miners have been trying to stop the enterprise. The old strife between labor and capital has flared up, only this time it is between two groups of miners. The unionists say the Bono miners are paying themselves less than the union scale and are underselling in the market. They argue that the low wage works injury to the union wage structure, while the cut coal prices are unfair to operators who pay the union scale.

The Bono "miner-owners" deny this. They say their output is sold at market prices. As to wages, they assert that, including the profits, which go to pay for stock, the workers are getting more than union compensation. Some of them who once were known as rather radical now appear to have turned conservative, and they say the unions have no right to try to dictate what wage rates they shall pay and receive.

Much strife has settled over the region, and two weeks ago forty-two Bono miners were beaten up in an outbreak of mob violence. Protection has been asked from Gov. Harry Leslie.

Capacity 450 Tons a Day.

The Bono mine is an isolated pit, two and a half miles out of Dana. It is in the midst of cornfields and stretches of ripening oats, and in a radius of some six miles there are no other mines. Originally the property was known as the Dana collieries. The pit is 150 feet deep and the capacity is about 450 tons a day. Most of the workers used to be farmer-coal diggers, men with small farms, who doubled in mining. Around Dana itself few old miners are dependent on mining alone for a livelihood. It would be scant pickings.

Early in the year the mine was to be junked. The machinery was brought to the top. Somebody proposed a workers' stockholding venture. The exact details are rather vague, but at any rate the project was capitalized at $30,000. The stock was offered first to the old miners. Only eight of these subscribed.

93 Join in Venture.

Other miners came in from the Clinton field, a few miles away, and from crossroad hamlets here and there. Each employé signed up for thirty shares at $10, giving him a $300 stake in the mine. Ninety-three miners joined the project.

With the coal industry in a state of depression for years, few miners had money in the bank, so the stock was to be paid for out of dividends. Mine officials today told of some of the new capitalists who were so broke that when they first came to work their dinner buckets held nothing but dry bread crusts and cold tea.

The union wage schedule is on the basis of $6.10 a day for day labor at the mines. At the Bono "worker-owners" mine the rate has been lower, $4.50 for day labor. Profits were to be prorated on the amount of coal each man turned out. Early in March the mine began hoisting, with about 40 working.

No Hiding Out or Loafing.

Since the riot few around here desire to see their names in print, but one leader in the Bono group described the activities thus:

"Everybody pitched in and worked hard and made money. There were no shirkers; nobody was hiding out and loafing in the pit. The more profits, the more each man was piling up for himself, so there was plenty of incentive. We found three men were putting as much coal in the cars in eight hours as five men were before, and they were going six days a week. To illustrate, in the old mine nine mule drivers at $6.10, or $55 a day, brought out 475 tons. In the profit sharing mine four drivers at $4.50, or $18 a day, brought out 400 tons.

"Some of the men had big families. Most had been out of work for two years. They worked so well that some of them made as high as $7.75 a day. It's not a coöperative enterprise, but a profit sharing, stock purchase plan in their own property.

"It is not nonunion, but is not affiliated with the union. Instead of paying union dues and assessments, the men are paying on their stock."

President "Scared Out."

Most of the officials of the Bono mine were miners, but the president was Virgil Gross, who was not a miner. Other officials say he has left, "scared out by the controversy." The vice president is James Ewing, a miner. Others on board of directors are Sherman Conner, George Talbot, and Clyde Beauchamp, all miners, and all said to be former union men.

In May crowds of union miners from the Clinton field trooped in and ordered the mine force to lay down their tools. The visitors told the workers they must work under the Terre Haute agreement and draw the full union scale or quit. For a week operations were shut down, then hoisting was resumed and all went smoothly until June 28, when some 700 union miners drove up in automobiles and staged a riot.

Mine Closed by Riot.

Telephone wires were cut. The ventilating fans were stopped so the men had to come to the surface. The cage was halted a few feet from the top, a ladder was put down, and as the miners climbed out one by one they were frisked for weapons. Then they had to run a gantlet from the pit to the boilerhouse. Forty-two were beaten with clubs and other instruments.

Sheriff Harry Newland dashed over from Newport in 28 minutes after he got the delayed telephone call, he says, but by then the violence was over and the company bus was filled with injured men on their way to the doctor.

Since then the mine has not been working. The miners are apprehensive of further outbursts. Two pilgrimages have been made to Gov. Leslie to ask for protection.

Deputy sheriffs are guarding the property, and warrants are out for nearly fifty union miners in connection with the riot. An injunction proceeding is pending in the Circuit court of Vermilion county.

Union Heads Deny Violence.

Officials of the United Mine Workers have told Gov. Leslie that the union had nothing to do with the demonstration of force and reiterated their stand against violence.

The controversy has exhibited some interesting readjustments of attitude as between miner and operator.

The Bono miners asked for a union charter. They were turned down on the ground that a charter was still extant. The theory was advanced that the old miners had first call on the jobs and the new worker-capitalist group had no right to ask them to take part of their compensation in stock, a proposal which most of the old workers rejected.

Unionists in the region say that under the union constitution if a worker accepts compensation below the scale he forfeits his union card. They argue that the Bono enterprise is a "speculators' move" to unload a nonpaying property, and they insist the miners do not really own the property. The Bono officials dispute this hotly.

Union Sides with Old Foe.

Further, the unionists declare that the Bono miners, having become "capitalists by simply signing up an I. O. U. for a stock purchase," are now intent upon profits instead of wage rates.

Strangely enough, one point which the unionists emphasize is that the Bono "capitalist miner" group, by alleged under selling, is unfair to the Mine Operators' association, which the unions used to fight, but with which they are now working in harmony on a program to restore the Indiana coal industry. The picture is that of union men defending operators against former union men who are "trying to crash into the operator group."

As to the Bono "working owners," too, their views on property seem to have been overhauled. For instance, one of the leaders who in former years was an apostle of the idea that the workers ought to control the mine property owners, remarked today:

"We, the workers, own this property, and what right has anybody to tell us how to run it? It's a free country and we're entitled to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Think of the nerve of anybody telling you what you must do with your own property and how much wages you must work for."

Bare Legs, Sun Tan Dresses the Vogue at Illinois U.

Urbana, Ill., July 14.—(AP)—Bare legs and sun tan dresses are the co-ed vogue this season at the University of Illinois. Despite state-wide criticism, which in one town included a police threat to arrest on sight bare legged girls and women, 30 per cent of the university's girl summer students go to class room and town without stockings.

CAR 'PRINCIPLES' FOUND SILENT ON NOISY OPERATION

Aldermen Point Out Two Flaws in Fundamentals.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Two defects were pointed out yesterday in the set of principles on the basis of which a subcommittee of the city council's local transportation committee has been instructed to prepare a terminable permit for a new transit company comprising the surface and elevated lines.

The first objection came from Ald. E. I. Frankhauser [49th], chairman of the subcommittee.

"There is nothing in the principles which indicates any intention to prohibit avoidable noise in transit operation," was his criticism.

Massen Also Has Criticism.

The second criticism came from Ald. John Massen [48th]. His observation was:

"It seems to me that this is the time to indicate whether the city intends to compel the removal of the elevated loop structure. It is unreasonably noisy, contributes some dirt, its appearance is offensive, and there are those who believe it has outlasted its usefulness if modern subways are constructed."

On these two subjects the aldermanic "fundamentals" are silent. Observers say that the subcommittee will be forced into expressing its attitude on each point within a short time. They point out that the Wells street property owners have offered to contribute to the cost of a subway, if the "L" structure in that thoroughfare is removed.

Asks Committee to Declare Itself.

"It is evident to me," said Ald. Massen, "that the property owners who have investigated this subject believe that the elevated structure is a detriment to their property. That detriment is apparently in actual cash, for otherwise why should they volunteer to contribute part of the cost of subways.

"I am not a member of the subcommittee and do not know its desires or intentions, but I think an authorized expression from it on this subject would be appreciated by the public generally and by the property owners concerned."

Frankhauser on Noise.

As to a declaration of purpose with reference to noise, Ald. Frankhauser said:

"I believe we should express our views on it. I cannot imagine that there will be no attacks upon an ordinance franchise which is silent on noise. Such an ordinance would indicate a lack of regard for public comfort, and those who are prone to criticize as well as those interested in public welfare could be expected to hop on that omission.

"Health Commissioner Kegel was recently quoted as saying that it requires 19 per cent more energy to work in a noisy place than to perform the same task in a quiet spot. The public policy in every line of endeavor now is to conserve human energy. Wasting of it is just as wrong as wasting electrical or any other energy. I think we should speak out on noise."

Points to "L" Structure.

Ald. Massen added: "The Northwestern Elevated south of Leland avenue is so noisy that it is almost unbearable, while northward it does not inflict any objectionable discomfort. The south end of the structure is a steel frame where no effort was made to reduce the noise. The portion north of Leland avenue is on a dirt fill. Residents along that part leave their windows open and seldom complain of the noise.

"An office window opposite the elevated loop is an impossible place for any mental work. Several years ago when I was in New York I met a German who had an insulation against noise, which he claimed was unusually durable. I do not know anything about the merits of his product but his dissertation on the effect of noise and its remedies indicated that science has studied this subject extensively."

I. C. Cited in Contrast.

The Illinois Central electrified suburban service structure supplies another striking contrast with the open steel framework of the elevated.

Another alderman who was present when Aldermen Massen and Frankhauser were being interviewed said:

"I don't think an ordinance would pass which does not provide that the new structures shall reduce noise. Certainly the local transportation committee should announce its position on both these subjects. Omission of an expression in the fundamentals only starts the subcommittee off with a handicap."

Meeting Today Postponed.

A meeting of the subcommittee was to have been held today, but it will not take place. Too many members of the subcommittee are also members of the commiteee appointed to investigate the sale of the tax anticipation warrants. Aldermen Joseph B. McDonald [13th], Jacob M. Arvey [13th], J. B. Bowler [25th], and O. F. Nelson [46th], are members of both subcommittees.

No decision has been made on whether the transit subcommittee will meet tomorrow. The bills conferring added power on the city to deal with transportation were signed by Gov. Emmerson on June 19—26 days ago.

EXPECT SHOWDOWN TODAY ON SCHOOLS' $40,725,000 LOAN

President Caldwell of the board of education and City Controller Schmidt at a conference to be held today are expected to reach the showdown stage in their controversy over the board's proposed sale of $40,725,000 worth of school tax warrants to Halsey, Stuart & Co.

Although the school board president insists that the sale must go through if the schools are to open in September, Mr. Schmidt has refused to sign the warrants unless the Halsey, Stuart syndicate furnishes a $40,725,000 bond. Describing this requirement as "unreasonable," Mr. Caldwell intimated that he will mandamus the ontroller if it is not withdrawn today.

The conference probably will be held in the office of Attorney Amos C. Miller, Mr. Schmidt's lawyer, who will have ready a written opinion advising the controller how to act.

"I have no destre to be responsible for closing the schools," Mr. Schmidt said yesterday. "At the same time I have certain responsibilities. There is no council authority in this matter and I intend to be absolutely safe."

ULTIMATUM OF RUSSIA DEMANDS CHINA FREE REDS

Soviets Threaten to Use "Other Means."

present Chinese authorities, evidently inclined to regard the above policy of friendly and peaceful settlement of disputes and respect for the sovereign rights of China [which represents a complete renunciation of the principles of the imperialist policy fo capitalist states] not as a policy connected with the very nature of soviet power, but as a manifestation of its weakness.

"Apparently that is the reason why Chinese authorities have allowed themselves to take a series of grossly violent and provocative actions against the U. S. S. R., abusing its peacefulness.

"The soviet government is therefore compelled to remind the Chinese authorities that it possesses sufficient means to safeguard the lawful rights of its people against any violent infringements."

Meetings of protest and indignation at the happenings in Manchuria were held throughout the soviet republics, with the press fanning emotions to even higher heat with big displays to developments and accompanying commenting editorials.

Leaders Rush to Nanking.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 14.—Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, president of the state council, and C. T. Wang, foreign minister, are both hurrying to Nanking from Peking for the purpose of holding a conference with the central executive committee over the Chinese-Russian crisis.

Owing to the absence of important officials, Kuomintang officials at Nanking did not issue any statement. Lu Yung-huan, director general of railways, telegraphed Chiang Kai-shek for instructions. The telegram said every precaution has been taken to insure the maintenance of normal traffic, although practically all soviet officials have been dismissed and many have already been sent back over the Siberian border.

Three brigades of Chinese troops are stationed along the line from Harbin to Manchuria, while a strong Chinese force is stationed at Manchouli. Some 80 White Russians, formerly employed on the Chinese Eastern line prior to the enforcement of the Chinese-Russian agreement, have been reemployed to fill the positions made vacant by the Reds.

Reports from Japan, through official Toho News agency of Tokio, state that Harbin is chiefly concerned over the Chinese-Russian incident due to the effect upon the Japanese government owned South Manchurian railway. The Japanese express fear that the Chinese may attempt similar methods to recover control of the Japanese line.

DETECTIVE GIVES UP ON CHARGE OF ROBBING SALOON

Detective Joseph Hennessy, sought on a robbery charge since the arrest of Detective Daniel Allman last Thursday, surrendered at the detective bureau yesterday to Lieut. Michael Vaughn. He was booked for robbery and later released on a $5,000 bond furnished by Mrs. Mary Nash, 7255 Maryland avenue.

Allman and Hennessy are charged with having held up William Christenson, saloonkeeper at 1006 East 93d street, and taking $50 from him. Both men were members of the "shakedown" squad which was supposed to rid the Grand Crossing district of crime and vice. Also under arrest is Charles Fisher, who is charged with aiding the men in the robbery.

Christenson said the two policemen tried to "shake him down" for $100 and when he refused they took $50 from the cash register.

ATTACK LEGALITY OF WOLFE PAVING SYSTEM IN COURT

Property Owner Asks Writ to Stop Resurfacing.

The legality of the plan evolved by Commissioner of Public Works Wolfe for resurfacing Chicago's streets at a low cost will be contested in a hearing at 11 a. m. today before Judge Hugo M. Friend on an injunction suit brought against the commissioner by James E. Prendergast, a Rogers Park property owner.

Should the case be decided against Commissioner Wolfe, it is expected to put an end to a score of resurfacing projects which are under way or about to be started in various parts of the city.

Objects to Loyola Project.

The injunction proceedings were brought by the law firm of Chapman & Cutler, attorneys, for Mr. Prendergast who objects to a big resurfacing program in the Loyola district which has been agreed to by a majority of the affected property owners. Mr. Prendergast describes himself as president of the Rogers Park-Loyola Property Owners association. He lives at 1254 Arthur avenue.

Significance is attached to the suit because it apparently brings to a showdown a feud carried on for months between Commissioner Wolfe and President Faherty of the board of local improvements over street paving. Until a year ago all paving had been done by the board while the public works department handled only repairs. Mr. Wolfe then conceived and promoted his plan to resurface the streets with city labor and material at a cost about one third that of the board for entirely new paving.

Mr. Wolfe sought unsuccessfully to secure the passage of a bill at Springfield allowing special assessments under his plan. Representatives of Mr. Faherty and contractors' associations lobbied against it.

The Rogers Park situation is identical with those in other parts of the city. A few months ago, the board started proceedings to pave the system, comprising Archer, Magnolia, Wayne and Lakewood avenues, at an estimated cost of $85,000. Mr. Wolfe offered to resurface the streets for $28,000 and 250 property owners, at a massmeeting, chose the Wolfe plan. The Broadway National bank offered to lend to the citizens' group the sums necessary to finance the resurfacing.

Others Back Wolfe Plan.

John J. Cullinan, 1233 Arthur avenue, president of the Loyola Property Owners association, asserted yesterday that Mr. Prendergast, in seeking to block the resurfacing, is acting as an individual and has little support from other property owners. The organization of which Mr. Prendergast is head is virtually defunct, according to Cullinan.

"With only two or three exceptions, all of the property owners in the district are agreed that Mr. Wolfe's plan is the best and we will do everything possible to fight the injunction case," Mr. Cullinan said.

Chapman & Cutler set up in their petition that the state law and city ordinances do not permit the commissioner of public works to repair more than 15 per cent of the surface of any block without a special council order. Resurfacing, like new paving, they contend, is exclusively work for the board of local improvements.

Vilma Banky, Minus Her Makeup, Just Catches Train

Disconcerted because photographers wanted her picture when she was not made up and breathless because she was late, Vilma Banky, film star, who has been appearing at a loop theater, arrived at Grand Central station yesterday afternoon just in time to be helped aboard the Capitol Limited as it pulled out of the shed. Her husband, Rod La Rocque, is in Hollywood while she is making a personal appearance tour. Baltimore is her next stop.

WELFARE BUREAU RESTORES CHILD, 3, TO ITS PARENTS

Three year old Virginia Coleman will arrive home from San Francisco this morning, saved from an apparently fraudulent adoption through her parents' plea to the Illinois department of public welfare.

The parents, Elmer and Verna Coleman, left Chicago more than a year ago for San Francisco, where Coleman hoped to find work as a painter. In April, Coleman returned here while Mrs. Coleman and the child remained.

The mother had found work but was taken ill. She left the child with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Clayton, who operated a boarding home. Mrs. Clayton provided the mother her fare to Chicago and prevailed upon her to sign a paper which the mother believed was security for a loan but which later proved a consent for adoption.

Mr. and Mrs. Coleman soon received notice that the Claytons had begun adoption proceedings and, when the father objected by letter, he was informed by Assistant District Attorney O. H. McConoughey of San Francisco that "he should consider the future of the child and not his own selfish wishes."

Meanwhile, through the intervention of Supt. Roy James Battis of the state division of child welfare, one of his field workers investigated the case in San Francisco, found the Clayton home undesireable for the child, and prevented the prospective foster parents from fleeing with their ward to Canada.

The Colemans, who live at 3609 Jackson street, Maywood, will be at the Union station this morning when Virginia gets home in the care of Mrs. Maud Cobb, the field worker who prevented the adoption.

68 Vigilantes with Sawed Off Shotguns Are Sworn

Fond du Lac, Wis., July 14.—[Special.]—Sixty-eight armed men with sawed off shotguns appeared before Circuit Judge C. F. VanPelt yesterday to take the oath as special officers. They are known as the Fond du Lac county vigilantes, organized to protect banks against holdups. More than one-half of the counties in the state now have vigilantes.

13 WINE GROWING NATIONS WAR ON WORLD DRY LAWS

Plan to Fire Opening Gun on United States.

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, July 14.—A world-wide war against prohibition has been declared by thirteen wine growing countries of Europe whose activities are centralized in the "office international du vin," and whose headquarters are in Paris. Dr. Leon Doumarche, director of the organization, has been named commander in chief of the anti-prohibition offensive, whose slogan is "Liberty and Temperance."

It is not hoped by these crusaders that they will be able to obtain repeal of the 18th amendment, or even the Volstead act, but they aim to have the latter modified in the real interests of temperance. They are taking the field to drive out bad liquor with good.

Wine Chief Foe of Alcohol.

Their ammunition will be, Dr. Doumarche states, facts, films, statistics, medical data, social surveys, scientific treatises and common sense, which all go to prove wine is the greatest foe of alcohol and the only radical solution of the drink problem.

"Prohibition certainly is no solution," Dr. Doumarche declares. "One has only to compare temperate France with the United States. We attempt no defense of hard liquor. But wine containing 10 per cent alcohol, moderately and intelligently consumed, particularly at meal time, can have no noxious effects, and from Pasteur down to our day some of the greatest scientists have declared it the most wholesome and most hygienic of beverages.

Appeal to Sincere Dry.

"Our campaign will be educational, courteous, dignified and comprehensive. We are going to fight prejudice and repression as well as alcohol, being firmly convinced that prohibition is an evil almost as great as that which it pretends to have defeated. Our appeal will be to the sincere dry who detests alcoholism but loves temperance and personal liberty."

Dr. Doumarche intends to conduct a personal campaign in the U. S. next spring and extensive propaganda work will meanwhile be carried on not only there but in all countries from Finland to New Zealand where drys are at work.

AL SMITH IN GROUP URGING WALKER TO SEEK SECOND TERM

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—A citizens' committee of 683 men and women, including Alfred E. Smith, Mrs. John F. Curry, and a host of persons prominent in the business, banking and political life of the city, on Thursday will ask James J. Walker to again run for mayor.

It is understood the mayor will take advantage of the opportunity to make formal declaration of his candidacy.

The committee is headed by August Heckscher, who announced the plans today. While the membership is predominantly Democratic, the list contains the names of numerous persons who in the past have been the life of fusion movements in the city, as well as some Republicans.

WILD WEST SHOW EMPLOYE KILLED BY BOX CAR DOOR

George Watson, 60 years old, of Sturgis, S. D., a watchman for Miller Brothers 101 Ranch wild west show, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a swinging door of a box car which passed him as he was standing on the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks at Addison street and Kolmar avenue.

The show train on which Watson was riding and which was en route to Waukegan had stopped and Watson was leaning against the train talking to Francis Rust, 30 years old, 843 North Hoyne avenue, also a show employe. A freight train sped past, the momentum throwing a door on one of the box cars open.

Rust saw the dangerous car approaching and fell to the ground but Watson was slapped by the swinging door and his head was crushed against a wall of the car of the show train. Rust escaped with injuries.

ITALY AWARDS GOLD MEDAL TO ATLANTIC AIRMEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 14.—Italo Balbo, Italian undersecretary for aviation, acting for Premier Mussolini, at a banquet of 400 Italian aviation notables and American officials tonight presented Capt. Lewis A. Yancey and Roger Q. Williams the Italian aeronautical gold medal for their trans-Atlantic flight. The medal is the highest Italian aviation decoration.

In return for the honor, Capt. Yancey made a speech and bestowed the three chronometers with which the pilots made observations and directed the flight over the Atlantic on Premier Mussolini, Sig. Balbo and Gen. Francesco de Pinedo, hero of the round the Atlantic flight two years ago.

The aviators were received by Pope Pius this morning in a four-minute audience in which the pontiff complimented them on their daring exploit. The pontiff spoke in English.

Hotel Guests' Jewelry, Worth $40,000, Is Stolen

Asbury Park, N. J., July 14.—[Special.]—Rooms of Mr. and Mrs. David Millar at the Monterey hotel were entered last night and jewelry valued at $40,000 stolen, police were told today. The gems were taken while Mr. and Mrs. Millar were out walking.

IF YOU need money for sickness, accumulated bills, moving, insurance, taxes or other reasons, ask us about the Household Loan Plan. This plan is designed to offer relief from financial worry to families whose incomes fail to cover emergency expenses and who need extra funds badly.

Borrow from Household and Save

A cordial invitation is extended to former customers and others who already have loans, to take advantage of our new rate, which has been reduced nearly one-third.

$100-$200-$300
or other amounts

You can borrow from Household quickly, easily and with absolute privacy. Repayments arranged to suit your convenience—take as many as twenty months if you wish. Under our new low rate, loans payable in twenty equal monthly payments cost as follows:

$100 loan, average monthly cost $1.32
$200 loan, average monthly cost $2.63
$300 loan, average monthly cost $3.94

The above table is based on a twenty monthly payment plan, but if you repay sooner, the total cost is less. Interest is charged ONLY on unpaid balance, for actual time you keep the money.

How We Make Loans

We lend $100-$200-$300 or other amounts to families for domestic use. You get the entire amount—there are no fees or deductions. We do not require outside signers. Employers, relatives or friends are not notified.

Cinderella . . .

A Modern Fable

Once upon a time there was a charming Cinderella cigarette brand . . . the youngest member of a family of brands known as the "20 for 15¢" family.

She had three sisters. But they were very old . . . from 14 to 17 years older than Cinderella. And they were very proud . . . so proud that each proclaimed itself the finest cigarette in all the world . . . bar none . . . not even giving a sisterly "look-in" to the other members of the family.

Well, one day a mighty prince came to call on this family. He was none other than the Prince of Public Taste and he came in search of a perfect cigarette.

Immediately, the three older cigarette brands pranced to the front and urged their charms upon him.

"Smoke me!" said the elder, "I am the class of the field."

"Smoke me!" said the second, "for I am beyond compare."

"Smoke me!" said the third, "all the world acknowledges me to be the best."

Then, from the background, young Cinderella quietly spoke up. "If you please, Sire," she suggested, "why not smoke all four of us . . . and compare us fairly and impartially, letting your taste decide which one of us you like best?"

"Why, that's a common sense idea!" exclaimed His Highness.

Whereupon he covered the names of all four brands with a paper mask; lit them and smoked them reflectively, with all brand prejudice removed.

One cigarette seemed to capture his fancy, far and beyond the others. "I don't know which cigarette this is," he declared, "but, unquestionably, it is the cigarette for me."

Whereupon he removed the mask and found it to be! . . . Well, Cinderella is the "story-book" name but in America today that winning brand is known as OLD GOLD.

MORAL: It is easy to make big claims, but you can't smoke claims. The only sound way to discover the cigarette you like best is to let your taste decide.

SEEK CONSTABLE WHO SHOT MAN FLEEING IN AUTO

Occupant of Liquor Car Seriously Wounded.

Tullahoma, Tenn., July 14.—(AP)—Deputy Sheriff Charles Wooten of Coffee county held a warrant tonight for the arrest of Bruce H. Ashburne, Franklin county constable, after a shooting near here yesterday in which Ewin Smith, 22, was wounded seriously.

No warrants had been issued for J. N. Spurrien and J. O. Sanderson, federal prohibition officers, who were with Ashburne when the young man was shot. Ashburne was tried about three years ago on a charge of slaying a man by shooting him in the back. The officer contended he shot the man as he was fleeing from a still. Ashburne was freed.

Claude Hodge, one of Smith's companions, told John Matthew Smith, father of the wounded man, that Ashburne did the shooting, and on this information the father swore to the warrant.

Smith was shot while the officers pursued an auto in which Smith and three companions were riding and from which, it is said, large quantities of liquor were poured.

U. S. Acts to Balk Trial.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—The same government machinery that has successfully shielded dozens of federal Volstead killers from punishment has been set in motion, it was learned today, to balk an Oklahoma state court prosecution of Dry Agent W. W. ["Snake"] Thomason and his volunteer aid, Jeff B. Harris, for the murder of two Tecumseh, Okla., citizens.

Under orders from Washington, the United States attorney at Oklahoma City will apply for a federal court writ of habeas corpus to snatch the two "hair trigger" enforcers out of the jurisdiction of the state court, to which they were bound for trial yesterday after a preliminary hearing before a Tecumseh justice of the peace.

Protection for Harris, Too.

Department of justice officials asserted that while the initial move will be in behalf of Thomason, the same protection will undoubtedly be afforded Harris, in spite of the fact that the latter was neither a commissioned dry agent nor, so far as reports available here indicate, specially deputized to assist Thomason in the raid which resulted in the death of James Harris and Oscar Lowery, both world war veterans.

Jeff Harris, according to information received at the justice department, was ordered held for trial for the murder of both men, who, it was testified yesterday, were shot down after they had complied with a command to throw up their hands. Thomason, who, it was said, fired no shots, is held on charges growing out of the death of James Harris.

At the prohibition bureau it was said that, regardless of the outcome of an investigation ordered by Deputy Commissioner Alf Oftedal, the dry administration will insist that every influence at the government disposal be used to secure transfer of the charges against Thomason to the federal court. It was said, however, that Thomason may be dismissed from the service if Mr. Oftedal's inquiry discloses that he not only staged the fatal raid without a search warrant but permitted Harris and two other unauthorized and armed volunteers to accompany him.

Slayers to Seek Bail.

Tecumseh, Okla., July 14.—(AP)—An effort to gain their liberty on bond will be made tomorrow by a federal prohibition enforcement officer and an "under cover" aid now facing trial in state District court on murder charges in connection with the slaying of two Oklahoma farmers in a liquor raid on July 4, J. B. Dudley, defense attorney, said today.

The two men—W. W. Thomason, prohibition agent, and Jeff Harris, deputized assistant — yesterday were bound over for trial in the state court for the killing of James Harris, tenant farmer near here, and Oscar Lowery, his brother-in-law.

58 STORY OFFICE BUILDING GOING UP IN NEW YORK

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Plans for the erection of another tall building in the Grand Central zone was announced tonight by Walter J. Salmon, real estate operator. The building, to be fifty eight stories high, will be on the northwest corner of 5th avenue and 42d street, opposite the public library.

The building will be similar to other modern structures, with the set-backs required by law. It will have 100 foot frontage on the avenue and 198 feet on 42d street.

This is the second most valuable site in New York, having been appraised for tax purposes at $28,000 a front foot, a figure exceeded only by the space occupied by No. 1 Wall street, which is appraised at $30,000.

POINCARE PLANS TO SPEED DEBATE ON DEBT ACCORDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 14.—The government took a firm step today to speed up the debate on the French debt accords with America and England by announcing that when the chamber of deputies' session reopens on Tuesday there will be three sessions daily until the ratification problem is solved. It is expected that Premier Poincaré will finish his outline of the Young plan for the final settlement of reparations on Tuesday morning.

Before the deputies get a chance to speak, however, the government will have to overrule four motions on the adjournment question. The first of these will be offered by Leon Blum, Socialist. Then M. Franklin-Bouillon will move adjournment until the Young plan is ratified by the allies. M. Delsol will move adjournment until Germany ratifies the Young plan. M. Blum will come back with a fourth motion regarding evacuation of the Rhineland.

It is considered that Premier Poincaré will have no trouble in getting rid of these obstructionist tactics and that ratification will take place by the time the deputies start on their vacation on July 28.

AMBROSE LEARNS THAT CAB DRIVERS ARE MEN IN WEST

Ambrose Ward, 19 years old, came back in police custody yesterday from Cheyenne, Wyo., where men are men and cab drivers can't be bluffed by toy pistols.

Police Sergt. Joseph Collins clamped a pair of manacles on Ambrose on the night of June 18 when he found the youth robbing a filling station at 90th street and Cottage Grove avenue. Suspecting the culprit of previous illegal entries, the sergeant escorted Ambrose to his room at 9046 Dobson avenue to search for loot.

While the policeman rummaged through the youth's belongings the prisoner stole out of the house to the home of a friend who filed off his handcuffs. Three days later Ambrose alighted from a freight train at Cheyenne, smashed a drug store window with a brick and took a cap pistol from within.

Around the corner he accosted a cab driver who wore a sombrero and gauntlet gloves. When Ambrose ordered hands up, the Cheyenne cabby contemptuously plucked the tin pistol from his hand, boxed his ears, and hog tied him with his pants belt. Trussed up and smarting, Ambrose was handed over to the Cheyenne sheriff, who quickly persuaded the prisoner to reveal his Chicago escapades.

HEADING FOR A RECEIVERSHIP.

Why school board officials sought city council sanction for their borrowing of $40,000,000 in anticipation of taxes remains obscure. Now that the city council has refused to give its approval, the school board, which waited until the last minute to refer the matter to the council, has discovered that it can get along just as well without council assent. Likewise, Halsey, Stuart & Co., which had negotiated the loan, finds that the failure of the council to indorse the loan does not in any way detract from its security.

Some observers are of the opinion that the matter was brought before the council only to distract attention from charges of wasteful mismanagement which had been leveled against Corporation Counsel Ettelson and which were due for an airing at the council meeting. Possibly so, though it is difficult to believe that even the present city administration could be guilty of so colossal a political blunder. Attention which may have been distracted from the garbage dump controversy had been fastened squarely upon the state of the public treasury.

Not even the hullabaloo over the rapacity of the bankers can serve to disguise the evident fact that the credit of the city is all but exhausted. Led on by the rapacity of the spenders, the school board had already borrowed $46,500,000 against the taxes of 1928, which when collected may well amount to considerably less than the sum borrowed, plus interest; and $63,175,000 against the taxes to be levied this year, a total of $109,675,000. With this latest borrowing the end of the rope has been reached. The board cannot raise another nickel at any rate of interest.

In the previous Thompson administration the gang looted the funds borrowed for public improvements. When protests were raised, city officials replied that the knockers were intent only upon thwarting the coming of the city beautiful. The city hall got away with that for a time, but finally the voters turned in anger and refused to vote any more bonds.

Thereupon Mr. Thompson's buccaneers gave their attention to the school funds, with which they had had some experience previously but on a smaller scale. Now when protests against waste in school administration are heard they are met with the moist eye and the reply that if money is not supplied without limit the schools must close, to the infinite loss of the children. The looting of the school funds was made fatter when, at the last session of the legislature, a law was enacted with the support of the city administration which adds 50 per cent to school taxes. Accordingly, the school board, which was able to borrow only $46,000,000 against 1928 taxes, has now arranged to borrow $63,000,000 against 1929 taxes. The pickings should be substantial and the taxpayer may make the best of it.

These are the matters upon which public attention in Chicago has been focused by the debate in the council and no demagogic cry against bankers in general or in particular can conceal the truth. The taxpayers may forget for a time, but reminders of a painful sort are on the way. The long delayed tax bills will be in the mails, in all probability, within a few months. No sooner will they be disposed of than other even larger tax bills will be delivered. For all this expenditure the city has received nothing but dishonest and incompetent administration, as indifferent to public interest as it has been corrupt.

The ablest and most incorruptible of administrators, if Chicago has the good fortune to obtain their services, will be hard put to it to repair the damage done, for the city is virtually bankrupt and it must take years before the credit of the city is restored. Inevitably, public improvements of all sorts will be delayed; school administration will be hampered; police and fire protection will be inadequate because only by an excess of economy can money be obtained for reducing the burden of debt which has been fastened upon the community. In effect, Chicago is headed straight for a receivership.

HOW NOT TO BUILD THE SUBWAY.

Discussion of the new traction ordinance in Chicago has turned toward the subway. Questions of its design and the method of paying for it may be dismissed for the moment while emphasis is laid upon the fact that no ordinance which enables Michael Faherty, chairman of the board of local improvements, or any of his associates in the city administration, to have anything to do with the design or the letting of contracts can deserve popular support.

Mr. Faherty was a prominent figure in the conspiracy which looted the city treasury of millions during the previous Thompson administration. He is among those liable, as a consequence of THE TRIBUNE'S suit, to repay the stolen money to the city. He and his associates could ask nothing sweeter than an opportunity to spend the city's $55,000,000 traction fund plus millions in special assessments, particularly if he might also have a voice in the location of subway stations.

Experience with previous attempts at traction settlements suggests that every proposal faces an uphill fight when submitted to the voters. The settlements are guilty in the minds of thousands of voters until proved innocent. No ordinance which has so obvious a defect as the extension of the spending power of the board of local improvements stands a ghost of a chance of winning public support in a referendum.

LEAVING IT TO THE DOCTORS.

The secretary of the interior, Ray Lyman Wilbur, speaking at the convention of the American Medical association, told the doctors that they would have to find a way to reduce the costs of medical care to the middle classes or a way will be imposed upon the doctors. Dr. Wilbur speaks with the authority of his office in the government and as chairman of a national committee which is studying the questions involved in medical charges.

The fact that Dr. Wilbur found it possible, at a convention of physicians, to state his views thus bluntly is, in itself, the most hopeful aspect of the matter. No one who has experienced or observed the effect of a siege of illness upon the budget of a family in moderate circumstances can doubt the need for modifying present conditions; but it is no less true that the ablest practitioners of all sorts, the leaders of the profession, are themselves the leaders in the movement for reform.

It is not easy to work changes overnight, particularly if the changes upset long standing professional relationships and standards. Any one who has observed the resistance of lawyers in our legislatures to the removal of flagrant abuses in the criminal and civil codes will regard with admiration the willingness of doctors to examine the traditions of their profession. If there is hesitation, it must be remembered that doctors as a class are far from being overpaid, and under the circumstances it is scarcely remarkable that the majority of the humbler members of the profession are unwilling to accept changes until they have some assurance that their livelihood is not to be further imperiled.

A solution of the problem of medical care for the middle classes which would result in impoverishing the doctors would be worse than no solution at all, for it is to the advantage of the community to attract able intellects to the practice of medicine. This position must be conceded, we believe, by even the most ardent advocates of reform. It has been conceded by the sane supporters of Dr. Schmidt in his controversy with the Chicago Medical society. While it is no doubt true, as Dr. Wilbur said, that if relief for the middle classes is not devised by the doctors it must be imposed upon them, the probability that they will lose the initiative is for the present not great. In spite of the Schmidt case, laymen have not lost confidence in the good will of the medical profession in its relations to the public.

ADMIRAL MAGRUDER'S RETURN.

The return of Rear Admiral Magruder to active service puts one of the ablest of our naval officers back where he belongs. We hope it means more than that. We hope it means a change in the policy of the navy department with respect to plain speaking by responsible naval officers. We are quite willing to concede that a reasonable check upon public utterances by officers of our defense services is justifiable, but Admiral Magruder's remarks were in the public interest and most timely. To keep him inactive for nearly two years not only deprived the navy for that time of the services of an able officer but was clearly an excessive penalty for such breach of regulations as he may have been technically guilty of. This excess expressed the typical bureaucratic reaction to any forceful initiative and its inevitable resentment of criticism, especially from its own ranks. But the nation which maintains the navy has a right to plain speaking and to access to facts and responsible opinions, and that right is superior to bureaucratic amour propre or self-interest. In time of war service censorship must be strict, though even then it has limits and should not be perverted to the protection of incompetence or the deception of the public as to matters the public ought to know.

In time of peace both the navy and war departments should follow a policy of encouragement to free discussion, and if it is impossible to expect they will, congress should establish a rule of conduct sufficiently liberal to encourage it within proper lines and protect officers effectually from bureaucratic reprisal.

The Other Side

CAN'T KEEP IT OUT.

[Cleveland Plain-Dealer.]

American delegates to the fifth congress of the International Chamber of Commerce at Amsterdam are endeavoring to keep the American tariff bill out of the official discussions. They say that congress would resent any attempt at dictation regarding a domestic policy.

But the business interests of the leading nations are vitally interested in tariff policy and in the duty increases the house bill carries. And at an international meeting to consider trade policies above everything else it is inevitable that their discussions should turn to the American tariff situation and to the prospect for duty advances here.

As far as giving offense to congress by saying what they think is concerned, the delegates at the Amsterdam meeting need not be uneasy. When congress convenes after the recess to consider the senate bill now in preparation it is going to hear so much opposition from domestic sources that what a few business people abroad think or have said will be overlooked.

Two years ago when France increased her duties on a considerable range of American imports, neither the government nor private business interests here looked upon her action as a domestic matter. Protests were filed immediately and a compromise effected, but even now the question is not settled. Conceivably our policy with respect to French imports under the law to be passed this year will have a bearing on it.

The idea that the tariff is a domestic policy is just as false as the traditional American notion of the advantages accruing from high protection. If its international aspects were given the consideration they deserve there is a fair chance that our tariff position would soon be changed.

ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION.

DR. C. K. DRINKER gives the following advice as to artificial respiration. The Schafer method of prone pressure artificial respiration has entirely superseded all other methods.

The American Gas association advises strongly against the use of a pulmotor and all other mechanical appliances. Some details of the Schafer method he gives as follows:

As soon as possible feel in the patient's mouth with the fingers. Remove false teeth, tobacco and any other foreign body. Do not stop to loosen the patient's clothing, but lay the patient on his belly and begin respiration at once. Every moment of delay is serious. He gives detailed advice as to carrying out the Schafer method.

1. Continue artificial respiration without interruption until natural breathing is restored—if necessary, four hours or longer.

2. As soon as this artificial respiration has been started and while it is being continued any assistant should loosen any tight clothing about the subject's neck, chest or waist. Keep the subject warm. Do not give any liquids by mouth until the subject is fully conscious.

3. To avoid heart strain when the subject revives he should be kept lying down. He should be given some stimulant, such as one teaspoonful of aromatic spirits of ammonia in a glass of water or some warm coffee or tea. The subject should be kept warm.

4. Give artificial respiration at the nearest possible point to the accident. Do not transport the subject until respiration is well established.

5. Watch the subject for some time after natural respiration has been established. It may stop and artificial respiration may again be called for. If the operator is changed during artificial respiration the rhythm should not be broken.

5. After gas poisoning some inhalation of a mixture of 95 per cent oxygen and 5 per cent carbonic acid gas must be given along with the artificial respiration. But the use of oxygen must not be continued long lest pneumonia follow.

6. Bleeding and transfusion do more harm than good in all forms of asphyxiation.

The mistakes which result in death from asphyxiation are in the order of their importance: Using the wrong method of artificial respiration or not using it; failure to use inhalation when it is called for, and failure to keep the body warm.

MOTORCYCLE AND KIDNEYS.

A. J. K. writes: Can you tell me if there is any harm in riding a motorcycle? I was told it is bad for the kidneys.

REPLY.

There is no special harm to any organ. My impression is that motorcycle riding is somewhat hazardous.

THEY MAY BE DANGEROUS.

J. E. M. writes: Please advise of any harmful effects working in an atmosphere of open tanks of vapor rising from plating and cleaning solution of caustic soda, copper cyanide, sodium cyanide, sulphuric acid, nitric acid, lye, soda, potash, metal sulphate, enamel stripper, hydrochloric acid.

The air chokes one sometimes and many complain of nosebleeds and discomfort in nose. Many keep the nose filled with cotton and breathe by mouth.

REPLY.

It is probable that the vapors you are subject to are dangerous as well as uncomfortable. The tanks should be hooded and there should be exhaust ventilation.

This is a matter for the attention of an industrial hygiene bureau. In some states this bureau is part of the health department; in others, of the labor department. In some cities there is a bureau of industrial hygiene under the health department.

LIST OF SUITABLE FOODS.

A. B. writes: I have been prescribed a diet on account of sugar in my blood, excluding starches and sweets. Could you give me a list of some suitable foods.

REPLY.

The foods low in carbohydrates are: All forms of meat and eggs, butter and all oils and fats, and waters, bulky vegetables and fruits. You should be especially careful as to cereals, breads, pastries, desserts, sweets, corn, peas, and beans.

Let me advise you to get a small book on diabetes, written in simple language. Most of these contain analyses of foods as to carbohydrates and calories and some contain recipes.

COMMON LAW MARRIAGE.

Chicago, July 11.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Is common law marriage recognized in Illinois, no children being involved? If so, what proceeding must be taken for divorce? R. J. V.

In the absence of a ceremonial marriage the legality of the relationship would depend upon whether there was ever an agreement for a legal, as distinguished from an illicit relationship, and upon whether that agreement was entered into in a state recognizing common law marriages. Since 1905 Illinois law has not permitted the contracting of common law marriages in this state, but if the relation was valid when and where it was entered into it would be valid everywhere. THE MANCHESTER SQUARE CASE.

SYNOPSIS.

Police Constable Higgins, roaming around England seeking the murderer of Sir Algernon Somerset, found seated in front of his great window in Manchester Square with a bullet through his head, is much embarrassed by the enthusiastic but somewhat cloying friendship of an American tourist whom he knows as Porters Siding. Mr. Siding, being somewhat fed up on the Volstead law, wishes to avail himself of the privileges of merry England, which has never seen fit to add an eighteenth amendment to the M. K. Magna Charta. Mrs. Porters Siding, however, being a prominent and most aggressive reformer of everybody else's morals and habits, attempts to drag her husband through all the culture and art of Europe she can find, and thinks that anybody who drinks anything except buttermilk and sarsaparilla is headed straight for a drunkard's grave. Porters Siding escaped from his keeper at Oxford and followed Constable Higgins to Birmingham. We will now go on with the story.

INSTALLMENT XXXIV.

"Cherchez la femme!"

It was Porters Siding who spoke the words, and he spoke them in a low, hushed tone, and with intense earnestness. Constable Higgins, however, to whom he was speaking, did not seem deeply impressed.

The two were seated in a pub in High Dale End, Birmingham. High Dale End, naturally, was not far from the railway station where they had alighted but a short time before. Constable Higgins knew a much better pub right off Victoria Square, but Porters Siding, being an American, did not see the use of going so far. To him a pub was a pub, a heavenly place where whisky, stout, ale, beer, and wine were legally for sale. So they had turned into the one in High Dale End.

They had finished the journey from Stratford without further incident, except that Porters Siding had found a chance in the dense crowd coming out of the station to knock the silk hat from the head of the haughty personage in morning clothes who had repelled his friendly advances in the carriage and insisted on his immediate removal therefrom. And before the haughty personage could salvage the silk hat Porters Siding had stepped on it.

The haughty personage might have summoned a bobby, but he wasted time in giving Porters Siding a horrible look through his monocle. Apparently, when he gave any one a look through his monocle, that one withered like a rose touched by a hard frost and crumbled into dusty bits at his feet. Porters Siding was made of sterner stuff. He took advantage of the respite, glided like an eel into the crowd, and was gone.

He found Constable Higgins hurriedly leaving the station by the side door. Constable Higgins did not seem thoroughly overjoyed at the reunion; however, he accompanied Porters Siding to the pub. And it was after they had ordered their Scotch and Pollys (double strength) that Porters Siding leaned forward and made his cryptic utterance:

"Cherchez la femme!"

"Look 'ere, m'lad," said Constable Higgins, sternly. "I've got to have this thing out with you. What I mean to say is, you've got to stop following me about and mucking everything jolly well up. What I mean to say is, I am on constabulary duty and everywhere I go there you come, kicking up no end of a row and making hay all over the place. What I mean to say is——"

"Cherchez la femme!" hissed Porters Siding again. At least he tried to hiss it. "Cherchez la femme" is not very easy to hiss, but he did as well with it as could be expected.

"Come, come, my good man," exclaimed Constable Higgins, "if you've anything to tell me, out with it. What I mean to say is, we've got to settle this once and for all. I cawn't have you following me like this. What I mean to say is, chuck it, y'see. And that's that."

"Be yourself," said Porters Siding. "I can help you nail the guy that bumped off Sir Bart in Manchester Square. I don't want to cut in on the reward or the fame that goes with solving the mystery. I'm just doin' it for the fun there is in it. Now, lissen; you don't know nothin' about murders over here. Why, you poor fish, you don't have more'n ten a year in this whole damn country; I live near Chicago, where they have a murder every five minutes. I go up there a lot and I know all about those cases. And I've read lots of detective stories, too. I can help you a lot. Now, the first thing to do is what I've said, 'Cherchez la femme'!"

"If you'll just cherchez la femme back to your own crowd and go on about your tripping," said Constable Higgins, irritably, "I would be the better pleased. What I mean to say is, I've had quite enough of you, m'lad, and——"

"'Cherchez la femme' is parley voo, you know, French," explained Porters Siding. "It means, 'Find the woman.' Lissen; in every single case where there's a bird been taken for a ride there's always a woman mixed up in it some way. No foolin'. You cherchez la femme in this case and you'll find out who bumped off Sir Bart."

"His name is, or was, Sir Algernon Somerset, Bardnet. What I mean to say is, I don't want your help. I'm out on this case on me bally own and I'd thank you, m'lad, if you jolly well stop bobbing up like a giddy jack in the box everywhere I go. What I mean to say is——"

"Cherchez la femme," insisted Porters Siding. "This here now Sir Bart, as I understand it, was a swell guy, what we would call back in Illinoy a big Butter an' Egg man. Now, lemme tell you somethin', brother. A sugar daddy like that has allus got a hot mamma somewhere around. Find tha hot mamma and you'll find out who bumped off Sir Bart. Cherchez la femme, I tell you; cherchez la femme——"

There was a noise at the door. A sharp, strident American—and also it must be admitted a trifle nasal—voice was heard at the door.

"Now, girls," said the voice, "you wait there in the ottomobeel. I'm going to find that man if I have to comb every saloon in Birmingham."

"Gosh all fish hooks!" gasped Porters Siding, "my wife! Good-night, one and all!"

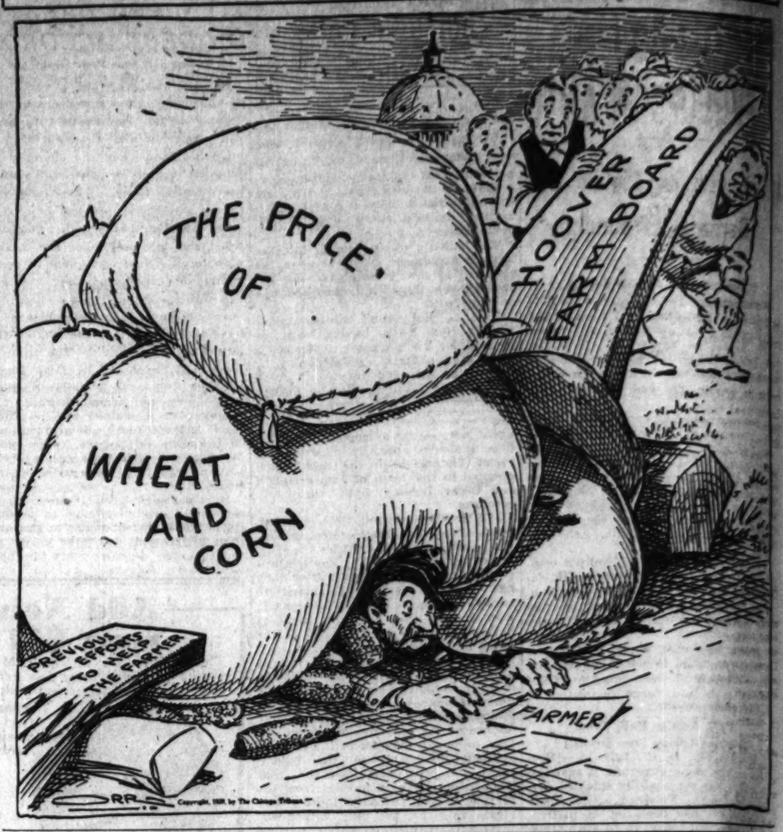
GOING TO RAISE IT ENOUGH TO LET HIM GET ON HIS FEET



FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 15, 1864.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Confirmatory proof is received that the rebel forces recently in Maryland and which threatened Washington numbered very little more than 20,000.

BALTIMORE, Md.—A Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia Inquirer, dated July 14, at 3 a. m., says the rebels began their retreat across the Potomac at 12 o'clock. They had held Rockville, about five miles from the Potomac, as a base. Our forces started in pursuit and we may be able to intercept their retreat south.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—The Nashville Union says dispatches received there state that Gen. Sherman on July 12 was within three miles of Atlanta.

CAIRO, Ill.—The Vicksburg Herald says that the expedition recently sent out from that city toward Jackson, Miss., under Gen. Dennis met the rebels under Wirt Adams near Clinton. Dennis was forced to retire to Clinton, where he made a stand and worsted the rebels, driving them off. It would not be contraband to state that fighting may be expected soon in the direction of Jackson. Ere this Gen. Slocum probably has encountered the redoubtable Adams, unless the rebels have suddenly taken French leave.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—It is stated on information from bushwhackers in Platt county that Gen. Price has disbanded his rebel army and sent it by squads into Missouri. The appearance of so many bands of guerrillas in the state gives color to the statement.

JULY 15, 1899.

ST. LOUIS.—The special committee of the city council appointed to investigate the necessity of taking measures to prevent the opening of the Chicago drainage canal, in connection with a similar committee of the house of delegates, made its report. In effect it is an instruction to the city counselor to proceed in whatever way he may deem expedient to prevent the sanitary district from opening its canal. It is claimed the emptying of undiluted sewage into the canal will pollute the waters of the Mississippi and the water supplies of cities along the river, including St. Louis.

CHICAGO.—The official report on the condition of the city's water supply follows: Lake View station, bad; Chicago avenue station, usable; 14th street station, usable; Hyde Park station, usable.

CHICAGO.—Martin B. Madden may be the next Republican national committeeman for Illinois. He protests he is out of politics, but his friends are putting him forward.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JULY 15, 1919.

WASHINGTON.—Prohibition forces took full control in the house today, refused to permit a vote on a straight-out motion to repeal the wartime act, and defeated overwhelmingly an amendment providing for the sale of 2¾ per cent beer. The real battle was over the amendment to define an intoxicant as a beverage containing more than 2¾ per cent alcohol, instead of more than one half of 1 per cent. Representative Dyer [Rep., Mo.], author of the amendment, declared it was what President Wilson had recommended, but it was defeated, 151 to 90.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich.—Henry Ford's ordeal on the witness stand in Judge Tucker's court began this morning, the opening of the tenth week of the Ford-TRIBUNE $1,000,000 libel suit. Under questioning by Attorney Elliott G. Stevenson, who conducted the examination for THE TRIBUNE, Mr. Ford declared that he considered militarism and preparedness the same thing and that on that rock he and THE TRIBUNE split. Part of the time was spent in reading editorials from THE TRIBUNE in which Mr. Ford was commended. They were written before the anarchist editorial complained of, and showed that up to the time of the preparedness campaign THE TRIBUNE had no quarrel with Mr. Ford.

PARIS.—Three million persons looked on today as 25,000 soldiers of the world war marched under the Arc de Triomphe and along the boulevards of Paris in the great allied victory parade. Gen. Pershing and a squadron of officers led the 1,500 American troops.

A WAY OUT.

Bridgman, Mich., July 11.—One of the most obvious as well as one of the most difficult problems faced by those opposed to prohibition concerns the substitute to be offered in place of the present experiment. Mere denunciation of present evils and exposés of graft, hypocrisy, and inefficiency in the so-called enforcement of the Volstead act do not suffice. Thousands of passive prohibition opponents might step into the open and actively support a change if they but knew of a satisfactory alternative to the present law. The saloon is universally condemned, but how can we have our drinks legally without it, or without embarking into the realm of government manufacture and distribution as tried in Canada? The following is suggested as a way out:

The nation would be divided into regions, corresponding perhaps to the federal reserve districts. In each region a semi-public corporation would be empowered to manufacture beverages and to sell them through a chain of supply stores. The management would be in private hands, except that the profits would be limited, say, to 6 per cent, as under the federal reserve act, the balance going to the government, which would have certain ultimate rights of control, audit and supervision. No consumption would be allowed upon the premises of the supply stores, but hotels and restaurants could be licensed to sell wines, beers and liqueurs with meals. By such a system the evils of complete government control would be obviated, yet private enterprise would be curbed and controlled in the public interest.

Each section of the country, again as in banking under the federal reserve system, would have a large degree of autonomy in regard to the kind and amount of liquor to be made. Certain sections might install the ration card system to regulate the amount of individual consumption as far as possible. Thus, the elasticity needed to meet the differing needs and desires of the various regions could be secured. To coordinate the whole system, and to determine policy if necessary, a national commission analogous to the federal reserve board could be set up in Washington. PAYSON S. WILD JR.

THE CITY'S TREES.

Chicago, July 11.—Something should be done at once to save the city's beautiful trees. Rolling hills and beautiful trees are two most important factors in civic beauty, and as Chicago does not have the former she should doubly guard the latter.

A beautiful linden in the little parkway between sidewalk and curb at the northeast corner of Ridge avenue and Magnolia has been under attack of caterpillars and within a few days this lovely shade tree with three trunks and a wealth of foliage has been reduced almost to a phantom. At the rate the leaves are being eaten clean to the stems, in another week it will be just trunk and branches.

These caterpillars have attacked this particular tree three years in succession, but this is the first time it has looked like the flames of a forest fire had touched it. Other trees near by are also becoming a prey. WILBUR P. ROBINSON.

THE ANTIQUATED JURY SYSTEM.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 9.—The result of the Livingston-Hardinge trial shows how antiquated the jury system is. FRANK V. JOHNSON JR.

MR. GAST'S ANTECEDENTS.

Chicago, July 10.—Both McCards and Fathead are grievously in error when they try, in their prejudiced and ignorant manner, to make out that Gast is Swedish and German; he is neither one nor the other, their notwithstanding contrariness to the contrary notwithstanding.

To save posterity from contentious brickbats and Brianborugian crocodile tears, be advised at once that Gast is Irish. That is, if he gets across.

It is the result of trying to pronounce Katoffel O'Schmuckvitz in the new statutory Erse language, which is read up and down and pronounced sideways.

Other great Erses were Nebuchadnezzar, Corinthians II, and Sitting Bull.

They also signed the Declaration of Independence and captured Aguinaldo.
H. A. D.

FAIR PLAY AT PARK GOLF COURSES.

Chicago, July 11.—The letter of July 4 under the heading "The Lincoln Park Golf Club" is interesting reading, but Mr., Mrs. or Miss "Golfer" should come over to the west side and try to play, for instance, at Columbus park, where members of the club, friends of the starters, etc., seem to have the preference. And the starters are bold about it. Five minutes near the starter's window and you will see plenty.

Some, at least, of the higher-ups know of this condition, but have made no effort to correct it, and here's another fine chance for our aggressive state's attorney to do some good work.
FAIR PLAY.

FLAPDOODLE.

Elkhorn, Wis., July 9.—Your Flapdoodle editorial is a classic, perspicuous and a knockout. If Mr. Shillinglaw, Illinois department commander American Legion, and others like him would legislate more for the rank and file of the world war veterans and leave the nonessentials like "Boulder Dam bill," "Muscle Shoals bill," "national origin bill," and "war party" bunk alone, we veterans would get a few essentials that would be worth while from a government that has always been generous to its volunteer and draft soldiers, who approached and handled right.
ARTHUR H. RACKETT.

FOR EX-SOLDIERS.

Chicago, July 9.—At a party tendered to me on the 10th anniversary of my return from France the question arose how the American government officials, or its citizens individually, could best assist the thousands of ex-service men who are now unemployed or otherwise in need. It occurred to the writer that it should be possible to work out some system whereby an ex-service man could discount the paid up insurance policy he is holding by making the purchaser sole beneficiary. At present all a man can get on his policy is a very small loan, which can be of no help to him.
GEORGE EDWARD TOWNE.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

Chicago, July 8.—Why a breach of promise suit, anyway? Are there not enough divorces without forcing people into unwilling marriages? Why should not a man be permitted to change his mind if he becomes disillusioned? It is disgusting that unscrupulous women are awarded sums of money to live in luxury by weak-minded men when day after day crimes perpetrated upon innocent and virtuous women remain unavenged. BRITTEN RENEWS FIGHT FOR SMALL BOATS HARBOR

U. S. Findings Fail to Dampen Efforts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—New efforts to obtain department approval of the proposal to close the two gaps in the government breakwater north of the Navy pier, in order to provide Chicago with a safe small boat harbor, will be undertaken immediately, Representative Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.] announced today.

Following a survey, Brig. Gen. Herbert Deakyne, acting chief of army engineers, disapproved the project on the ground that closing the gaps would not accomplish the purpose desired and was opposed by Health Commissioner Kegel of Chicago.

Wouldn't Keep Down Waves.

"The distances," declared Gen. Deakyne in his report to Mr. Britten, "from the government breakwater to shore average more than three thousand feet, sufficient distance for a wind to create quite formidable waves. These waves would interfere seriously with anchorage of small boats and seaplanes.

"The shore opening was provided to enable a circulation of water in the harbor at this locality. The commissioner of health of the city of Chicago objects to the closure of this opening on the ground the stagnation of water would be a menace to the health of persons employed on boats or about the pier.

Finds Britten Plan Harmful.

"The estimated cost of closing the outer breakwater as proposed by Mr. Britten is $231,000. Since the plan proposed would be more harmful than beneficial to the craft using that part of the harbor, and would create conditions adverse to the health of persons employed in the vicinity, favorable consideration is not advisable."

"Chicago can become the small boat pleasure center of America if proper advantage is taken of the lake front," said Mr. Britten. "The principal requirement for a yachting center is smooth water and plenty of it. Chicago does not have this. I am hopeful that a way may be found for providing an almost perfect small boat harbor on the north side, and I expect the government to do its share of the improvement."

DROWNS AS MOTORBOAT UPSETS.

Alexander, Minn., July 14.—(AP)—Edwin Thomas, 23, of Parkers Prairie, pilot of an outboard motorboat, drowned when his craft upset as he was making a turn on Lake Darry here today. Two passengers, Edwin Nelson and his brother Luverne, of near here, clung to the boat and were rescued.

MARRIAGES EXCEED DIVORCES IN NEVADA, 1928 REPORT SHOWS

Washington, D. C., July 14.—(AP)—The number of marriage vows taken in Nevada last year far exceded the matrimonial knots severed in divorce courts.

Even in Washoe county, in which Reno is located, marriages took the lead over divorces.

Reports to the department of commerce show that 4,168 marriages were performed in 1928, while 2,595 divorces were granted. This compares with 2,398 marriages in 1927 and 1,953 divorces.

In Washoe county there were 2,977 marriages last year and 2,103 divorces, compared with 1,538 marriages and 1,603 divorces in 1927. In addition 43 annulments were granted in 1928, as compared with 39 in 1927.

The increase of 73.8 per cent in marriages for the state over 1927 was attributed by the commerce department largely to the change in the marriage law of California requiring three days' notice before issuance of a license. To avoid the delay many Californians journeyed across the Nevada state line to take their vows.

Wife Slayer Kills Self in Jail Waiting Trial

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Snatching a jagged piece of glass from a refuse pail while on his way to breakfast in the prison ward of Kings county hospital, Brooklyn, Bernard McFadden, 48, who killed his wife, Nellie, last Tuesday night, in a jealous rage, committed suicide today.

FARM BOARD TO TAKE UP RELIEF PROBLEM TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—President Hoover's federal farm board will assemble tomorrow for the first time at the White House. Following a discussion of the agricultural problem by the President, the board will proceed to organize for the task before it.

Alexander Legge of Chicago, who sacrificed the $100,000 a year chairmanship of the International Harvester company to accept appointment on the board is to be elected chairman and James C. Stone will be named vice president.

Immediately after his appearance before the board, President Hoover will motor to Baltimore, Md., where he will review the annual parade of the Rainbow division whose convention has attracted thousands of veterans.

In an informal discussion of the board's plans Mr. Legge declared the first effort will be toward assisting in the orderly movement of this year's crops. It is expected, he said, that by the middle of August, the commodity council through which applications for the establishment of stabilization corporations are to be received, will have been named and in operation.

PROBE DEATH OF MAN CRUSHED BY CAR DURING FIGHT

An inquiry will be conducted today into the unusual circumstances surrounding the death of Daniel Rogers, 29 years old, 6202 South Marshfield avenue, who was crushed to death between an automobile and a tree yesterday morning. Rogers was belaboring a rival for a girl's affections when the accident occurred.

Charles Lieber, 36 years old, 6108 Rhodes avenue, owner of the Laboratory Materials company, a chemical supply business, had just driven in his automobile to the front of the home of Miss Anna Kircher, 25 years old, at 5642 South Paulina street, whom he was escorting home from a dance. Rogers jumped from behind a tree and on to the running board of his car and began to strike Lieber with his fists.

Lieber raised his hands from the steering wheel to protect himself and the automobile crashed over the curb and brushed against a tree, pinning Rogers between the tree and the car. Lieber was charged with manslaughter and released on $5,000 bond.

7 DROWN WHEN SWEPT IN RIVER BY CLOUDBURST

Excursion Boat Capsizes, Killing 4 Others.

Moselle, Mo., July 14.—(AP)—Seven persons, all members of a family, were drowned in Peno creek, west of St. Clair, late today when a five foot wall of water from a cloudburst swept down the creek bed and overturned their automobile. William F. Beckman, head of the family who had gone for assistance to get his car out, was the only member of the family left. The dead are his wife, three children, his mother-in-law, and brother-in-law.

Excursion Boat Overturns.

Pequea, Pa., July 14.—[U. P.]—A gay excursion on the Susquehanna river came to a grim end today when the old sidewheel houseboat Betty Lorraine capsized in midstream with 16 passengers aboard. Four were drowned, and but for the aid of several cottage dwellers on the shore many other lives might have been lost.

The Betty Lorraine, operating between Pequea, a summer cottage settlement, and Holtwood, five miles away, started back toward Pequea on its last trip about 3 a. m. As it approached its pier the engine suddenly went dead and the boat began drifting out towards the center of the stream.

Panic seized the excursionists and they ran frantically from side to side. The boat went over, throwing part of its occupants into the river, others clung to the overturned craft. Some were trapped in cabins. The screams of the passengers soon brought the rescuers to the scene, but not before four had drowned. They were: Benjamin Streaker, 43, and Mrs. Irene Voight, 25, both of Lancaster, Pa., and Dwight Clark, 50, and Edward Sellers, 28, both of Pequea.

MAIL LANDED BY AIR ON LINER RIFLED; NEW MYSTERY FOR BRITISH

LONDON, July 14.—(AP)—Many registered packages of considerable value were missing when Canadian mails arrived here today. A portion of the Montreal air mail was found to have been rifled. Although the air mail bag seemed to be intact when the steamer Laurentic docked at Liverpool, about 80 registered packets could not be accounted for.

When the Laurentic reached Liverpool yesterday postal officials there found a mysterious discrepancy between the contents of one bag of registered mail and the number of packages listed on the official record which accompanies each bag.

The mystery was all the more baffling because the official seals were unbroken and the bag itself was not damaged. The mail was taken from Montreal by airplane and transferred to the liner at sea.

NEBRASKA TOWN IS QUIET AFTER NEGROES' EXODUS

North Platte, Neb., July 14.—(AP)—With North Platte's Negro population of 200 exiled in fear of mob lynching, city and county officials today offered protection to any Negroes who might return, "if they ever do."

This offer came when not a Negro was left in the city after mobs brandishing ropes had swooped down on the Negro section last night threatening death to the entire population because a Negro had killed a policeman and later killed himself.

The Negroes had been ordered earlier in the day to "pack up or abandon their belongings" by a mob of several hundred persons after Ed Green, a policeman, had been shot and killed by Louis Seelman, Negro, who was resisting arrest after refusing to leave town for mistreating his wife.

Later in the day, as other mobs formed, the Negroes started fleeing the city. They fled by auto, train, bus, horse and wagon and afoot.

Drive Out Negroes After Fight.

Princess Anne, Md., July 14.—(AP)—Negroes were a minus quantity here today following a clash with whites last night during which the former were driven from the town with clubs, guns, and other weapons following a fight between a Negro and a white man.

After the fight an ultimatum was delivered to Negroes that they keep to one side of the main street. During sporadic outbursts a white girl was struck by a bottle said to have been thrown by a Negro. It was then that the Negroes were driven from the streets.

FIRE DAMAGES LOOP CAFE.

FRENCH GENERAL PAYS TRIBUTE TO RAINBOW HEROES

Gouraud Says Never Will France Forget Them.

Baltimore, Md., July 14.—[Special.]—"The nation that is prepared to fight never will be attacked," declared Gen. Henri Etienne Joseph Gouraud, quoting, as he said, a statement by former President Coolidge which he had read in Paris. "France will ever honor, never forget you boys of the Rainbow division and she will ever honor and fondly remember you American mothers who gave your boys for the supreme sacrifice."

It was on the anniversary of the actual beginning of the Champagne attack that he paid tribute to the boys of the Forty-second division who died "over there."

Father Duffy Conducts Service.

The general and his aids, accompanied by Mayor Broening and officers of the division, had come to the War Memorial hall for the memorial service from Fayette Street Methodist Episcopal church, where the French commander placed a wreath "in the name of France" on a memorial tablet to Edgar Potts, the first Marylander to fall in action, who was a member of the Rainbow division.

Father Francis Duffy, "Fighting Chaplain" of the "Fighting Irish" from New York, conducted the memorial services. He said: "Our boys who sacrificed their lives for country and world peace will live eternal as heroes. In honoring their memory we celebrate the record of their courage and heroism."

The Rev. A. A. McCallum, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, Washington, another chaplain, also spoke. He sharply scored those persons, whom he called agitators, who sought to discourage by holding up to scorn and ridicule the young men who chose to spend their vacations training in the nation's summer camps to be American soldiers and to be prepared to respond to their country's call if needed.

Insidious propaganda, he declared, was creeping even into our high schools against the church and religion. He likened some of the present agitators to those "conscientious objectors" of wartime, and he urged the boys of the Rainbow division to live up to those noble ideals and high purposes for which their comrades died.

1,000 Veterans at Banquet.

At the banquet tonight, attended by 1,000 veterans, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and other officials and regular army officers in honor of Gen. Gouraud, his Rainbow boys again cheered him and once more he smilingly told them of his and his country's appreciation of their help in winning victory.

Gov. Ritchie brought cheers from the veterans when he declared:

"While you boys of the Rainbow division were fighting for world democracy in France your personal life and liberty were being curtailed at home. I hope you will continue to battle for your personal liberty."

Among those who are attending the reunion of the division is Mrs. James W. Frew of Milwaukee, fondly called by the boys, "the war mother of the Rainbow division."

TRIBUNE'S CAMP FOR SERVICE MEN WINS U. S. PRAISE

Veterans' Bureau Hails It as Success.

Officials of the United States veterans' bureau, following a recent inspection, yesterday pronounced THE TRIBUNE and 40 and 8 convalescent camp for war veterans an unqualified success. They added that it was ideally located on a forest preserve farm in Orland park at 143rd street, and that the government is ready to send a steady stream of convalescing ex-service men there for the final touches of their physical rehabilitation.

The camp is just thirteen months old. It was established in June, 1928, through Capt. James C. Russell, then chef de gare of Voiture 220 of the 40 and 8; THE TRIBUNE, Col. A. A. Sprague, and Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board.

Golden Glove Bouts Help.

Col. Sprague is treasurer of the fund which supports the camp. THE TRIBUNE first gave it $9,000 raised by its 1928 golden gloves contest. This newspaper next gave the project the $25,000 raised by its similar boxing contest for 1929. It is agreed among those who fostered the camp that an increasing number of men will be enabled to regain their health at the camp by future golden gloves contests.

The camp's main building is a cosy, homelike farmhouse atop a high hill, one of the highest in Cook county. In the old homestead, rehabilitated for its present purposes, are a big kitchen, a roomy dining room, in which twenty men may sit around a long dinner table; a "sitting room," to remind one of home, with a radio in the corner and bookcases filled with several hundred volumes along the wall. On the second floor are sleeping quarters for eight men.

There are seventeen veterans in the camp at present, convalescing from various illnesses resulting from their war services.

A Large Animal Population.

There is "Goldie," the Belgian shepherd dog, and her two black pups, and there is "Dolly," half bull and half fox terrier, and her white pup; there are three fat hogs, and there are 144 Pekin ducks, now seven weeks old; 1,700 white leghorn chicks, also seven weeks old, and there are 90 white Wyandotte yearling pullets, which produce from 50 to 60 fresh eggs daily.

It is a place to win back a man's health if ever there was one, says Sydney F. Love, the quiet caretaker, and the martinet of the place.

Among the seventeen veterans at the camp are men who won all sorts of distinction for bravery.

Build New Cottage.

While the veterans' bureau officials have been inspecting the camp members of Slifer post of the American Legion, under the direction of Edwin J. Krueger and Harry "Doc" Reed, have been building an additional cottage, just east of the old homestead, which is to house nine additional men.

Several hundred employés of THE TRIBUNE, ex-service men, and members of Medill-Tribune post of the Legion, their families and their friends yesterday attended the first annual post picnic in the forest preserve at 95th street and Archer avenue, in and around the chalet of the 40 and 8. Members of Forges and Yarmo-Devere posts also held picnics nearby.

70% OF DIGGING DONE FOR NEW RIVER CHANNEL

Seventy per cent of the excavation work in the making of the new river channel between Polk and 18th streets has been completed, according to City Engineer L. D. Gayton. The work is being hampered by high water, according to the engineer. The river straightening involves the shifting of a half mile of the stream's channel a distance of 300 yards between Polk and 18th streets. Relocation of the maze of railroad tracks of the Baltimore and Ohio, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Pennsylvania, and the Chicago and Northwestern roads, necessitated by the excavation of the new channel, is almost completed.

AMERICAN BUSINESS SWINGS INTO THE NEW TEMPO

SPEED has become an everyday necessity. Airplanes, limited trains, high-geared automobiles are no longer novelties. They are in common use.

So also with the telegraph. Every day American business is using the enlarged Postal Telegraph to an increasing degree—speeding up transactions and quickening the turnover of capital.

National distributors instruct salesmen to wire in the day's orders, thus keeping inventories reduced. Merchants stock by telegraph closer to the day's style demands. Manufacturers time incoming raw materials by ordering through telegrams.

Over 90% of Postal telegrams relate to business.

Here are a few of the important advantages offered by Postal Telegraph: The certainty of speed, accuracy, privacy only the telegraph can give. Economy. Instant attention of recipient. A written record of the delivered message to prevent disputes.

And to these is added world-wide service. For, through Commercial Cables and All America Cables—parts of the International System—your Postal telegram can be extended to Europe, Asia, the Orient or the countries of Central and South America. Through Mackay Radio your messages are flashed to ships on the Atlantic and Pacific.

ASSAIL GRANTING OF PASSPORT TO NOTED PACIFIST

Patriotic Bodies Protest to Stimson.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 14.—[Special.]—Vigorous protest against the issuance of a passport to Miss Dorothy Detzer, noted pacifist and executive secretary of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, who was permitted to "affirm" to "support" the constitution instead of being required to swear to defend it, has been lodged with the state department by H. Ralph Burton, counsel for a number of national patriotic organizations.

Variation of Oath.

In his demand for immediate revocation of the passport, Mr. Burton, who is attorney for the American Vigilant Intelligence Federation of Chicago, as well as general counsel for the Daughters of the American Revolution and National Patriotic league, assailed the variation of the ordinary oath to conform with Miss Detzer's pacifistic theories as an open defiance of the United States Supreme court's recent ruling in the Schwimmer case that it is the "fundamental duty of every citizen to defend the constitution."

Mr. Burton cited the last annual report of the International league, which boasted of the propaganda campaign carried on principally under Miss Detzer's direction against the national defense act, military training in schools and colleges and against adequate appropriations for the army and the navy.

Challenges His Right.

"You," declared Mr. Burton in the protest which he addressed to Secretary of State Stimson, "as secretary of state, have not the moral right, even though you may have the legal right to give a passport to one who refuses to bear arms in defense of this country when that passport impliedly gives to such person protection of the United States, backed by its army and navy, manned by men and supported by women who do give an unqualified oath of allegiance to their country. . . .

"By granting to this woman a passport of the United States you give her the protection of the army and navy which she is openly attempting to destroy, but the protection of which she is impliedly given in spite of the fact that she tells you openly and positively that she will not 'bare arms in defense of the United States.'"

CARRIES WAR ON SLOT MACHINES INTO MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., July 14.—[Special.]—District Attorney Earl F. Buelow of Racine county tomorrow will carry his war against slot machines into Milwaukee, with a request that warrants be issued for the arrest of two men, alleged to be "higher ups" in the gambling device racket.

Fight for control of the slot machine concessions in Racine county has created a situation comparable to the allotment of territory to beer runners in Chicago, with the result that the district has been flooded with the machines, the district attorney declared.

Information upon which to prosecute the actual owners of the machines is being wormed from saloonkeepers and roadhouse proprietors by withholding service of warrants issued for their arrest.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Right Is Right

Havrillo Concert Will Cause Talk, Elmer Believes

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

The recital by Alois Havrilla, baritone—also a well-known announcer—on the New York concert through W-G-N, 8:15 to 8:45 last evening, will cause discussion among the listeners today. The comment upon his vocal performance, I believe, will be generally favorable, but I also think public opinion will give him a higher rating as an announcer than as a singer.

His concert program was a varied one, and mostly of the dashing type of songs that best becomes a robust and rather deep toned baritone, and all were sung with enthusiasm and skill. However, the lack of firmness in attacks and a tendency to waver the tone on sustained notes somewhat marred what would otherwise have been a highly creditable and enjoyable performance. The symphony orchestra's selections were very attractive.

Another highlight was the recital by Dorsey Whittington, pianist, from New York, through KYW, 8:45 to 9:15. Mr. Whittington is spoken of as "a poet of the piano." He is all of that. Chopin's "Fantasy Impromptu" was given a charming reading. "Liszt's "The Dance of the Gnomes" was likewise a pleasing study in staccato. "Valse Viennoise," his own composition, was a lively piece.

Frank Roberts, tenor, and the W-G-N symphony orchestra gave a pleasing group of selections, 10:15 to 10:45.

WENR's orchestral and vocal program, 9 to 10:30, had many more choice musical moments.

The Chicago gospel tabernacle, WJBT, 9:30 to 10, presented a concert by band, chorus, and pipe organ that was different and very good.

The theater orchestra, New York, through KYW, 1 to 2 p. m., played Beethoven's seventh Symphony complete.

Seize "Safety Cartridges"; Find Bombs and Bullets

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTA FE, Argentina, July 14.—The legend "Safety Cartridges—Not Dangerous," borne by 500 large cases consigned to the Bolivian government aroused the suspicion of port authorities, who opened the cases, finding incendiary bombs and a half million rounds of ammunition. The cases were placed in a lighter amidstream, awaiting government action in the matter.

VIGOROUS PAPAL REPLY TO DUCE EXPECTED TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, July 14.—The allocution which Pope Pius will make before tomorrow's secret consistory of the College of Cardinals, the first held since the conciliation between the Catholic church and the Italian state, was awaited with much interest in Vatican circles today.

The pontiff's declaration, it is now known, will deal with the delicate subjects which have caused so much altercation since the signing of the Lateran pact. The pope is expected to reply vigorously and fully to Premier Mussolini's speeches on the interpretation of history and review of the origins of Christianity. The pontiff's pronouncement will be of great importance in view of the struggle still going on over certain differences between the Italian government and the church.

The elevation of Msgr. Schuster, Benedictine abbot, to a cardinalcy will be effected tomorrow. Cardinal Bommiati, former papal nuncio to Mexico, will also be elevated from the order of cardinal priests to the order of cardinal bishops.

2 BOATS UPSET ON LAKE; LIFE GUARDS SAVE 6

Six persons, one of them a woman, were rescued from the lake a mile from shore by Clarendon beach life guards last night after four of them had been thrown into the water by the wrecking of their launch at the Montrose avenue breakwater and the other two had encountered difficulties in going to their rescue.

Miss Marie Miller, 1046 Lake Shore drive; U. H. Densmore, and Charles W. Schaub of 221 East Ontario street, and Allen Olson, a mechanic, were on Densmore's boat when it was dashed against the breakwater by the choppy waves. James Crow, 3909 North Oakley avenue, and Otto Kline, Broadway and Cornelia avenue, hastened in a canoe to help Miss Miller, who was clinging to the launch.

Crow dived into the water, upsetting the canoe, and was forced to support both Miss Miller and Kline, who could not swim, until Capt. Bruno Le Febre of the Clarendon guards sent a rowboat to their aid.

GANG ROBS COUPLE IN AUTO.

Edward Ziff, 5631 Dorchester avenue, was robbed of $10, and his companion, Miss Sylvia Phillipson, 606 Sheridan road, of $3 and a diamond ring, by four men yesterday morning as they were sitting in a parked automobile at Bittersweet place and the lake.

TO SELL RELICS OF LOST "HEIR TO FRENCH THRONE"

Granddaughter Offers Cabin and Land.

Green Bay, Wis., July 14. — [Special.]—The remaining relics of Eleazar Williams, the "Lost Dauphin of France," have been offered for sale by his granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Schultz, who wishes to dispose of the homestead and all contents before moving to the west in the fall.

Eleazar Williams, a backwoods missionary, firmly believed that he was the lost Louis XVII. of France, but never made any pretensions to the throne. Historic evidence was not lacking to indicate foundation for his belief.

Secret Offer Made.

The preacher, who always was known as a most truthful man, told of a secret offer by De Joinville, son of King Louis Philippe of France, of a large amount of money if he would renounce all claim to the crown.

Although revolutionary leaders announced the dauphin, whose father and mother died on the guillotine, had become insane and later had died of mistreatment in prison, many high personages believed this to be false.

The boy, 10, disappeared. A boy of the same age was brought to the Lake George region of New York in 1795 by two French noblemen and left with a farmer who had an Indian wife.

Money for Boy's Education.

The boy was proved by physicians to have had no Indian blood. Sums of money were sent regularly from some unknown source for his education. The boy was Eleazar Williams.

The Rev. Mr. Williams lived at Green Bay as a missionary for years. The cabin he occupied and 32 acres of wooded land are for sale.

The cabin contains an old telescope which he used to identify approaching persons, some of his books and tools, the rocking chair which was his favorite, and a washstand he used for years.

INVESTIGATE WOMAN'S DEATH.

At the request of Dr. L. A. Vertuna, an Oak Park physician, the coroner's office began an investigation of the death of Mrs. Theresa Fotarelli, 24 years old, an expectant mother, who was found dead in bed yesterday in her home, 149 North 22d avenue.

KENTUCKY HOME MUST BE QUIET WHEN PA INSISTS

Somerset, Ky., July 14.—(AP)—Two men are dead as the result of a shooting affray last night at the home of Hiram Sexton, 65, which started when Sexton admonished several young people for making so much noise.

Sexton's warning resulted in a quarrel and soon guns were blazing. Sexton was killed.

Witnesses said Sexton was shot by Raymond Huff, 21, one of the visitors. Huff, who was struck twice in the exchange of shots, fled on horseback, followed by Claude Sexton, 21, son of the dead man.

The chase continued almost to Huff's home when young Sexton fired, killing Huff's horse. Huff ran into a corn field and hid and Sexton, thinking Huff had gone to his home, rode up to the door and demanded that he come out.

The call was answered by Cecil Merkel, 21, who was calling on his sweetheart, a sister of Huff. As Merkle appeared in the door with a flashlight, his sweetheart by his side, Sexton fired, killing him.

Patrick Durkin, Brother of Jimmy, Is Taken by Death

Patrick Durkin, brother of the late Jimmy Durkin, THE TRIBUNE'S "world's greatest copyboy," died yesterday at the Mercy hospital. He was 45 years old. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Delia Durkin, 2852 Archer avenue, and a son, James, 9 years old. Funeral services will be held on Wednesday morning from the residence to St. Bridget's church, 29th street and Archer avenue. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre cemetery. Jimmy Durkin died on Dec. 30 at the age of 49.

J. T. Dempsey Is Chosen 38th Ward Committeeman

John T. Dempsey, an assistant state's attorney for the last five years, was unanimously chosen Republican ward committeeman of the 38th ward, according to an announcement yesterday. He succeeds the late Thomas H. Byrne, superintendent of streets, who had been committeeman for many years. Dempsey lives at 2532 Richmond street. He is a graduate of Notre Dame university and Northwestern university law school.

FORMER JUSTICE ISAAC N. MILLS DIES IN NEW YORK

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Former State Supreme Court Justice Isaac N. Mills died early today at his home on North Columbia avenue, Mount Vernon. Justice Mills, who was in his 78th year, had been in failing health since he underwent an operation for the removal of a bladder obstruction last December.

Justice Mills spent 27 years on the bench, 12 as Westchester county judge and 15 as a member of the Supreme court, Ninth district. He retired on reaching the constitutional age limit at the end of 1921.

The first suit to test the sanity of Harry K. Thaw was tried before him; as counsel for Walter S. Ward, he won the latter's acquittal of killing Clarence Peters; he prosecuted the unsuccessful suit of Leonard Kip Rhinelander for annulment of his marriage, and he represented James A. Stillman throughout the protracted divorce action of the banker against his wife.

This Special Drinking Milk costs only 3 cents more a quart

Mothers using cow's milk for supplementary feeding of infants, find "Selected" exceptionally valuable. Its butterfat content is very close to that of mother's milk. Also it keeps sweet longer — a very desirable quality at this season of the year.

Milk drinkers of all ages find enjoyment in drinking "Selected" Milk —and the reason is in three words: "Sweet Natural Taste." The reason for the "Sweet Natural Taste" is expressed in two words: "Extraordinary care."

"Selected" Milk is produced exclusively on 105 picked dairy farms near Lake Geneva, Wis. Fine, well fed cows. Modern barns. Proper cooling equipment.

It is safeguarded from farm to your home, in every possible way. Bottled in a special plant. Kept cool every minute during delivery. Delivered in bottles with an extra hood cap in addition to the regular cap.

The greater enjoyment your family would find in drinking "Selected," and the good health that milk drinking would bring them, makes the added cost of three cents a quart seem small indeed.

Make a comparison of this special drinking milk and observe how keenly your family enjoys it. It can be arranged very easily — by phoning or writing us, or speaking to the Borden's Milkman serving your neighborhood.

MEXICAN CHURCH LIBERTY LEAGUE LAYS DOWN ARMS

Demands Referendum in Place of Warfare.

MEXICO CITY, July 14. —(AP)—The National League for Defense of Religious Liberty, which was long alleged to have supported the so-called Cristero rebellion, today in a manifesto to the nation admitted it had supported the movement and declared the time had come to lay down arms and adopt other means of restoring the rights of the church.

Instead of continued warfare it called for a national referendum to determine the will of the people in regard to laws governing religious activities in Mexico. José Tello, secretary of the league, who signed the manifesto, declared that this is in line with the statement of President Portes Gil on June 21 when he said that every inhabitant has the right of petition.

League Respects "Armistice."

The manifesto said that the league resorted to armed force because all other means of defending church rights had been exhausted. It added that neither the Mexican episcopate nor the Vatican had anything to do with the armed movement but the league would respect the decision of the Vatican and abide by the agreement made between church and state.

This agreement, however, was said to be an "armistice" to give opportunity for negotiations toward final settlement of the differences. Referring to the three years of Cristero warfare, the manifesto said:

"The experience has been a very painful one, but it has demonstrated that when impious hands touch the sacred rights of the Catholic church storms are loosed and cataclysms result. The docile and pacific Mexican woman has changed from a dove to an eagle, from a sheep to a lioness, to defend the rights of her faith."

Revolution Aided Church Rebels.

The so called Cristero rebellion has been carried on intermittently by guerrilla bands chiefly in the central states of Mexico for three years. The government has termed these rebels "bandits" and "fanatics" at various times.

During the revolt that broke out in the north early this year the Cristero rebels were enabled to consolidate their positions because of the general withdrawal of federal forces. With the northern revolt crushed, the government launched a general offensive to clean up the Cristeros which was well under way when formal peace was made between church and state.

Boy's Pal Killed by Truck; Later He Is Found Dead

La Porte City, Ia., July 14.—[Special.]—After grieving four days over the death of a chum, Melvin Dooley, 15, of La Porte City, was found dead Saturday near here. A few days ago, Dominick Nickolino, 14, of Des Moines, was crushed by a truck. Dooley could hardly continue his work. Both were water boys for a paving company. Dooley failed to return home Friday night. Saturday a farmer found him stretched out on the ground near a well. A physician said he died of a heart attack caused from drinking too much cold water on a hot day. His friends believe it may have been a broken heart.

$1,000,000 DAMAGE CAUSED BY FLOODS IN HUTCHINSON, KAS.

Hutchinson, Kans., July 14.—(AP)—Estimating loss from flood waters of Cow creek at $1,000,000, citizens of Hutchinson today began a cleanup that was hampered by the slow recession of waters from streets of both business and residential areas.

Finding an outlet in the southeast part of town into the big Arkansas river, waters in the business and residential districts had receded from six inches to a foot since last night.

All rumors of drownings had been disproved today, although W. V. McConnell, a merchant, who for a time was reported lost, had a narrow escape when he fell into a manhole while wading waist deep in the business district.

Many business houses have been bailed clear of water. In the residential district many foundations had crumbled and the sewage condition was becoming a problem. Residents were urged by city health officials to boil water to guard against typhoid infection.

The Hutchinson News, its basement flooded, issued handbill editions on job presses yesterday and tomorrow will use the presses of the Wichita Beacon for its editions.

SEEK TO BETTER CONDITIONS IN TEXTILE MILLS

Committee of 1,000 Is Organized.

Rye, N. Y., July 14.—(AP)—Formation of a national committee of 1,000 members to seek better conditions for southern textile workers was decided upon today at a conference arranged by the United Textile Workers of America.

Mrs. Daniel O'Day, associate chairman of the state Democratic committee, accepted the chairmanship of a body which will organize the committee for American traditions in textiles. Mrs. O'Day, at whose home the conference was held, explained that the committee will aid the efforts of the American Federation of Labor to organize the workers in southern textile mills.

Mrs. Rose Schneiderman, president of the Women's Trade Union league, and Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President at the last election, sponsored formation of the committee of 1,000.

Thomas M. McMahon, president of the United Textile Workers of America, and Edward McGrady, special legislative representative of the American Federation of Labor, described their experiences in being ordered out of southern mill towns by local business men during the recent labor troubles.

Mrs. O'Day announced that invitations to join the committee for American traditions in textiles will be sent to prominent persons in the near future.

4 Canadians Killed as Auto Is Struck by Electric Train

COOKSVILLE, Ont., July 14.—Four people, a father, his two sons, and a boy neighbor, were instantly killed here this afternoon when their automobile, in which they were returning from a fishing trip, was struck by a Toronto-Guelph Canadian National electric train a mile out of town. The dead are; Marcell F. Cox, 45; Jack and Kenneth Cox, aged 20 and 15, respectively, and Jack Rigg, 15.

TRAMS MAY RUN IN NEW ORLEANS BY TOMORROW

City Passes 13th Day Without Service.

New Orleans, La., July 14.—(AP)—New Orleans today passed its thirteenth day without street cars. The Public Service, Inc., tonight had made no announcement as to when it expected to attempt to resume service again, protected by federal injunction against striking carmen.

While no announcement was coming from the company, there were indications that service might be attempted Tuesday morning.

Subcommittees of the citizens' committee continued their conferences with utilities company directors and carmen's union heads. Government conciliators also continued their efforts to bring a satisfactory solution of the trouble.

United States Marshal Victor Loisel, making a survey of the situation, said conditions were quiet. He is expected to complete his survey by tomorrow and to receive reports from the Public Service on the progress of repairs on the street railway trackage, damaged by strikers and sympathizers ten days ago.

Deputy marshals maintained a guard around the car barns but no signs of serious disorder were shown.

Septime Threard, 26, a drug store clerk, was arrested for abusive language to the marshals.

199 Killed and 50 Hurt in Landslides on Black Sea

PARIS, July 14.—(AP)—A Havas Agency dispatch from Angora, Turkey, tonight said that it was estimated that 199 persons had been killed and 50 injured in Black sea landslides.

HELD LEGALLY DEAD; RETURNS AFTER 35 YEARS

Tipton, Ia., July 14.—[Special.]—John Markle "is not dead and never has been" according to a petition filed in district court here. Declared legally dead following an absence of thirty-five years, Markle has returned to claim a share of the estate of his father, Mathias Markle, who died leaving to his heirs a valuable Iowa farm.

The younger Markle 35 years ago deserted his wife and daughter. His wife got a divorce. Time passed on and no word was heard from him. When his father died a vain search was made, after which Markle was declared dead. The executor of the estate awarded to Markle's daughter, Mrs. Violet Brennaman, his share of the property. Markle appeared just in time to stop distribution of the proceeds of the legacy and he has been declared legally alive again.

SOX LOSE SERIES OPENER TO WASHINGTON, 7-1

Gledhill and Vines Beat New Yorkers.

The Simpson cup, awarded for the intersectional team tennis championship, will reflect the California sunshine this winter. For yesterday California defeated the Eastern association team 3 to 0 in the finals played on the turf courts of the Town and Tennis club.

Two 18 year old youngsters showed an enthusiastic gallery that they can play a hard hitting, accurate volleying game, and do it on grass as well as clay or asphalt, their normal paying surfaces.

Keith Gledhill scored the greatest victory of his career when he bested Julius Seligson, pudgy New York star, and ninth ranking player in the country, in five sets. Gledhill was outchased in the first two and lost, 6-1, 6-2. But he came back in the third set and showed brilliant tennis to win, 6-3.

Takes Final Sets.

Seligson is one of the steadiest and most accurate shooters in the game, and in a back court duel is almost invincible. A forehand drive that invariably drops within a few inches of the base line, and a heavily undercut, twisting, back hand make him a master in the back court. Gledhill tried to stay back and match stroke for stroke with the New Yorker but could not win, so in the third set he changed his tactics and stormed the net as every possible opportunity to angle off crisp volleys for placements. Gledhill won the final two sets 6-6, 6-4.

Strangely enough Ellsworth Vines, the other coast representative, dropped the first two sets of his match with Eugene McCauliff, former Fordham university ace, but came back to win three straight sets and the match. The scores were 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-4.

The doubles engagement was pretty much of a formality as the California team had already cinched the trophy, but they went on and swept the series with a 6-4, 6-3 victory. Their zipping services, crashing overheads, and smartly angled volleys kept the gallery on edge throughout the match that was limited to two out of three sets because of the approaching darkness.

Western Meet Starts Today.

This afternoon Skokie Country club will be host to the western championships that will continue throughout the week. Eighty-eight men and 60 women from all parts of the nation are entered. The tournament is unusual in that any one of ten or 12 players has a splendid chance to win, with no one of the seeded stars having much of an edge on the rest of the select men.

Emmet Pare, national clay court champion, is seeded number one in the draw. Gledhill, Kirk Reid of Cleveland, George Jennings, Louis Thalheimer, former Texas star; Vines, Le Roy Weir, McCauliff, Hugh McArthur, another Californian; George O'Connell, and Frank Donovan of Detroit are the others seeded.

The women's singles will start tomorrow with the doubles beginning Wednesday.

LONGWOOD BOWL TENNIS TOURNEY TO START TODAY

Brookline, Mass., July 14.—(AP)—The 27th annual Longwood bowl tennis singles tournament, opening here tomorrow, has attracted a field of 64 entries, including three members of the United States first ten. Fritz Mercur of Bethlehem, Pa., has been top seeded, and John H. Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal., who yesterday won the Rhode Island singles title for the third consecutive year, has been named second.

The others in the seeded list are J. Gilbert Hall and Gregory Mangin, both of Montclair, N. J., who were ranked third and fourth; Frank X. Shields, New York; H. H. Hyde, Hartford, Conn.; Sadakazu Onda, Japan, and E. Mauran Beals Jr., Boston.

Allison, Van Ryn Defeat Spaniards in Three Matches

BARCELONA, Spain, July 14.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, barnstorming American tennis stars, continued their triumphs at the expense of Spanish players today. Van Ryn defeated Durall, 6-2, 6-0, while Allison conquered Morales, 6-3, 6-3. Then the Americans paired in the doubles to defeat Maier and Sapirsa, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. The Americans won three matches against Spanish opponents yesterday.

WEST DEFEATS EAST FOR TENNIS TITLE

How an Ornery Horse Is Doing the Lord's Work

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 14.—Your correspondent has been touted off a race horse of considerable prominence which has been running erratically this summer on the ground that whenever the owner of the horse wagers a large sum of money on the same an unseen hand gives the horse a pull that almost yanks its head back into the jockey's lap.

It is alleged that the horseman who owns the steed has been guilty of welshing on the Lord, and while it is considered very bad form and dangerous to one's health to welsh on a fellow man, it is much more serious to default a sporting obligation to the Lord.

The gentleman who told me about this affair is Phocion Howard, editor of a New York racing paper which is a sort of wekely banner on Broadway. Mr. Howard's principal occupation is getting around, which is the way he got in the way of the information about the horseman's holding out on the Lord. In the course of his getting around he has allowed himself a lot of territory and once he found himself in Mexia, Tex., poking a hole in the ground in the hope that if he poked far enough he would discover oil. He did not poke far enough.

Mr. Howard's Verdict.

"This horse," Mr. Howard stated, "will put you on the rock pile sure if you wager on him to any extent because he is a poison horse. He will win a few stakes and then he will go out as the favorite, carrying all the money in town, and run in one place all afternoon. He has been doing that right along, and he will continue to do so until his owner hasn't got a quarter in the world.

"The reason why I know this horse is poison is because I know his owner has been holding out on the Lord and the reason why I know that is because he had the room next to mine in Mexia when we were both poking holes in the ground.

"This old man had good luck. He just poked about as far down as you could reach with your arm and the oil squirted up in his face. He was pleased and he sold right out to one of the big oil companies for a million dollars.

"But that night he got very sick and, having all that money, he sent for all the doctors in the place and even sent to Dallas and Fort Worth for special doctors, but the more doctors he hired the sicker he got until it was an 8 to 5 shot that if he brought in as much as one chiropodist more he would die.

"As my room was right next to his and the partitions were only made of wall paper, I could not help knowing how sick he was, and I used to think how strange it was that one man will poke a hole down to China and go broke in the best of health, like myself, whereas another man will make a million dollars and get terribly sick before he can buy a cigar.

"I cannot begin to tell you how sick he was, but it seemed to me that he had a special kind of sickness for every dollar he had made. He had hardening of the arteries and pains in his joints and diabetes and, generally speaking, he did not feel at all well in any part of him. Every doctor that came in would take a look at some special department, like his ears or his teeth, and discover something else wrong.

"Finally the doctors got together

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Our White Sox and the almost equally unhappy Washington Senators yesterday launched their important series to determine nothing whatsoever. The Sox demonstrated their snappy form against the Athletics and the Yankees was just a cruel hoax and succumbed ingloriously by a score of 7 to 1.

At that the game didn't really become wretched until the eighth inning, when Tommy Thomas became so tired of it all and turned on the gas. He and the rest of the Comiskeys then were asphyxiated in a lethal rush that consisted of six hits good for five runs.

Of course this asphyxiation talk is just a figure of speech, set down in the most whimsical mood, and in no way is seriously suggested as a wicked technique for Mr. Comiskey to employ in the event he some day or some year gets around to the business of restoring the glory that once was his. Disposing of ball players by lethal gas would be ghastly.

Sox Score First.

More than 12,000 loyal Sox fans who turned out were under the impression their hopes of renaissance were being realized during the early stages of the game. In the first two innings the Senators were unable to get the ball out of the infield, except for Bluege's harmless double with two out in the second.

Cissell doubled in the first inning but was thrown out at third when he was slow in leaving second after Shires' clean single to left. Bill properly hesitated long enough to see whether Cronin could make a leaping catch of the drive, but there were some who questioned his try for third after the ball was in Goslin's hands. Shires took second on the maneuvering but died when Reynolds flied to West.

In the second inning the Sox scored the first run of the game. Kamm walked and scored on the first of Hoffman's two doubles, Kerr grounded to Cronin, who threw out Hoffman at third, and Berg hit into a double play.

That Terrible Eighth.

The Senators tied the score in the third on Cronin's single, Braxton's sacrifice and Judge's single. The 1 to 1 status then prevailed, with neither side offering any threats, until the seventh when Ossie Bluege led off the inning with a homer into the left field stand.

Hoffman started the Sox' seventh with his second double. Then Kerr bunted a popup to Judge. Next Berg grounded to Braxton and Hoffman again was thrown out at third. That event seemed to wilt the Sox and the rest of the game became a sad matter upon which to reflect.

In the eighth two doubles, four singles, two errors and two wild pitches made a joke of everything.

BRUINS ENGAGE PHILLIES TODAY IN DOUBLEHEADER

Start Week Three Games Behind Pirates.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, Pa., July 14.—Having disposed of the ambitious Giants in three of five games, the Cubs now will resume work against the less formidable teams in the Heydler organization. This, however, means hard work and possibly disastrous results, as the Chicagoans have the unhappy habit of letting those of lowly estate boot them about the lot.

The trouble starts tomorrow in the shape of a double header with the Phils, who have been having a gay time of late knocking baseballs over the nearby walls. Following the double header there will be two single games in as many days, and then the Cubs will leave for four days in Brooklyn, where the going also has been tough for teams from the central states. With these games out of the way, McCarthy will lead his boys back to Chicago, where they land next Monday afternoon.

Pirate Lead Widens.

Since the Bruins went away from their own lot July 4 they have not made the kind of progress that makes for championships. They lost first place by half a game the morning of July 4 and remained in the same fix even though winning the afternoon affair. Since then they have slipped gradually. Or it might be better to state that the leading Pirates haven't slipped. This has caused the Cubs to fall back to a point three games behind the leaders, and there is a well grounded fear this disadvantage will widen instead of becoming narrower.

The return of Hal Carlson to form is one of the things that may help to overcome one of the glaring weaknesses of the outfit. A team, no matter how well it hits, must have pitching to succeed.

Pitching Staff Weak.

McCarthy has had it only in limited quantity. He has been skidding along all season on three steady hurlers, part of the time on two, and this is not enough. The fourth man is needed for the tight, low score game in which the best of hitting teams become involved every few days.

McCarthy is a bit doubtful about his pitching choices for tomorrow, but probably will wind up by using at least one of the second string performers and trust to luck his hitters will do the rest. In one game it will be Nehf or Cvengros, and Blake in the other.

Ott Registers Four Point Gain in Big Six Race

The youthful Melvin Ott was the only ground gainer among the Big Six batsmen yesterday. With four members in action, only Ott could get more than one hit. He cracked out three blows in five times at bat in the first half of a double header, then added one more in five tries in the second game, for a total increase of four points in his batting average. He still remains in the last place a good distance behind Paul Waner, who was kept idle.

HOW AN ORNERY HORSE IS DOING THE LORD'S WORK

Loses When Erring Owner Plays Him to Win.

and held an election in the hall outside my room to see which sickness they would put down on the certificate when it was all over.

"I could hear them voting for this thing and that thing outside my door, but no doctor was willing to have him die of his special disease, and the car fellow wanted him to die of the heart fellow's disease, and so forth. It began to look like a patient with everything in the world the matter with him would have to get struck by lightning.

Just for Ventilation.

"But while this was going on I heard a bump on the floor and some moaning in the next room where the old man was. These wall paper partitions had holes poked in them for ventilation. They were so thin that you could just give a poke with your finger and give a little twist and there would be a hole in the wall. It was generally quite stuffy in the hotel, and previous inmates had poked several holes in the wall of my room.

"However, when I heard the bump and the moaning in the next room, I thought the old man was having a spell and I did not wait to think about politeness, but jumped to the ventilation hole to see what was the matter. The old man was down on his knees in his nightshirt beside his bed and what he was saying startled me because he was just the customary type of old man that you see in all towns and they are not generally very religious.

"But he was on his knees and he was saying, 'O, Lord, I know you have got me over a barrel this time and I want to see if we can't reason this out and come to an agreement. Lord, I know I have not been careful about my doing up to now, Lord, because it has been a scramble all the way trying to make some money, and Thee knows, Lord, how a man will get careless. But, Lord,' he said, 'from now on, if you will just help me up this hill, you and I are partners and we split everything right down the center, a dollar for you and a dollar for me, if I get well. Amen, Lord!'

Shoos Doctors Away.

"He stayed there a long time," Mr. Howard said, "arranging the details of how he was going to give the Lord his cut, and when he finally got up he turned the key in the door and locked out the doctors. They kept on arguing, but after a long time the appendix doctor went downstairs to get a drink and while he was gone the other doctors railroaded through a vote on appendicitis and came back to the old man's room. 'You needn't be tryin' to get in here,' he yelled. 'I've placed my case in the hands of the Lord and I am going to get well.'

"So the doctors went away," Mr. Howard said, "and inside of ten days the old man was well again and came north and started enjoying his money. Being that I had stumbled on to the information about the agreement by accident, I could not ethically put the arm on the old man for any funds myself, but knowing what I knew I thought it would be doing the Lord's work to tip off some of the boys who had spent all their money poking holes without getting any oil.

"So I told a few deserving cases that if they were shy of funds they could get some by putting it up to the old man, and I told them to put the arm on good and heavy, because he had a million and there was nothing like getting in there quick for the half that he was going to give to charity for the Lord. I do not say that I would not have accepted a percentage from these boys for arranging the loan.

"The boys all came back and said that the old sinner wouldn't tell you which way was east, and although I have been sending deserving cases around to him for many years, all the boys have reported that he would not tell them which way was east.

"That is why this horse is poison. He wins when there is not a dollar bet on him. Then he wins again with just a few dollars bet. Then the old man gets greedy and bets a chunk of that money he has been holding out on the Lord and the horse sits down over on the back stretch. He has done that half a dozen times and I am just an amused spectator, because I know this is the Lord's way of taking what is his from a welcher."

GETTING INTO SHAPE

My Right Will Finish Tommy, Says Braddock

White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., July 14.—[U.P.]—"Somewhere between the fifth and ninth rounds I'll get over my right and there'll be a new champion," James J. Braddock said today in commenting on the outcome of Thursday night's light heavyweight title match at Yankee stadium with Tommy Loughran, 175 pound title holder. "If I ever floor Loughran, he won't get up like he did against Lomski."

Braddock thinks that Loughran has gone back quite a bit since he won the title from Mike McTigue October 7, 1927.

"Loughran isn't near the boxer he was two years ago," Braddock said. "Making the weight will hurt him considerably and he has lost a lot of his speed."

"Never Felt Better"—Loughran.

Hoosick Falls, N. Y., July 14.—[Special.]—Tommy Loughran, the world's light heavyweight champion, who defends his title against James J. Braddock in Yankee stadium, New York, next Thursday night, hit the peak of his training today. He sparred eight rounds with his mates and with the punching bags, rope skipping, and calisthenics did what amounted to 15 full rounds of work.

"I never felt better," was Tommy's comment as he headed for the showers and rubbing table.

William F. Carey, boss of Madison Square Garden, and a big gallery of eastern sporting writers watched Loughran's workout here today.

Benny Leonard, former lightweight champion of the world, was among the spectators. He thought Loughran looked a bit slow and that Tommy is having trouble making the weight.

LEWIS TRAVELS 686 MILES TO WIN ROBY RACE

H. M. Lewis drove his Hudson stock car 686 miles in twelve hours to win yesterday's endurance race at Roby track, before 6,500 spectators. His average speed was 57.2 miles per hour.

Al Carp's Chrysler 65 was second with a total of 657 miles, Emmerson Mornel's model A Ford third with 653, C. R. Edwards' De Soto fourth with 652, and Billy Harris' model A Ford fifth with 651.

Four cars turned turtle, three of them burned up—and no one was hurt.

Harry Nichols' Peerless topped over in the back stretch, catapulting Relief Pilot Bud Pierce into a puddle of mud. Pierce scrambled to safety as the car went up in flames.

Similar accidents occurred to Gene Mandeloss' Durant and C. E. Clark's De Soto. An Oldsmobile driven by Charles Barnard turned over, but didn't take fire.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Blue Larkspur is not going to rest on the 3 year old championship honors which he took down when he won the American Classic at Arlington.

When it was definitely determined yesterday that he came out of the $60,000 race without a bruise or a cut the Bradley stable chief's began to talk of a campaign that will carry the swift and plucky son of Black Servant-Blossom Time to the all age turf crown of the year, the title which Reigh Count galloped away with last season.

His remaining important engagements which are fashioned strictly for 3 year olds are the Travers midsummer Derby at Saratoga, the Lawrence Realization at Belmont and the Latonia championship stakes at Latonia. If Blue Larkspur continues to train soundly he will fill all of them.

The series of all age events through which he must race to take down the American title are the Saratoga cup, Hawthorne Gold cup, Lincoln handicap and the Gold cup at Belmont.

None Injured in Classic.

Only a stout hearted and perfectly conditioned thoroughbred could hope to complete such a campaign. Blue Larkspur may not be able to do it. But if he can show his heels to the leading handicap performers in one or two of them he will prove his right to the championship.

There wasn't a serious mishap in the running of the Classic, a checkup of the 14 starters showed yesterday. Trainer Lowenstein and Owner Grabher were unable to account for Windy City's bad race except that track conditions did not suit the colt. In the Johnson N. Camden camp Rose of Sharon's disappointing race was also a mystery. Several keen observers believed she appeared stale in the paddock and while going to the post. This might indicate the campaign this spring and summer which established her as the best 3 year old filly in the country has been too much for her.

The third week of Arlington's season starting this afternoon brings two more important stakes up for decision. On Wednesday afternoon the Lassie stakes for 2 year old fillies will be run. The race carries $5,000 in added money and is at five and one-half furlongs. If there are 15 starters, and it seems likely there will be, the race will have a gross value of nearly $11,000.

On Saturday afternoon the Arlington handicap will have its first running. It had an added value of $20,000 and will attract the leading eastern and western handicap performers at a mile and an eighth.

Neal Leads Jockeys.

If Paul Neal continues to ride this week as he has during the first half of the Arlington season he will clinch the jockey championship. With 16 winners to his credit he is far out in front.

Shropshire, who tied Neal for the title at Washington Park, is in second place and scored seven victories during the last week to Neal's five. The ten leading riders at Arlington follow:

P. Neal	16	E. Pool	3
E. Shropshire	10	Morrison	3
V. Smith	5	R. Haigle	3
L. Morris	4	T. Burns	3
F. Halbert	4	D. McCrossin	3

The Westshore handicap at a mile and an eighth is Arlington's feature today. It engaged the Coffroth handicap winner, Golden Prince, O. W. Lehmann's Reigh Olga, Dangerous, a recent arrival from the east; Val Crane's Crosaco, Fred Burton's Dunmore, and other stylish performers.

The track was reported fast late yesterday.

GERBER SPEEDS TO VICTORY IN DIRT TRACK RACE

Bloomington, Ill., July 14.—[Special.]—The 15-mile auto race on Lexington speedway today was won by John Gerber of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Taking the lead at the 31st lap, he held it until the end, getting home in fourteen minutes and 39 seconds. Gus Schraeder, also of Cedar Rapids, pushed the winner hard all the way, but he had to be content with second money. Al Benes of Lexington and Verne McComb of St. Joseph, Mo., took third and fourth respectively.

Kermit Smith, of Decatur, sustained a badly fractured leg when his racer turned turtle on the back stretch.

The first five mile race was won by Schraeder, the second by George Shreffler of Joliet, and the third by O. D. Zook of Towanda. Five thousand spectators viewed the racers.

Cleveland Signs Aronstein, Houston Amateur Pitcher

Houston, Tex., July 13.—(AP)—Charlie Aronstein, right hand pitcher of the Christie and Hobby team, local amateur baseball nine, Saturday signed a Cleveland Indian contract, and will report within two weeks. Aronstein, one of the city's brightest amateur prospects, received a substantial bonus for signing.

Mandell, Lightweight Champ, Begins Training Grind Today

Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, who defends his title against Tony Canzoneri of New York at the Chicago Stadium Aug. 3, starts training today at the Washington Park race track. Although Mandell is a few pounds overweight his manager, Eddie Kane, said the champion will make 135 pounds without trouble. Canzoneri arrives July 18 to complete preparation.

EDDIE KANE.

Steve Smith, eastern featherweight, and Frankie Garcia, Spanish-American 126 pounder, are ready for their ten round decision fight at the Logan Square open air arena tomorrow night. Both engaged in bouts with their sparring partners yesterday. Light gymnasium drills this afternoon will complete their workouts.

Promoter Jack Art has completed his card for the Mills stadium show Thursday night. Earl Mastro, side featherweight, and Billy Detroit meet in the main event, Medill, local lightweight, and Myers of Idaho clash in the ten semi-windup. Other fights arranged by Matchmaker Mullen bring Al Greenfield and Harry Dublin 126 pounders; Solly Schuman, weight, and Frankie Grandolfo California, and Lou Fields and Hall, Chicago featherweights.

Promoter Paddy Harmon has arranged his heavyweight card for the Chicago Stadium July 24. The will have as an added feature a round exhibition between Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, and one of his sparring partners. Leo Mazzinghi, local heavyweight, and Tony Fuente of Mexico clash in the main event. Al Friedman of Boston and Pete Wortort of South Chicago will be the principals in the semi-winding. Other fights include: Mitz Minifiet, Milwaukee heavyweight, and Paul Vitaleo of Chicago; Salvatore Ligierello of Italy and an opponent to be announced tomorrow.

Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, and Johnny Burns of California, top the card at the Logan Square arena July 22. It will be supported by five other fights.

Wagner Wins Day's Honors at Lincoln Park Shoot

SPEAS MOVES UP IN CEDAR RAPIDS BASEBALL CLUB

Cedar Rapids, Ia., July 14.—[Special.]—George E. Huckins, president of the Cedar Rapids baseball club of the Mississippi Valley league, yesterday relieved Bill Speas as manager of the Bunnies. He named Shortstop Tim Serre field leader of the team and then announced that Speas would serve as vice president and general manager of the organization. Speas will take most of the executive duties of Huckins' hands, holding a position similar to that of Billy Evans of Cleveland.

Serre has been a member of the Bunnies less than ten days, having been purchased from Waterloo. He is 21 years old, and has had seven years of diamond experience.

Chicagoland Plans Hunting Dog Field Trials This Fall

BY BOB BECKER.

A high class bunch of setters and pointers galloping across the fields in Du Page county may be one of the autumn pictures which sportsmen in Chicagoland will have a chance to see next October if the plans of the Elmhurst chapter of the Izaak Walton league for a pheasant dog field trial are fulfilled.

According to an announcement just made by John W. Vogel, secretary and treasurer of the chapter, a meeting of setter and pointer fanciers and other sportsmen will be held this week to discuss plans for this pheasant dog field trial.

The idea is to have a regular registered trial to test dogs on one of our "trickiest" game birds, the ringnecked pheasant. Judges would rove the fields behind each working brace of pointers or setters and judge the dogs on their range, speed, bird sense, steadiness, and handling of birds pointed.

Whether gunners would shoot rising birds as in a regular hunt or a mental trial has not been decided. Chicagoland has the dogs, the pheasants and the sportsmen to put over a snappy sporting event like this, and many outdoormen are hoping that it will go through.

Another field trial for sporting dogs is being considered for this fall. It would be solely for retrievers—Labradors, Chesapeake Bay retrievers, springers, cockers, Irish water spaniels and other breeds which excel in retrieving on land or from water.

Giants Subdue Cards, 7-6; Then Lose, 4-3

New York, July 14.—(AP)—The Giants and the Cardinals divided a doubleheader today, the home team winning the opener, 7 to 6, in eleven innings and the visitors the second, 4 to 3, over the regulation route. The league champions pulled out the second decision by a rally for three runs in the eighth. Bill Walker, Giant starting pitcher in this game, hit a home run in the fifth.

New York, July 14.—[U. P.]—The United States Golf association announced today two summer meetings for green committee members and greenkeepers, one at the Arlington turf garden near Washington, D. C., Aug. 19-20, the other at A. D. Lasker's private course at Everett, Ill., Aug. 26-27.

Bush Hurls Steamfitters to 1-0 Victory

Granville Bush, brother of Guy Bush, Chicago Cubs hurling ace, made his début as a tosser in his own right before local fans at Normal Park yesterday, pitching the Steamfitters to a brilliant 1 to 0 win over the Chicago Firemen. The young Mississippian held the Smoke Eaters to four hits.

In a second game, the Steamfitters clouted their way to a 10 to 6 victory over Morris, Ill. Struss fanned eleven of the visitors, but half a dozen walks kept him in trouble. Scores:

OLD REALTY CONCERN SEEKS LARGER CAPITAL

H. O. Stone & Co. to Expand Activity.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Plans for reorganization and recapitalization of H. O. Stone & Co., the investment bond and real estate house which claims the distinction of being Chicago's oldest business concern, were announced yesterday. In order to provide for extensive expansion and development, a new corporation will be formed under Delaware laws to absorb the present Illinois company and even subsidiaries to be formed to take over the various departments of the old company.

The new parent company also will be known as H. O. Stone & Co. It will be capitalized at 25,000 shares of preferred stock, $100 par value, and 100,000 shares of no-par common stock. The preferred stock will be exchanged, share for share, for the present 24,983 outstanding preferred shares of the old company, while the new company will issue 118,488 common shares in a three-for-one exchange for present outstanding common stock.

Pays Same Dividends.

The new preferred stock will pay the same dividends as the present preferred shares but will be convertible into common stock within five years on the basis of two common shares for each preferred share. The new common stock will pay $1.75 annually, starting with a quarterly dividend of 43¾ cents to be paid to stockholders of record Oct. 1. This is equivalent to $5.25 a year on the present common stock.

"The company has outgrown its present capital set-up and its resources and prospects are now so large and its plans for future development so extensive that this change is imperative," the directors explain in a call for a stockholders' meeting on Aug. 1 to approve the plan. "The company's net worth increased from $551,483 in 1921 to $6,840,000 in 1929. Net earnings have increased from $71,362 in 1921 to nearly $1,000,000 in 1928. Since Jan. 1, 1924, common stock holders have received the aggregate sum of $181,875 in dividends and in addition stock dividends amounting to 9,846 shares."

Is Holding Concern.

The new corporation will be a holding concern for the following companies: H. O. Stone Securities company, H. O. Stone Subdividers, H. O. Stone Management company, H. O. Stone Assets company, H. O. Stone Finance company, H. O. Stone Investment company, and H. O. Stone Investment Trust.

H. O. Stone & Co. was founded by H. O. Stone, a famous pioneer, in 1835.

Electric Power Gives Little Towns New Industrial Pep

BY SCRUTATOR.

The passing of the industrial leadership of the United States from the great cities to the smaller towns is predicted by the Middle West Utilities company, which has made public a recently completed study of American business methods and policies.

Although the large metropolitan centers continue to grow in population, the author of the study holds that this is not the true measure of leadership. He argues that distributable power in the form of electricity is making the small community more efficient than the big one.

The reasoning begins with the proposition that American prosperity is due to the enhancement of working capacity by mechanical aids. It continues to relate that from 1850 until 1910 the methods of power production, either steam or electric, compelled concentration of industry. In other words, the people had to work where the power was, despite some obvious disadvantages. The emancipation of the small town has come because it now is easier to move electric power than to shift labor or materials.

City growth, the study asserts, after a certain point of saturation creates more handicaps than facilities for productive industries. It quotes figures to show that 29 per cent of the electrical output in Chicago is devoted to railway and traction use, necessary because the residents must go to and from their work and their pleasures. Also, it relates that car riding gained 55 per cent in New York while the population climbed but 15 per cent.

Such functions as this and the running of elevators, the disposal of sewage, the bringing in of vast water supplies from long distances—all the things that may be grouped under city overhead expenses—are obviously less costly in the smaller communities. That business has begun to realize what this means is evidenced by the statistics which show that recently the only gain in the number of industrial wage earners has been recorded by towns under 10,000, with those of 10,000 to 25,000 making the next best showing.

As a summary the utility company's work asserts that decentralizing forces now at work in America are reversing the curents which have characterized business enterprise since the industrial revolution in 18th century England.

With this last statement there can be no quarrel. Decentralization of industry, in the broadest sense, is moving forward at a good pace. It has often been remarked that plants have reached their greatest size. The biggest manufacturers now are establishing branch plants in various parts of the country. Notably that is true of the automobile makers.

But if the impression is given by the study that the greatest metropolitan areas will begin to go back, there is room for dispute. The biggest cities are decentralizing themselves. It is well known that Chicago firms are tending to get out toward the rim of the switching district, where land is cheaper and taxes lower. Low priced, easily distributed power has made that possible.

Even the Metropolitan Life Insurance figures, quoted in the work, showed that 291 factories moved to larger places while 351 were going to smaller.

When industries move to Clearing or to Barrington from Chicago, as many have in recent months, it is perhaps an indication that Chicago, whatever its political boundaries may be, is spreading to the country, rather than an indication that Chicago is losing out. It is customary to consider a forty mile radius the limit of the area of a metropolis. This may be increased by investigating scientists to sixty miles, or even more, in a short time. The industrial movement to the edge of such areas may well go along with the one to the smaller towns in rural sections.

Request Depositing of Stock in Curtiss-Wright Merger

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 14.—In effecting the consolidation of eleven airplane manufacturing, flying and servicing organizations into the Curtiss-Wright corporation, said to be the largest of its kind in the world, the comittee representing the larger stockholders has issued a call requesting that stocks of the companies to be included be deposited before Aug. 15.

BUSINESS PACE IS STILL FASTER THAN FOR 1928

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 14.—Business completed the week at the same high level which has been maintained all during the first half of the year. Production in nearly all lines continues at a pace considerably in advance of the activity for a year ago and even at this advanced date the normal seasonal recession assumes negligible proportions.

Activity in the iron and steel industry remains the most remarkable feature of the general business situation. Operations are still being maintained at a point close to plant capacity. A decided to let down in operations would be natural at about this time, yet it is estimated that schedules through the remainder of the month and possibly even through August will be maintained close to the present levels.

In Chicago District.

In a few districts recessions have been reported in buying, but to offset this the Chicago district showed the largest sales in years and Pittsburgh has received large orders. Statistics showing the steel output for the first half year reveal the largest total ever recorded, being 3,900,000 tons in excess of the previous high level established in the latter half of 1928.

Under the stimulus of continued warm weather retail trade improved during the week and wholesalers and manufacturers are making preparations for the new season. But little change in the wholesale price levels has been reported.

Wheat prices recovered during the week under the favorable influence of the government crop estimate. Previous estimates were lowered somewhat more than had been expected, reducing the anticipated yield to $834,000,000 bushels, 63,000,000 below the estimate for a year ago. Prior to the issuance of the wheat estimate the government's forecast of cotton acreage was made public, showing one of the largest plantings on record.

Conditions Stable.

Reports by telegraph from the various federal reserve districts show a remarkably even tone to business in all quarters. For the most part conditions are reported as steady with sales continuing to run in slight excess of the previous year's figures. In one or two districts improvement over previous years is marked and in no case is there a serious recession.

The building and allied trades remain the weakest link in the chain of prosperity. Here and there, however, reports of some bolstering up in this branch have been encountered.

New Records Set on Curb in New York

New York, July 14.—(AP)—New highs were established all through the curb list in one of the most active trading weeks in the exchange's history.

Sales on Friday exceeded 2,700,000 and on Saturday a new trading record was established on a turnover of 1,832,600 shares, nearly 300,000 shares ahead of the previous record made on June 29, last. The ticker on Friday fell an hour behind the market, and on Saturday it was 45 minutes late at the close.

The high priced specialties took the spotlight in the first two days, but the public utilities held the center of the stage the remainder of the week on a wild rush of buying that carried some of the leaders up more than 60 points from the preceding Saturday's closing. The oils sold at new highs on several successive days, but their advances were dimmed by the brilliance of the moves in the utilities.

The background for the sharp advances was furnished by a wealth of favorable dividend declarations, industrial expansion plans, earnings statements for the first half of the year and merger rumors, the last particularly in the utility field. The wild buying in the final two days was unleashed by the $14,000,000 drop in brokers' loans, the first in several weeks, announced after the close of the market Thursday.

HIGHER MONEY RATES ATTRACT FOREIGN GOLD

Wall Street Affects Banks Abroad.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 14.—A few weeks ago, while the general view of the financial and industrial situation was one of undiminished confidence, attention was none the less directed to unfavorable considerations which had arisen in agriculture and in the field of international finance.

The pulling at one another's gold by the European banks, a consequence chiefly of the high New York money rates and resumption of large gold export from Europe to America, cut down the Bank of England's gold reserve with quite unprecedented rapidity, bringing that institution's gold holdings, on the very eve of the always exacting autumn demand on them, to a figure actually less than that of the week in 1925 when the bank resumed free gold payments.

At the moment, both movements seemed to indicate a worse position three or four months from now. Last week a turn for the better came in both directions. In the grain market, a changed condition had already been foreshadowed by a rise of 30 cents in wheat within five weeks, can-

PRICE OF WHEAT ADVANCES HERE; BULLS ARE GLAD

Spring Figures Said to Favor Them.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bullish conditions in the American and Canadian northwest have been materially strengthening by further deterioration in the spring wheat crop. The government gave the four northwestern states 135,000,000 bu of bread wheat and 58,000,000 bu of durum. The latter was short 35,000,000 bu from last year and the bread wheat is off 34,000,000 bu. Montana's crop has fallen down sharply.

Nat C. Murray figures that the spring wheat crop on both sides of the international line is deteriorating at the rate of 1½ per cent a day, which is largely confirmed by other private statisticians.

There are estimates that the spring wheat crop in the United States has declined around 30,000,000 bu or more since the government report was made up and that the Canadian prospects are off 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bu or more in less than 30 days.

There were estimates of 372,000,000 bu for the three western Canadian provinces June 1. Canadian's pool estimates is for about 65 per cent of last year's crop, which is taken as meaning about 325,000,000 bu, or 183,000,000 bu short of last year's bumper year. A normal crop is considered about 325,000,000 bushels and there are estimates as low as 275,000,000 bu. On the basis of the government report of June 1 the two countries had 1,159,000,000 bu, a decrease of 278,000,000 bu.

Cold nights, with frost in some sections, drought, showers, and high temperatures at times, have all worked against the Canadian crops.

Conditions Bullish.

With all the conditions working in favor of the farmer and the speculative holder of wheat, and against the consuming interests, higher prices are looked for. The market of the last six weeks has been a most wonderful one. Prices have advanced 33 to 35 cent without a bull leader, with opposition from foreigners, and with a comparatively light short interest, with the speculators carrying hedges estimated at more than 100,000,000 bu in Chicago alone.

A number of close observers predict that should there be a continued deterioration in the spring wheat of the northwest and unfavorable weather in the southwest, where floods have damaged millions of bushels in quantity and quality, the United States wheat market will be in about the same position as in 1924 to 1925, when, with an immense volume of speculative trading, prices for futures in Chicago advanced above the $2.00 level in 1925. In that year the United States raised 676,000,000 bu, Canada, 378,000,000 bu, a total of 1,054,000,000 bu. This year's production on June 1 is 1,159,000,000 bu, with close to 100,000,000 bu lost in about two weeks. Taking the statistics in all positions the crop losses are considered as more than offsetting the carryover in the United States and Canada as compared with last year. The world's crop is estimated to show losses of 300,000,000 bu to 400,000,000 bu from 1928.

Traders look for the farm relief board at its meeting in Washington today to take some decided action as to placement of the big movement of wheat in the southwest, which is exceeding all expectations, despite unfavorable weather conditions. Bakers, millers and foreigners who failed to secure supplies a month ago are now disposed to buy.

What the trade needs at present is a demand from exporters and from speculators to carry the immense line of hedges, which are estimated far above 100,000,000 bu in Chicago alone.

One feature that stands out is that millers and foreigners who thought they would be able to buy wheat at their own price missed their market when prices were down and are holding off. Should they both start to buy at once a good advance is expected.

Prices in Chicago are up 33 to 35 cents from the season's low with gains for the week of 7⅛ to 7⅝c, December reaching the highest of the season on Saturday. At the close July was $1.29, September $1.34⅜ to $1.34¼, and December, $1.39⅞ to $1.40. Prices for the week follow:

Cities Service.

G. B. N., Pewaukee, Wis.—Cities Service company was incorporated Sept. 2, 1910, in Delaware as a holding company to acquire securities of electric light and power, natural and artificial gas, steam heating, water, electric street and interurban railway and kindred corporations.

The company has become, through subsidiaries and associated corporations, an important factor in the oil producing, transporting, refining and distributing industries of the United States, and is now, through these, among the largest producers of high grade refinable crude oil in the United States.

Cities Service company controls, directly or indirectly through stock ownership, more than sixty public utility companies rendering electric light, power, gas and transportation service in twenty states and the Dominion of Canada, serving territories having a population estimated to be about 4,000,000, and more than thirty companies representing an important system of oil production, transportation, refining and marketing.

Net earnings were $64,048,047, against $60,117,993 for 1927.

After a deduction of $21,727,359 for interest charges and $14,714,365 for preferred stock dividends, there remained a balance of $27,606,232 applicable to common stock and reserves. This compares with $28,312,[illegible] in 1927.

Profit and loss surplus as of Dec. 31, 1928, was $66,866,431, against $44,897,885 the year before.

Current assets were $128,166,806 and current liabilities were $62,585,800 at the close of 1928. This left a net working capital of $65,581,006, which compares with $51,939,652 the previous year.

For the twelve months ended May 31, 1929, surplus available for common dividends and reserves amounted to $24,123,972, compared with $22,544,893 for the previous twelve months.

Dividends on the new no par common stock are at the annual rate of 30 cents a share. The company's stock was split four for one in May, 1929.

In addition special stock dividends are being paid on the common stock at the annual rate of 6 per cent.

Chain Belt.

G. S., Milwaukee, Wis.—Chain Belt company, incorporated in Wisconsin in 1892, reported for 1928 net income of $633,110, against $524,061 in 1927, and $577,267 for 1926.

Earnings per share on 120,000 shares of no par stock were $5.83 in 1928, against $4.37 in 1927, and $4.81 in 1926.

Working capital at the close of 1928 was $2,065,983, against $1,813,414 the year before.

Deerfield, Ill.

H. G. S., Deerfield, Ill., $293,400 6 per cent local improvement bonds, dated as issued and due annually Oct. 1, 1931 to 1939, inclusive, are a sound investment.

THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.

Joy Harrison, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is troubled by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own trouble she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too. Towards the end of the day he tells Joy he has lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor, and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Locke, a tenant, tells Rex he has been offered a practice with a comfortable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married doctor, and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry, and take up the new post Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctors' colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her, and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey read of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young brother and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word and they enter into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony Rex, Joy and Percival Arthur go to the south of France. Joy likes keeping house, and Percival Arthur has the time of his life. Joy and Rex become interested in each other. Then the Fords, Geoffrey and his mother, appear on the scene. Joy invites them to her first tea party. Rex and Joy quarrel over Geoffrey's attentions, and Joy thinks Rex would like to be free, so she goes off with Geoffrey.

INSTALLMENT LXVII.

PURSUIT.

First stop Avignon—that town of the broken bridge. That's where they'd make for. That's where he'd make for. Then what? Make a landing, he thought, as close as he could get to the octrol. A landing on one of those huge meadows between the river and the road. Tell them at the octroi to hold up the first English car coming on from the coast. A car, very shiny, with an English lady and gentleman; they were to hold up that car, not to let it pass!

"Right you are," sang out young Smithson at his side. "Here we are."

They legged it up to where she lay in the moonlight, the immobile Moth; her wings were giant razor shells, like giant outspread milk pale arms.

The boy was beside her, his hands busy at cords that fastened the engine cover. He seemed some page, zealously making preparations to speed his knight into the fray. Each movement betrayed his eager goodwill; each movement his coltish immaturity.

During the minute or two that the engine was warming up, few words were exchanged. The Moth's owner, who had been busily helpful, tossed the boy a "Like to be going up again, too?"

An agonized sigh was breathed of "Uncle Rex! Couldn't I?"

"What's that? You? No, no, old man. Not this trip. Anyhow, the Moth only holds two."

Smithson asked, "Am I flying you, sir?"

Quickly Travers shook his head. "Going up by myself, please; got some one to bring back, you see."

"But you're not going up like that, are you?" Smithson threw a look at the dress trousers and linen jacket. "Here——" He pulled off his own fleece lined leather coat, his muffler; he huddled them upon the older flyer, then hurried to the propeller. "Gloves and cap in the cockpit, under the seat. Map there somewhere. Well, good luck, sir, hope you find everything all——"

The night was filled with a soft crescendo roar. The pale winged shape, suddenly alive, moved swiftly forward. Left behind by the castoff covers there stood the younger pilot with the still younger boy who was not a pilot yet. They watched. Imperceptibly the Moth was no longer on the field; she was in the air; she rose, rose! Two faces turned up to the night sky, looking after her course, as her lights showed as diminishing stars.

Suddenly Percival Arthur made a gesture; raising fledgling arms as though they could have been spread in flight. But it was Rex who had taken the wings. The boy's arms dropped to his sides, and away in the dark died the hum of the speeding plane.

And while, up there, she swooped through the night, two thousand feet somewhere below her blazed and sped Geoffrey Ford's car.

Forty, fifty, fifty-five miles of road trailed behind her as, unconscious of pursuit, Geoffrey drove with Joy Travers still fast asleep at his side.

"Could one," thought the irritated Geoffrey, "conceive of a young woman less appreciative of this situation?" Romance. And she still slept like a baby in a buggy.

At intervals during that rush through sleeping country Joy had been dimly conscious of the fact that she was in a car, speeding relentlessly away from her home. At one moment Rex seemed to be with her; Rex tucking a rug about her. O, dream how sweet, too sweet, too bitter sweet, whose awakening should have been in paradise. Joy had not wakened; after that blissful dream flash she sank into deeper slumber in which everything of her life had been forgotten.

Geoffrey, resigned to his disgust, drove on, on. Presently he began dreaming, less in anger than in bewilderment. For Geoffrey Ford, never of those who, even when not on elopement bent, examine the condition and probable life of every atom of a car before starting on a journey, could not imagine what was now responsible for the behavior of his perfectly good fourteen horse power car.

Gradually as the night was wearing away did she begin to slow down. Unless Geoffrey's frown; his experiments with the many gadgets; his struggles with accelerator and gears. Homage to the French language, which produces for these incidents the excellent, succinct, and all embracing word "panne." The Germans say "pech." English, the language said to produce the most graphic of monosyllables, has none to describe bother with the car, whether due to engine trouble or to the fact that the thin platinum tipping due on the head of the magneto contact breaker screw has come to the end of its appointed life. The car continued to slow down; Geoffrey, to struggle. In vain! Slower and slower she crawled along the road, finally, to a mutter from her owner, stopping dead.

It was then that, with a start, Joy awoke. Feeling cramped in the limbs, cold in the face, she opened her eyes, blinked, and, with a rush of misery, remembered.

Rex had told her she could go. She had driven to Paris with Geoffrey Ford. The car had stopped; was this Paris? She peered out upon a landscape, dim as objects seen through water at the bottom of a pool. This wasn't Paris. This wasn't anywhere. It was the middle of the country; all empty, chill and dim—and the car had stopped and Geoffrey, stooping forward, was fumbling with this and that.

"Geoffrey."

"Hullo." He turned to her. In the car lights his boyish face was looking helplessly worried.

"Where are we, Geoffrey?"

"God knows! Joy, I say, this is the most unfortunate. I am most frightfully sorry—something's happened. There's oceans of petrol, it's not that. I've looked. Something's gone wrong with the confounded car."

"O, Geoffrey, what?"

"There, I'm afraid," said the young man hopelessly, "is where you have me."

. . . . . .

Motorists may be divided into two kinds; born drivers, and men who have learned to drive. To the second class belonged Mr. Geoffrey Ford, whose driving was limited as his taste in upholstery and body paint was subtle, whose road sense remained elementary as his literary sense became ever more cultivated, and to whom a car would never be that complicated feminine personality of temperament, response, refusal, limitations, potentialities, achievement and receptive sympathy passing the love of women which "she" represents to the driver born.

To Geoffrey "it" was a mere convenient mechanical monster, there for the purpose of transporting him swiftly from place to place. All was well that went well. If it went badly, then this successful novelist became the inferior of the rawest garage hand at any wayside petrol pump. As he did now. Not that there was a garage or a hand or a pump at that point of Provence where his motor elected to give trouble. There was nothing but, to the right a glimmering, vine grown slope that stretched skywards, and to the left, a great plain of corn land, sometimes checkered with black areas of fallow, sometimes gleaming stubble. Ahead and behind was that long, straight highroad, to the right side of which the costly and well equipped car had stopped still as a milestone. Her neat little clock, the one thing about her that seemed to be still going, showed that they had been about three and a half hours running; irrelevantly, the novelist's well stocked mind proffered a quotation from Hassan.

"The hour when young loves wakes on a white shoulder!"

The hour, Geoffrey remembered to have heard it more truly said, when human vitality reaches its lowest ebb. He turned again to this girl with whom he had undertaken this reluctant and most ill-starred elopement.

"Well, here we are; and here we stay I suppose, until help comes along in the shape of the next car."

Good morning!

Want to get scared? Here's your chance. [Maybe. Depends on your resistance.]

"Dr. Fu Manchu," adapted from the story by Sax Rohmer, is a bouncing, bloody melodrama, which, though overdrawn and laughable in spots, nevertheless presents enough hair raising situations to give it place in the ranks of the honest-to-goodness thrillers.

Dr. Fu Manchu [Warner Oland at his mosh suave and sinister!] is a famous Chinese physician and philanthropist, who is friendly with the English until——

During the Boxer rebellion, while he is shielding the baby daughter of an Englishman who meets his death in the warfare, his own home is mistakenly wrecked and his wife and little son killed by English troops.

The shock turns a scientist into a madman bent on revenge. Through hypotism he will use the English girl as his instrument of vengeance!

English officer after English officer, in the years that follow, meets death suddenly and inexplicably. Always the coroner's report is—heart disease. There is never a trace of the murderer or the means he employs.

The last on Dr. Fu Manchu's list are old Gen. Petrie, his son, the colonel and his grandson, young Dr. Petrie. Little Flower meets and falls in love with the last named and enters the Petrie home—under domination of her criminally insane guardian.

Let the picture tell you the rest, for I won't.

The production is an exciting one and well acted by an able cast. Note especially O. P Heggie as Nayland Smith, crack detective from Scotland Yard. It is sensationally staged and though it does at times tax credulity to the breaking point—still it qualifies as the sort of entertainment the masses eat up.

KIND: Farce comedy based on the play by Margaret Mayo and Salisbury Field.

QUALITY: Fair.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Excellent.

DIRECTION: Fair.

ACTING: Good—in the main.

FUNNY? In places.

STORY: Elsie Dolan, a telephone girl, brought up from babyhood in crowded quarters where she has had to sleep in the same bed with her two sisters, has made up her mind that marriage shall give her two [three] things—twin beds and a trip to Europe.

Eye out for the Big Chance, she steps forth with a spending gentleman from Grand Rapids whom she discovers almost at once is married and has No Good Intentions. She leaps from a taxi to escape his advances and, so to speak, into the arms of her prospective husband who is a "show doctor" [man who puts pep where there has been pip] and song composer.

She gets her twin beds, which various contretemps concerned with a bibulous, wandering tenor and his jealous wife who live in the same building convince her she doesn't want after all. She goes to Europe far sooner than she had expected she would.

REMARKS: The film is an altaiker. Much of the dialogue is entertaining, though Patsy Ruth Miller's delivery gets on your nerves occasionally. The picture has lots of action and some laughs. As light summer fare it gets by.

The big hit at the Chicago this week is Charles "Buddy" Rogers, who is appearing there in person. He's young, natural, and lovable and the crowds he draws applaud him enthusiastically. "Buddy" can play almost any musical instrument you can name but he's especially at home with the saxophone. HOW he can play THAT!

Now I guess I'll go west for awhile and see what the mountains are doing. Good-by—and good luck!

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send your name and address with your question to "Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Sam Garrett, 4530 Woodlawn avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.

What do you think of John D. Rockefeller's tip to the public to live a simpler and a saner life?

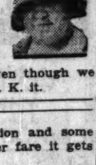
The Answers.

Miss N. F. Horgan, 6803 Cornell avenue, home girl.—I think it is a simple and sane idea. Coming from a man who has lived to be ninety years of age and has been a far-sighted actor on the stage of life for some eighty years, his advice ought to be sound and well seasoned. Besides, he is considerably our senior and we can't dispute him.

C. W. Adams, Allerton house, retired.—I think a lot of that. His idea is just 100 per cent good advice. It corresponds with my own way of living, and I recommend it highly. I know Mr. Rockefeller, and he is a most admirable man. I recently saw him play golf at Normandy beach. Upon congratulating him, he replied, "I wish you were here every day. You give me good luck."

Mrs. Lawrence A. Davis, 3727 Pine Grove avenue, housewife.—It is certainly proper for Mr. Rockefeller to live according to his advice, because he couldn't live any other way on account of his indigestion, poor fellow. What is one man's meat is another man's poison, and the most of us today are hale and hearty as can be, and the chances are the most of us will far outlive him.

John B. Watkins, 10921 Vernon avenue, draftsman.—Well, present day life is entirely too complex, and people are becoming nervous. We need to have admonition along those lines. We need more serenity, more time for reflection. Not our work but other interests and activities are breaking us down.



Mrs. F. G. Whitney, 5112 Hyde Park boulevard, housewife.—There is little doubt that Mr. Rockefeller is right. If he is not a seer, he has had a wealth of experience. But few of us will heed his or any other person's advice. We pass up such advice even though we pause long enough to O. K. it.

Women Tell Stories of Business Success Based Upon Efforts

Six western business women, five of them from Idaho, two of them self made capitalists, leave Chicago on the Baltimore and Ohio this afternoon en route for the good will European tour of American business and professional women. They will sail Wednesday from New York on the Cunard line Coronia.

Mrs. Eva Hunt Dockery of the editorial staff of the Idaho Daily Spokesman at Boise City introduced the women to a small group of Chicago friends on the women's floor at the Palmer house yesterday. They had returned from the convention of business and professional women at Mackinac island. She pointed out that from an angle of figures on the self-earned bank rolls her Idaho delegation will be of interest at the European conclave of feminine business experts.

In 1913 two old Fords were the only asséts of Mrs. Emma Caldiron, Boise City. With them she started a bus service. In 1923 business credit based on her profits enabled her to borrow $68,000, and she established two bus lines, one between Boise and Walla Walla. This spring she sold one line to an auxiliary of the Chicago Auto Transit company and the other to the Union Pacific. From the figures involved in the transactions she is not afraid of running out of money in Paris, she said yesterday.

Mrs. Emma Yearian of Lemhi, Idaho, another of the delegates, is called the sheep queen in her own country. She introduced sheep into Idaho when cattle raisers like her husband saw nothing in the smaller animals, but subject matter for nursery rhymes, she related yesterday. She wanted to send her girls to college. The first ten sheep flourished. The first 100 flourished. The first 1,000 flourished. During the war she made clear $105,000 in one year on wool and lambs. In the slump directly after, the banks stood by and she brought her thousands of animals through a loss of $70,000 in one year until the market stabilized and profits began pouring in again. Her girls went to college, she concluded quietly yesterday.

Others of the party, who will join other northwestern delegates in New York, are Mrs. W. E. Graham, vice chairman of Boise City community chest and a member of the school board; Miss Beulah Teal, hotel manager of Walla Walla, Wash., and Mrs. W. G. Swendsen, of Boise.

Forced Religion Defeats Self, Bishop Avers

McConnell Talks at Camp Meeting.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, speaking before 5,000 Methodists yesterday on the closing day of the Des Plaines camp meeting declared that Christianity cannot be forced upon people. He appealed to his audience that as Christians they promote religion on its basic value which makes it attractive.

The bishop pointed out that if people were forced by some super-publicity method into adherence to the church they would not long remain "Where you would put them by compulsion would not be heaven," he said, and he put compulsory college chapel into the same classification as the services in jails and lunatic asylums.

"Any preacher knows that an unwilling audience is a poor audience," Bishop McConnell declared. "I would soonér speak before 50 people who wanted to be there than before 5,000 who don't. I have done it in jails, lunatic asylums and colleges where they have compulsory chapel services, and I speak from experience."

While Bishop McConnell made no reference to the problem of prohibition, he spoke in reference to the spirit of international appreciation in world affairs in his afternoon sermon at the camp meeting. He appealed for a spirit of tolerance which leads people to look for the best elements in individuals, communities and nations.

"We need a new kind of national and international patriotism that looks for the good in a thing, or in a person or in a nation," he declared. "We need the sort that appreciates the good, and does not knock or deprecate others in finding it.

"There must be a good spot in everyone, but sometimes it takes a certain amount of discernment to see it. God made Adam, and Adam's sin spoiled things in paradise. If God had followed the modern critical policy he would have kept on making and discarding Adams until he got the one who would do what he wanted."

The camp meeting closed last night with a Communion service after a ten day session. The Women's association of the camp meeting is presenting the Apollo male quartet tonight.

Bastille Day Gives Ravinia Parisian Airs

Civic Opera Co. to Sing Chicagoan's "Camille."

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Bastille day, national holiday of France, was celebrated at Ravinia yesterday afternoon by an elaborate program of French music and before an audience that completely filled the pavilion and overflowed to the extra seats and standing room outside.

Eric DeLamarter directed the Chicago Symphony orchestra through a list of much applauded music by Berlioz, Chabrier, Lacombe, and Massenet. Alfredo Wallenstein played another much applauded group for cello. John Weicher, instead of the announced Jacques Gorden, played the violin solo of the prelude from Saint-Saëns' "The Deluge" and was induced by unanimous vote to repeat it. At the end of the first half Leon Rothier, veteran basso of the Ravinia Opera company, appeared to sing the "Marseillaise," and again applause overflowed. By the time the crowd was quiet, he had been recalled no less than fourteen times.

For the second half the stage was taken by La Chorale Française of Chicago for a series of songs under the direction of Charles Lagourgue. Much of the program dealt with sixteenth century French music, but there was a group of the nineteenth and another of the present century, the last including "America's Marseillaise" by Mr. Lagourgue.

French music continued into the evening, for then "Romeo and Juliet" was sung again. Edward Johnson repeated his excellent Romeo, and Yvonne Gall, a persuasive and greatly talented artist, appeared as Juliet for the first time this season. The remainder of the cast was as before.

A change in the week's operatic schedule has become necessary. Instead of "La Vide Brève" on Friday night, "La Bohème" will be sung, with Lucrezia Bori, Margery Maxwell, Armand Tokatyan, Mario Basiola, Virgilio Lazzari, and Paolo Ananian in the cast. Gennaro Papi will conduct.

The Civic Opera company sends word of a new opera to be presented next fall or winter. It is by a Chicagoan, Hamilton Forrest, and the subject is based upon the work which gave to the dramatic stage "Camille" and to the operatic stage "La Traviata." It will be sung in French.

The new piece, according to report, has been under consideration for some time. Mary Garden will have the leading part in it, with Charles Hackett to sing the tenor melodies and the bass music by Chase Baromeo. Mr. Forrest relays the information that it is to be sung in French, because to try and express it in English would make it sound forced, hard, and sometimes even gauche.

Dance in Streets.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 14.—Despite the sultry weather Paris still was celebrating its national holiday, Bastille day, at a late hour tonight, with mobs of men in shirt sleeves and girls in flimsy summer frocks dancing in the streets beneath colored lanterns.

The government decided not to hold the official military parade through the Avenue des Champs Elysees "because of the excessive heat." The heat was less intense this year than at any time in the last four years.

There were several official ceremonies, however. President Gaston Doumergue, accompanied by Minister of War Paul Painleve, laid a wreath at the tomb of the unknown soldier early this morning, while later there was a simple naval ceremony before the ministry of marine with Rear Admiral Violette, chief of the naval general staff, awarding decorations.

Free matinées in all government theaters drew huge mobs of poor children, who have no other opportunity to see the shows. There was also free movies and a circus, and gifts were distributed to convalescents in city hospitals.

Princess Ileana Must Prove Income Is $4,000, Not $7,500

BUCHAREST, Roumania, July 14.—(AP)—The court at Jassy yesterday heard a plaint on behalf of Princess Ileana against the tax commissioners who assessed the annual income of the princess from her estate at Foesi at $7,500. The princess declares that it is only $4,000. The court fixed a date by which Princess Ileana must back up her statement by proofs.

She's Temperamental as the Dickens, but He Loves Her Still

BY DORIS BLAKE.

When one person meets another with all the qualities he or she would appreciate in the one actually loved, what is the poor mortal to do?

Take Ivan's predicament. In the case of Ivan, after quarrels and more final outrageous one, he sought solace, as man has been known to do before, in the company of another one of Rose-Marie's sex.

She is a nice girl. She has all the qualities Ivan wanted and would have appreciated in the first one. But she isn't Rose-M., nor, from the lachrymose heartbeats, a satisfactory substitute. One fleeting glimpse of Rose and the old pull on the heartstrings is felt. One report that she has been seen in the company of another He and a sleepless night is the least of Ivan's discomfort. And so it goes—with all the emotions a riot that a case of real love is apt to provoke.

But Rose-Marie is stubborn as a mule. That's only one fault she has. After four years of courtship she didn't offer commensurate devotions, it would seem. She could spoil a fellow's evening with a remark or an indifference not becoming a fiancée. Then, again, she could bring relief as well as grief, as the poet says. She could lift Ivan into the seventh heaven of delight. The constant rise and fall of Rose's temperature, on serious consideration, boded ill, however, for a bright domestic future.

But the nice girl? With the admirable qualities? A girl you like and admire? Is she the answer to a heart yen that won't be quieted?

Attempting to substitute one one likes for one one loves is a busy little industry in our mortal midst. According to the cut and dried rules on successful marriage, it should work out a case of content. Unfortunately human relations are not adapted to cut and dried theories, as a rule, which makes the attempted adjustment so often a failure.

Winds may blow hot and winds may blow cold, but in the eternal deadly calm of a union based merely on a liking, there is more peril than in the shifting breezes. I'd take my chance on the heart stirrer.

Dotted Fabrics Are Exceedingly Smart

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Many a luncheon at the country club we are ordering, not à la carte, but à la cart-wheel. For these great discs, these wheels of color, have become identified with the informal summer mode and take their place in a tremendous vogue of polka dots. Numerous sports frocks, as well as many chiffon creations for afternoon wear, indorse a small over pattern of dots bordered by larger dots. Other dotted materials reverse this process by keeping the small figure for the border.

There is a number of the dotted fabrics introducing two and three tones in discs often graduated in size. The above combination of jumper and skirt illustrates such colorful styling in a kerchief interlocking discs that shade from deep purple through light purple to delicate mauve. These occur on a white background. The same motivation is found in the plaited skirt. The jumper itself is of plain white silk.

A hat of either white bakou or white felt is bound with the three tones of purple, and the shoes are of white kid. Before dismissing this model one must refer to the group of both evening and daytime models for this summer which are dedicating their existence to purple.

As for the kerchief scarf, we are led to speak of "the eternal triangle" in a new connection, so persistently do these triangular neck finishes haunt our summer landscape. The one we show today has an altogether individual effect by means of a point down the front which is contrasted with the division in the back.

Pope Receives Pilgrims from Chicago, New York

VATICAN CITY, July 14.—(AP)—Pope Pius today received 170 American pilgrims of Czecho-Slovakian extraction, mostly resident in Chicago and New York. They were led by Monsignor Bouzek and are on their way to Prague for the celebration of the 1,000th anniversary of St. Wenceslaus.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., July 14.—President and Mrs. Hoover are enjoying a real family party at the White House just now, having been joined by their younger son, Allan, who came from California after having graduated from Leland Stanford Jr. university. He will enter the Harvard law school in the autumn and will make the White House his headquarters until then. Mr. and Mrs. George Woodruff of Chicago, who spent a day at the White House last week, left yesterday for their home.

The secretary of war, James W. Good of Chicago, who has been at the Willard since Mrs. Good and their children went to Manchester, Mass., left yesterday to join his family. He was accompanied by the former secretary to former President Coolidge and Mrs. Everett Sanders. Secretary Good and Mr. Sanders will spend the week-end there, then return here, but Mrs. Sanders will remain in the north.

Former Postmaster General and Mrs. Harry S. New left this morning by motor for their camp on Turtle lake, Mich.

Miss Hampson, daughter of Mrs. Pope, wife of Col. Francis H. Pope, formerly stationed in Chicago, has returned from a three weeks' stay in Europe as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Richardson, née Le Seure of Danville, Ill. Mrs. Richardson returned with Miss Hampson and went on to Danville, Ill., to visit her mother and aunt, Mrs. Le Seure and Miss Helen Cannon, for a very short time. She sailed yesterday for Paris to join Mr. Richardson and was accompanied by her sister, Mrs. William Houghteling of San Francisco, formerly Miss Virginia Le Seure, who will be her guest for some time.

Those who paid $50.00 to see the Schmeling-Uzcudun fight did not get any more than Marbro patrons. It's the first fight filmed in talk and sound. You hear the thud of gloves, the roars and comments of the mob. Every little incident is brought out clearly in this extraordinary film.

After the thrilling fight, our patrons are gasping with amazement at the glorious sight of a half million live flowers on the stage. A constant succession of singers, dancers and comedians makes the show a truly eventful one—and then—a most meritorious screen production in which Broadway's golden-voiced tenor, Morton Downey, sings right to your heart. What a picture "Mother's Boy" is! Vitaphone sketches and a Movietone newsreel round off a perfect program,

Glorious Dolores Costello, outstanding talking picture star, rises to heights of superb acting in "Madonna of Avenue A" at the Granada. Too much cannot be said in praise of its tremendous theme. Onwentsia Pool Popular Place During Summer

BY THALIA ——.

The popular swimming hour in the handsome new pool at Onwentsia is between 5:30 and 6 o'clock. Every evening sees a large group of young Lake Foresters disporting themselves in the water around the brink, watching the aquatic accomplishments of their fellows.

There is much evidence of the sunfast mode in the low backed suits of the women, which are quite conservative swimming costumes. Louis Seaverns is generally conceded to be the best fancy diver and Howard Peabody is about the best swimmer. He spends most of his time under water, and is most proficient.

Logan McMenemy is also one of the daring divers. Others who frequent the pool include Mrs. Claire Childs Laflin, Miss Laura Thompson, the Sheldon Dicks, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dennehy Jr., Edwin Winter, and the George F. McLaughlins.

Onwentsia's Thursday night buffet suppers, following late afternoon golf and tennis games, are also popular. Last Thursday the weather was bad, but the Thomas Marshalls, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander H. Revell Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sturgis, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Hodges, Mrs. Morrow Krum, Bob Gardner, Miss Laura Thompson, and the Clay Judsons were present for supper. Mrs. Albert Acher is to give a young people's supper party next Thursday evening for her daughter, Alma Louise.

Mrs. Louise DeKoven Phelps, who is the former women's golf title holder at Watch Hill, R. I., has been on the links of the Misquamicut Golf club almost every day since her arrival at the Hill, getting in trim for a try at this year's championship.

Mrs. Phelps has been socially active as well. She entertained a dozen guests at the first afternoon musical of the club on Sunday, and assisted Mrs. Harry Darlington Jr. of Pittsburgh with the sale of the Pittsburgh Women's Industrial exchange at the Darlington residence on Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Valentine Bartletts, who are also members of the Watch Hill colony, have registered for the season at the private pavilion of the Watch Hill bathing beach, as also have Mrs. George R. Nichols and her father, Dr. Frank Billings, the William J. Chalmerses, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hibbard, and the Vincent Healys. They are seen almost daily at the beach, which is a great crescent shaped space of pure white sand. Gaudy summer parasols and the bright bathing costumes make it an attractive sight.

Among the summer exhibits at the Art institute, according to the weekly letter, are paintings from the private collections of Mrs. John Elliott Jenkins, Carter H. Harrison, Ralph Cudney, George Harding and Paul Schulze.

Society women of Lake Forest have been commended by the Rev. Herbert W. Prince, rector of the Church of the Holy Spirit, for the practical program of church social service to which they regularly contribute their time. Under the leadership of Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson, a group of women has been working for the benefit of the men stationed at the Great Lakes naval station and at Fort Sheridan, as well as patients of north shore hospitals and institutions.

Mrs. William Mitchell Blair, who is in charge of the naval station work, gives monthly parties at the Hostess house for the recruits. Assisting Mrs. Blair are her sister, Mrs. Charles Edward Brown Jr., and Mrs. Ronald Boardman. Mrs. Robert Pierson and Mrs. Thomas Cowles have made similar arrangements through the Red Cross house for men in the naval hospital. Mrs. Cowles makes regular trips to the hospital at the station with magazines and smokes. Mrs. John F. Jelke Jr. and Mrs. Robert Hixon assist her.

It is also interesting to learn that the men of the fashionable suburb go to the various barracks on Sunday mornings to address the companies assembled for services and establish friendly contact. Benjamin Bryan, who gives evening motion picture shows; Alfred Granger, Harry Bunting and John Pollard are among those who have been rendering this service.

Through the chairmanship of Mrs. Frank Hixon, 120 men from the Great Lakes hospital are taken every month to a theater party in Waukegan. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pierson give similar parties monthly for 50 boys at the Arden Shore camp. Mrs. Benjamin Bryan heads the Lake Forest friendly visiting committee, which assists needy families in Lake Forest and Lake Bluff.

Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers Jr. of Lake Forest has been east for a week or two making some visits in New York and with her relatives in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. John R. Winterbotham Jr. of 1238 North State street plan to go to Franconia, N. H., in the White mountains in August for their annual summer sojourn there. The Ernest Pooles are already at Franconia, where the Winterbotham and Poole clans have summered for many years.

Mrs. Samuel Rinaker of Lake Forest went east last week to meet her daughter, Marjorie Horton, who has been at school at Lausanne, Switzerland, and to bring her back to Chicago.

Cathode Ray Separates Real Sapphires from the Best Imitations

Schenectady, N. Y., July 14.—(AP)—The first commercial use for the famous cathode ray of the Coolidge tube has been found.

Imitation sapphires are unmasked by the ray almost instantly, and so thoroughly that they can be spotted afterward—even in total darkness.

The stones, both imitation and real, are exposed for a few seconds to the powerful ray. All the imitations, and all but one kind of genuine stone, glow as if molten. But as soon as the ray is shut off, the real sapphires lose the artificial glow, while the imitations continue for some time to resemble live coals. This molten appearance has no relation to heat, for the seemingly burning imitations are cold to the touch.

Dr. W. D. Coolidge of the General Electric laboratories, who developed the tube, is seeking rays from still higher power—two or three million volts.

No One Criticises Dyed Hair If It's Done Beautifully

I remember, not so many years ago, either, a woman came home from a supposed day's shopping with her hair dyed. The consternation of her family caused a near riot. The "broadminded" member of her immediate household cocked an eye at the dyed hair and delivered himself of: "You always were the wild 'un, Martha!"

Since retaining a youthful appearance has become an absolute economic necessity for women in all walks of life, whether engaged in business, a professional career or otherwise, having the hair touched up has evolved from the caprice of a "wild 'un" to little short of a blessing for faded, drab, and graying heads.

Caustic comments are still current about this artifice for youth's emulation—but they are confined to incompetent craftsmanship, of which we have an unfortunate number of exhibits about.

The difference between yesterday's attitude and today's is that the means women formerly had at their disposal were inferior and often hazardous and their application in the privacy of a locked boudoir added to the disastrous results. The most unheard of shades sometimes resulted—glows of red, pink, green, and blue greeted the eyes after a seance with the dye pot.

Because of the economic pressure in this keenly competitive age, scientists and chemists began experimenting to develop hair dyes, true in shade, which would solve the modern woman's problem. The consequence is that today you see very few of those horrible offshades which were formerly the dreaded aftermath of other hair dyes. Where they are current they may be set down as the result of haphazard purchase of cheap dyestuffs and amateur or careless application.

When you realize that there are some eighteen natural hair shade dyes, from the deepest black to the fairest golden, a pretty decent match for any woman's hair may be accomplished.

The dye itself, perfect though it may be, is not sufficient. Thus, I repeat my plea to women to let an expert and only an expert operator apply it. Also, I add another appeal to women: Stifle that desire for a shade other than your own.

Movie Owners, Actors' Union Reported Near Settlement of Contracts

BY FLORABEL MUIR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., July 14.—[Special.]—Positive indications that the film producers and Actors' Equity association are approaching a basis for negotiations in their current war are multiplying here.

Although on the surface the fight appears to increase in bitterness, I have it straight that the acrimony is only a smoke screen for diplomatic interchanges which are uttered more suavely.

When the settlement is made it will be found that Equity has gained virtually all it battled for, for if the studios are successful in maintaining the open shop they will go on their way rejoicing.

A weather vane that shows the way the wind is blowing is the case of Thomas J. Jackson and Universal. Universal wants to start production as soon as possible on its superspecial, "The Homicide Squad," starring Jackson. Jackson will not work without an Equity contract. However, all preparations for production are going steadily forward, and a part is being written especially for Jackson's benefit. Universal is extremely anxious to cash in on the popularity Jackson won in "Broadway," in which he walked away with the show, playing the part of a main stem sleuth.

SALLY CALLS GOOD LETTER WRITERS TO HER CIRCUS PARTY

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Good morning, girls and boys! How did you like the news in yesterday's Tribune, about my party on July 25 a week from next Thursday?

Of course, there just isn't any fun greater than the circus—and when it's Ringling Brothers & Barnum & Bailey, greatest of them all, well, that will be a party!

Just think—1,800 people—100 railroad cars to bring them all—lots clowns—700 horses—troupes of monkeys, seals and dogs—five rings and four stages going all the time! With all this to see, can't you write a letter that will win an invitation?

Of course you can! To write it, just tell what you think about circuses—what you like best in them, what you'd particularly like to see, if I invite you to attend Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey a week from next Thursday. If there's any special reason why it will be unusual fun for you, tell me that. I'm asking for all this because I want to find the hundred girls and boys who'll appreciate getting invitations most—and to decide whether you belong among the hundred, I must know why you'd like to come.

So start your letters now—and get them in the mail immediately! Next Thursday morning is when I read them and select my hundred guests, in time to publish their names in next SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE, but if your letter is in early, I'll have that much more chance to consider it. And in writing your letters, don't forget to give your full name, address, and age. I can't give you an invitation, no matter how good your letter, unless you include this information.

Remember—the party is a week from next Thursday, on July 25th—and we'll see the greatest circus of them all, Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey! And you can be among my guests, just by writing a letter that shows me you're among the hundred girls and boys who'll enjoy the party most. So start your letters now—and have them in the mail tonight!

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Black Currant Jam.

Wash and stem black currants. To each two cups of the currants use one and one-half cups of water and for each pound of fruit allow one-fourth of a pound of sugar, which is practically half a cup. Crush the fruit slightly and add the water, then the sugar and stir gently with a wooden spoon over a small fire until the sugar is dissolved; then bring slowly to a boil and cook evenly until a little of it will stiffen when dropped on a plate. Put up like any jam.

All our recipes for using black currants are English, and in every case they direct the weighing of the fruit, which is the only exact way of measuring small fruits of any type, and one of the ways they make the jam is to cook the fruit in the water, and then add the same weight of sugar as the currants weighed in the first place, adding it gradually to the cooked currants and stirring all the time.

It is exceedingly essential to wash this fruit well because the little withered flower on the top of it is hard to remove and its presence is not noted in the jam and does no harm, although for superior work it should be sieved out.

English sentiment on the subject of black currants is ancient and interesting. One statement is that "Black currants have a superb flavor and lend themselves to many uses cooked, such as jam, jelly, tarts," but one old book of very high grade on the subject of trees and vegetable substances says: "Their taste is peculiar, and to some disagreeable; they are supposed to have medicinal qualities which do not belong to the other species of currants." The rest of the description speaks of their being useful for tarts and puddings and jelly and that they make a "good rob," which means their juice is sour and used for flavor.

In making black currant jelly add one-half cup of water to a pound of fruit and cook till tender. Drain off the thick juice, mix with equal measure of sugar, stir till dissolved, pour into small jelly glasses and set in the sun under a glass cover. Sometimes this will jelly in an hour and makes a much more delicate product that a cooked black currant jelly.

London Times Tells About Tchehov as His Memorial

[Copyright: 1929: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, July 14.—Intimate details will be told tomorrow by the London Times about the Russian writer Anton Tchehov, who died just a quarter of a century ago in his early 40s. He died in the arms of his wife, Olga Knipper, the "German girl, his little actress," whom he loved so fervently as the heroine of many of his plays. He wrote the plays "Uncle Vanya," "The Three Sisters," "The Seagull," and "The Duel," as well as many short stories. He was more willing to accept praise of his gardening than of his writing, and in his home at Yalta, in the Crimea, had rare plants, flowers, and trees.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Daily Doo, The Tribune, Chicago.

Louise was describing all her little friends to her "best" aunt Dorothy, whom she was visiting.

"Margie's 7. She's two years older than me," she confided. "And Eleanor's 6."

"How about the little girl downstairs?" queried Aunt Dorothy.

"O, Barbara? She's just mantha!" Louise replied.

R. G.

"Mother, I can't find my cap," complained Benton, searching in the closet.

"Why, there it is," said mother, pointing to it on the row of hooks on the opposite side.

"Well," said Benton, a little chagrined, "I couldn't see it 'cause my back was facing it.

How much is a Happy Youngster Worth? 57

Why, bless you, he's worth his weight in—Heinz Rice Flakes. And just think how much joy he can get from a single bowlful of this delightful new cereal food!

That's how you make a youngster happy. Every morning—a bowl of these crispy, crunchy flakes with a flavor like butter-browned nut-meats.

That's how you keep him happy too. For it's fun to be healthy, you know, and Heinz Rice Flakes help keep him healthy. Due to a patented Heinz process which transforms the natural roughage element of the rice into a pure cellulose that acts as a gentle, natural laxative.

Isn't it an easy way, a wonderful way to add to the "Joy of Living"? For all the family.

The Hour Before Bedtime Can be Made Jolly for Them

By Miss Gladys Huntington Bevans

A book on the care of babies by Miss Carolyn Conant Van Blarcom, a noted authority on the subject, can be had at The Tribune Public Service office, 1 South Dearborn street, for 50 cents, or by mail for 60 cents. Two booklets by Mrs. Bevans, one on "Prayers and Graces for Children" and another on "Books to Be Read to Children or by Them," will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The tall, usually dignified gentleman stood at one side of the room with his arms crossed, looking extremely unconscious.

The little girl who reached to his elbow, the boy who reached to his shoulder, the youth who was in high school, and all the grown people were circling around the rooms, absorbed expressions on their faces.

"Warm! Cold! Hot! O! Burning!" followed them about.

At last, with a shriek of joy, the little girl spied the thimble—on the end of the little finger of the tall, usually dignified, gentleman who looked so extremely unconscious.

One family had invited all of the other family to dinner. The mothers and fathers hadn't been together for a long time and they had lots to talk about, but they decided to do something that would be fun for the children before they had to go to bed. So they all played "kid games," and the grownups entered into them with as much zest as the children. When it came to "hide the thimble" the originality in the grownups' choice of hiding places filled the youngsters with delight.

Have you ever done it when you've had intimate friends or relatives for dinner—made it your business to do something of interest to the children for a little while before they went to bed? Or even to talk of something they knew about or would enjoy? It's not only pleasant for them but it's good for them socially to play and talk with a group of people of all ages.

And when the family's alone the time between dinner and bed can be made such a friendly, jolly time—with games or talk. A father struggling with a refractory tiddly-wink or jackstraw, or conferring over the sports news or an airplane model, playing the pianol and singing with the children—a busy mother having time and interest for them then—can be very human and come very close to their children.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Victims of Misfortune.

"I am writing in behalf of a deserving family in great need. The father lost his leg in an accident and hasn't been able to work for nearly a year. There are six small children all in need of clothing, stockings and shoes. The mother is a delicate woman just out of the hospital after a serious operation and is not strong enough to work. The girls are 11 and 3, the boys are 9 and 7, twins, and there is a baby 9 months old. They also need a gas stove and a piece of linoleum or rug for the kitchen, but could not pay the express charges. G. H."

Misfortune has certainly been a frequent and steady visitor in this household where both parents are ill and the children are too young to help themselves. Won't you do what you can for them by contributing the much needed clothing and the articles of furniture which will add to their comfort?

Will You Help Here?

"We are trying to give one of our daughters a camping trip with the Girl Scouts and have five other children to provide for, so we are unable to supply her with some of the things she needs. If one of your readers has a girl's raincoat, heavy bathrobe, white middies, or a bathing suit, size 14, to give, we would be more than grateful to receive them.

"Mrs. W. S."

Some of those garments which your daughter may have outgrown would help to provide a happy and healthful holiday for this Girl Scout. May she not have them?

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Despite the fact that in many parts of the dairy belt around Chicago milk cows are knee deep in clover, while crop reports indicate that pastures generally are good, the wise dairyman is wise enough to be prepared for short grass in August. There is a fine crop of sweet clover which likely will hold up and furnish good green feed for cows even in August when many of the regular pastures are short or burnt up.

Dairymen who do not have sweet clover pasture should prepare to feed their cows hay or some other roughage and a liberal grain ration, especially where the milkers are heavy producers.

Dairy feeding experts have come to the conclusion that flies which tantalize cows in summer are blamed too much for the decrease in production common during the hot days. They find that where dairymen feed liberally from the latter part of June until the last of August they are able to keep the milk flow up fairly well. Neglecting to feed cows grain and roughage in summer, particularly when the grass is short, not only cuts down on the amount of milk produced during hot weather, but probably leads to a reduction in the milk flow the following winter. Having to fight flies on a skimpy allowance of feed causes cows to become thin and run down, according to practical dairymen.

Dairy specialists at the University of Minnesota farm say a suitable summer ration may be made of equal parts of ground oats and barley with 10 per cent of oil meal added. Corn may be substituted for barley and wheat bran may be used in place of oats in the above mixture.

Even where the pasture is good cows need such a ration as this, fed at the rate of four pounds to each pound of butterfat produced. On poor pasture dairymen are advised to increase the daily allowance up to six or seven pounds for each pound of butterfat produced.

NEW YORK SOCIETY.

New York, July 14.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Stone of 5th avenue, now at Solana, their summer home at Locust Valley, L. I., will give a dance there on Sept. 12 to introduce to society their daughter, Miss Janet Stone.

It DOES Make a Difference Where You Get Your Wave!

Krause Permanents

These reasons explain the supremacy of a Krause Wave:
1. We guarantee every permanent until your hair grows out.
2. All Krause operators have had years of experience in this work.
3. Each wave is tested by a representative of the Mastro-L Laboratories to insure perfect results.
4. All waves given under the personal supervision of Mrs. Krause.

says leader of Atlantic City Beach Patrol

WHO knows better than the doctors and life-guards at the big beaches what is best for sunburn? They treat sunburn victims by the thousands. They test any number of remedies.

Ask the advice of any of them, they will all tell you—Noxzema. "We have used Noxzema at our First Aid Stations for six seasons now," says Captain Damico, popular leader of the Atlantic City Beach Patrol. "We selected it after comparing it with all other known sunburn remedies. We have never in all that time found another one to compare with it.

"We find that Noxzema is wonderfully cooling and soothing the instant you put it on. It takes all the fire and pain out immediately—prevents torturous blistering. And, being greaseless, it won't stain clothing, no matter how freely applied."

At other big bathing beaches up and down the Atlantic coast you find the same story. Asbury Park, Brighton, Coney, Long Beach, Revere Beach, Rockaway—all have chosen Noxzema as official sunburn remedy after testing it repeatedly on the worst cases of sunburn they could find.

H. W. Elmore's
Greatest Offer to Salesmen

H. W. Elmore & Co. is opening the BIGGEST, the GREATEST, the LOWEST PRICED, the best LOCATED, and the fastest selling property that has been offered in years in Chicago.

We have room for YOUNG MEN and OLD MEN—for EXPERIENCED and INEXPERIENCED men. Every one will make money—every salesman in this organization will profit in this greatest Chicago real estate sale ever held since the war.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

NEW PROPERTY!! LOW PRICES!! WONDERFUL LOCATION!!! NEW SELLING FEATURES—different from those possessed by any property in Chicago. ADVERTISING that will make you dizzy. TERMS that will allow every one who can save a few dollars out of his pay envelope to take advantage of this wonderful opportunity to make the same kind of money out of real estate that was made right after the war. It seems UNBELIEVABLE but it's TRUE.

MEN! MEN!

TO ATTEND THE GREAT MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT, JULY 17, YOU MUST REGISTER MONDAY OR TUESDAY.

We do not employ women in this organization. This is a man's organization with a man's opportunity. To enable every one who wants this opportunity to register we will keep our offices open until 8:30 o'clock on Monday night and Tuesday night, July 15 and 16. Hurry home from work, come down and register. This property is big enough to make unusually large commissions for a sales force of 1,000. It's the biggest opportunity in real estate selling that has ever been offered in many years.

Chicago's Boom Spot

There's a boom spot in Chicago, a place where millions of dollars will be poured in this year and next, where public improvements of a staggering nature will be made. It's a land in Greater Chicago that will ripen into such tremendous profits as to challenge all the rest of Chicago. We will dispose of in this great sale many hundreds of acres at this boom spot. This sale will mount into millions of dollars. Without the World's Fair this property would make tremendous profits for its buyers. With the World's Fair, "THE SKY IS THE LIMIT."

Do you want to get in on the greatest opportunity to make money you have ever had or possibly you ever WILL HAVE? If so, get down and register Monday or Tuesday—if you have to break a leg to get there.
